"Con the Shaugron."

OLD FAVORITES' PERFORMANCE
HUGE SUCCESS—OVERFLOWING
ATTENDANCES—REPEATING PLAY TO-NIGHT.

"Con the Shaugron," as revived last evening by the Old Favorites' Company, attracted a packed house at the Casino, and the performance which was enjoyed by everyone was voted the most successful held in the city for many a day. The acting throughout was splendid, while the individual make-ups and stage settings were perfect. Plenty of practice and rehearsal resulted in the play being run through without a single hitch, and to those who were the moving spirits goes the congratulations of all who were present. Capt. J. J. O'Grady as "Con"; Mr. T. M. White as Harvey Duff; Mr. J. J. MacFarlane as Corry Kinchella; Capt. Leo Murphy as the dashing young military officer; Mr. George F. M. Power as Father Dolan, the Parish Priest; Mr. Frank Walsh as Mrs. O'Reilly; Miss Polly Carroll as Claire; Lieut. Chas. McGrath as Robert Follitt; Miss Lizzie Carroll as Moya; Miss J. Carroll as Artie; Mr. J. J. Sullivan, Mr. J. P. Phelan, and J. J. Walsh—all carried through their parts with a skill and ease which made the play what it was.

The Catholic Cadet Corps' Band made the between-act periods interesting with its music, while Mr. Carl Trappell, with a song, and Mr. Frank Walsh and Capt. J. J. O'Grady, with a dance, made the evening even more enjoyed.

The play will be repeated to-night, when the Governor and the Archbishop will attend. As the first performance had the effect of setting the actors and actresses more easily in their respective parts, to-night's performance will prove even better than that of last night, and those who attend are assured a treat.

The receipts go toward the purchase of new uniforms for the C.C.C. boys.

Presentation to Popular Principal.

A pleasing event took place in the manager's office of the Direct Agencies Co., Ltd., on Christmas Eve, when the staff employed there presented Mr. James C. Pratt with a handsome motor rug and electric search light as a token of their esteem and regard. Mr. Wm. Clarke, the shipping clerk, who has been with the "Agencies" since its inception, acted as spokesman and read the following address:

Dear Mr. Pratt—The entire staff employed by the Direct Agencies, Ltd., operated under your capable management, ask you to accept the accompanying tokens of their deep and sincere appreciation of your kindness and consideration for the welfare of all concerned, and take this opportunity of extending to you our best wishes for a happy Christmas and a bright and prosperous New Year.

We also express the fond hope that the coming year will be a prosperous one for the Direct Agencies, Ltd.—a firm that has made in the past such remarkable progress—and that succeeding years may bring successive prosperity.

Believe us, dear Mr. Pratt,

Yours sincerely,

Signed—L. Taylor, E. Rooney, M. Joliffe, H. Mitchell, T. Collett, J. Antle, W. H. Parsons, E. Parsons, P. Benmore, E. Noseworthy, F. Willis, W. A. Clarke, J. Brett, H. Bartlett, J. A. Carmichael.

Mr. Pratt, who was very much taken by surprise, warmly thanked the donors for their thoughtful, kindly act, assuring them all that their beautiful presents would be treasured and always remind him of the harmonious feeling of good fellowship that prevailed amongst all the Direct Agencies' operatives, which he hoped would continue, and which he would do his best to foster and cement during the coming year.

Wedding Bells.

TETFOORD-MOORE.

A quiet wedding took place at Mr. Grace on Thursday, the 19th inst., at the residence of Mr. Robert Tetford, building contractor, when his daughter Bessie, formerly nurse at the General Hospital, was married to Mr. Donald Moore, son of Mr. Frederick Moore, of the firm of Messrs. J. & F. Moore, St. Anthony. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. Browning in the presence of the immediate relatives only. The bride looked charming in a suit of grey with hat to match, and was attended by Miss Bessie Grace Kennedy, her niece. After the ceremony congratulations were showered upon the happy couple, who also were the recipients of many useful and valuable presents. Both are now staying in the city with the groom's parents on LeMarchant Road and on Saturday will leave by the S. S. Prospero for their future home, St. Anthony.

To-day's Messages.

HIS HOLINESS' MESSAGE.

ROME, Dec. 25.

Replying to Christmas greetings from all the Cardinals at present in Rome, and other church dignitaries, Pope Benedict on Wednesday recalled the urgent necessity of aiding the poor children of war victims, and added, "The necessity for this is demonstrated by the insanity of the efforts of these, who vainly try to give mankind peace and welfare, while forgetting or ignoring God, peace cannot be obtained by individuals and by mankind; there is no order in both. There is no order without an acknowledgement of the dominion of God over His creatures. Order also requires the mastery of spirit over matter, and a practical, sincere love of man for his neighbor. At present there cannot be peace, because order has been subverted by individuals and by mankind. Moral miseries due to the war are being exploited by these, who watch every opportunity to affect moral disorder. To-day the spirit of inexperience has invaded all minds and leads them to rebellion. To-day there is no shame in seeking amusements amidst the griefs and sorrows of others, and there is no limit to the dissipation of health, and the drying up of the sources thereof. All this shows that modern society has attempted to set itself above God, passing from liberty to tolerance, from tolerance to division, from division to conflict and to ostracism of God." Continuing the Pope said that he did not despair, as all through which order would be re-established and peace would triumph. He urged upon the faithful prayer, and obedience to human and divine laws and not to ostracize God in public documents, in schools, in law courts or public assemblies, as God is the Lord, not only of individuals, but also of nations. Lasting true peace must be based in just alliance among peoples, while vanquished nations must be condemned to suffer equitable penalties, but not destruction.

