The president and treasurer of the organization is an undertaker, and his daughter is secretary. Softmanage the entire business. A fee of pence per week insures the life and loctor's attendance through illness. The concern pays 50 shillings on the death of a month-old child, £5 on the death of a month-old child, £5 on the death of a husband, £5 on the death of a child 12 years old, and less amounts in other cases. A very large number of babies have been insured by this so-called club, and the rate of mortality among them has been alarmingly high. Oldbury is a town of 16,000 population five miles from Birmingham. It is the home of chain-makers, a rough and lawless people, who hold life cheap. The local authorities have set an investigation on foot.

His Honor, the Mayor.

There is one thing to underscore. If a nall-bottle cures so many, it is, legically, just twice as good as a remedy which takes a whole bottle to cure. Here's another sample from a distinguished citizen: "Huntingdon, Pa., U. S. A., Feb. 6., 1889.—I sprained my ankle about five years ago; had to go to bed. I used half a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil and it cured. I was able to get ahout next day and have had no return of main. John A. Porr mayor."

SEVENTY-SEVENTH BIRTHDAY GATHERING.

On Saturday, May 2, a gathering was held at "Hillsdale Farm," South Dumfries, which brought together friends from many parts of Canada. The occasion was the celebration of the 77th birthday of Mrs. Jeremiah Wait, a most highly-esteemed resident for upwards of 50 years, during which time she has gained many warm friend by her sturdy uprightness of character and her readiness to extend a helping hand to those in need. The years have brought manychanges to the old homestead. Mrs. Wait has seen her husband and several children carried to "the city of the dead;" other children have married and gone to homes of their own, until now only two daughters remain with her in the large farm house, which was wont to resound with merry voices and laughter. Many incidents of the days of "anid lang syne" were recounted, stirring pleasant memories in the hearts of the older people, and affording both interest and amusement to the group of nieces and grandchildren, who listened eagerly to the quaint reminiscences and stories of life as it was when Canada was a new country, and when the sturdy pioneer indeed earned his bread by the sweat of his brow. The Cornell family, to which Mrs. Wait belongs, are long-lived and possessed of wonderful constitutions, facts attested to by the combined ages of the brother and three sisters, who thus met under such happy circumstances, and whose ages totalled 247 years. Among the guests were Mrs. and Mrs. Bruin Cornell, Galt; Mrs. Mills, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. P. Morden, Rockview; Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Wait and Mrs. Jonathan Wait, Dumfries.

The London Free Press draws a contrast between Mr. Hyman sitting as a silent learner in the cold shades of the Opposition back benches, and Farmer John (meaning Mr. Carling) remaining "steadfastly at his post, overseeing those practical, every-day affairs that come home so feelingly to the working people of the country." There is another point of difference which the Free Press does not mention. Mr. Hyman was elected by the people of London to represent them; Mr. Carling was rejected by the people of London and "remains steadfastly at his post" because Sir John has put him in the dormitory of Canadian politicians. Mr. Hyman's attitude of a "silent learner" is an eminently proper one for a young member, but he will not need to learn a great deal to make him the equal of Mr. Carling.—[Townote Globe. onto Globe.