Baroness Orczy, the novelist, has just celebrated her silver wedding in England. She is an Austrian, and inherited her uncle's title and estates. But her husband is the son of an English rector, and she reflects the temper of the old Toryism which assumed that "church and state" were the twin pillars of commercial, social, political and eternal salvation. Only those who have lived in England can appreciate the might of this idea.

Mr. Mitchell's Suggestion.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—I read with much interest on Tuesday the letter in your paper written by Mr. Gosling. As one of the Committee appointed by His Excellency the Governor to go into the matter of a memorial for our fallen, I feel that it would not be at all out of place to give the public some idea as to what transpired at the meetings. The first meeting that was called 13 of the Committee turned up unfortunately an unlucky number, and from the 13 present, four suggestions were offered, which are as follows:—

1. To collect $100,000 to start Night Schools throughout the Island.
2. The erection and equipping of a University, so that our men could get a University education without going away, the cost to be about $400,000.
3. The erection of a pillar of stone on the beach or some prominent place, away, the cost to be about $400,000.
4. The erection of a building to contain a large Memorial Hall with photos and names of those who have fallen where a Memorial Service could be held each year; a public circulating library which would necessitate smaller memorials around the Island and would give work to a disabled sailor or soldier in each district; a Technical School, where out-port and town men could get an insight into taking care of motor engines; and a lecture room, where at certain seasons of the year instructions could be given as to canning and curing of fish, etc. Another section of the building would be given over to the returned men for their own use, where they could mingle together. In front of the building would stand a small statue with the Sailor and Soldier shoulder to shoulder, as they have been for the past four or five years. The whole would be a National Memorial and the cost about $600,000.

The above were the suggestions put forward, and I understand a report was sent to His Excellency.

The four suggestions as stated above were brought forward by four of the members. The rest of the Committee each in turn stated they had not thought about it, but that such and such a suggestion appealed to him. If a War Memorial is not worth thought or consideration, if it is not worth more than $100,000, then my closest friends and comrades have given their lives for a thankless colony.

I think the best Memorial would be one suggested by the Sailors and Soldiers themselves along with the parents of our fallen comrades.

Then let the people give as they have never given before not passing out $5,000 or $10,000 as a gift, but an amount that they will really miss. The following is a good example of the kind of giving we should like to see. A mother had just sent her little girl out to buy half a pound of cheese for tea, when the collector for the Great War Veterans' drive called around she said she had not one cent to give, when suddenly she thought of her little girl, called her back and gave the 20c. to the collector saying, "We can do with bread and butter for tea."

Yours truly,

HAROLD MITCHELL.

Xmas Presentations.

The staff of the White Clothing Mfg. Co., Ltd., held a meeting Xmas Eve and made a series of presentations. The first was a beautiful mahogany director's table with electric lamp, etc., which was presented to Mr. Wm. White, the President of the Company. The address was given by Mr. McNulty, assistant manager, who in a fluent speech outlined the characteristics which Mr. White displayed in overcoming the many obstacles in connection with the new business and bringing it up to its present prosperous condition. Replying to the presentation Mr. White expressed his high appreciation for the splendid gift. The loyalty and hearty co-operation of the staff had been wonderful. The plant commenced operations seven months ago with 55 employees; the pay roll now contains the names of one hundred and ninety, the largest clothing industry in Newfoundland. The next presentation consisted of a "Morris" chair presented to Mr. McNulty. The address was read by Mr. Edwards, which emphasized the esteem and respect of the staff, and also stated that Mr. McNulty "was a gentleman well fitted to occupy the responsible position of assistant manager." Mr. McNulty thanked the staff for their much appreciated gift, and for the kindly thought which prompted it. The next presentation was a valuable set of carvers to Mr. Edwards, foreman of the coat department. Mr. Edwards thanked the employees of his department for their generous gift. Mrs. Colton, the veteran forelady of the clothing industry, was next called to the front and presented by the employees of the pants department with a handsome armchair. Mrs. Colton would not attempt to make a speech after so many male speeches, but heartily thanked the assistants for their Christmas gift. Other presentations included a handsome pipe to Mr. George Hammond, foreman cutting department; also a pipe to Mr. H. Sawers, foreman custom department, and a set of dinner dishes to Mr. B. Sawers, assistant foreman coat department. Before the meeting closed Mr. White stated that he appreciated the gifts to the different foremen as much as his own. That it represented in as practical manner the co-operation which existed in the industry and which was one of its chief assets. The modern system upon which the company's business is conducted, the high wages and several beneficial schemes in which the employees participate, has resulted in a happy and satisfied staff. The meeting closed with cheers.
