Too Many Young Children Roaming the Streets at Night

Ministerial Alliance Take Up the Matter—Decisive Action Proposed.

At a meeting of the Ministerial Alliance held at the Y. M. C. A. building this morning the neglect of parents in allowing children to remain in the streets late in the evening was dealt with, and a committee, composed of Rev. A. J. Bowen, of the Egerton Street Baptist Church, A. K. Birks, of Askin Street Methodist Church, Rev. Jas. Rollins, of the King Street Presbyterian Church, Rev. Canon Hague, of the Memorial Church, and Rev. D. S. Hamilton, of the First Congregational, appointed to confer with the Children's Aid Society with regard to the matter.

The matter was touched upon as conncerning the east end particularly, as a large number of children, ranging in age from 9 to 14, are allowed to roam about the streets there where they are certainly not in good company.

As a result of the motion, Rev. Mr. Bowen, who acted as convener, in company with his committeemen, waited upon Inspector Sanders to investigate what action could be taken.

It was decided that if the children in question are not in their homes in reasonable hours their parents will be notified by the Children's Aid Society. If that has not the desired effect the parents will receive a call from the inspector. If further action is necessary it will be taken by the police.

Gangs of rowdies who gather at the corner of Hamilton road and Egerton street were also discussed. They have caused considerable trouble in that district, and it was decided to have the police investigate the matter.

The committeemen were of the opinion that children who roam about the streets after dark were learning nothing good and that it was in their best interests to keep them at home until they are able to distinguish between right and wrong. A number of cases in the east end were brought to the attention of the Alliance.

The use of tobacco by minors was also discussed. A law has been recently passed by the Provincial House in which the restrictions are clearly stated. No persons under 16 years of age may use the weed, and anyone may deprive them of it without incurring any penalty. If a person discovers a boy under age using the weed he may take it from him according to the law.

Police Magistrate Had Quiet Session

Magistrate Love had a quiet session at the police court this morning, only a few drunks taking up the majority of his time.

William Pate, a drunk, was remanded for a week to sober up.

Frank Burwell, another drunk, admitted that it would be better for him if he did not drink so much, so the court added his name to those on the prohibited list.

Alfred Hall, charged by F. W. Sloud with non-payment of wages, paid the court costs and agreed to settle up, and the case was withdrawn.

Dr. David Arnott consented to withdraw his charge against the London Street Railway Company for blocking the crossing at Central avenue a few days ago.

John MacDonald thought it was time for him to go into winter quarters. MacDonald is a vag who has a reputation at the jail for not working. He informed the court that jobs were scarce, and that he could find no work. Magistrate Love remanded MacDonald to jail for a week.

Met Old Friend After 43 Years

Engineer Alf. Crouch, of the Grand Trunk, met an old friend in an unusual way at Windsor on Saturday. When Mr. Crouch's train came in he was informed that he was wanted on the telephone by a gentleman stopping at one of Detroit's hotels. He answered the call and found to his surprise that he was talking to a man whom he had not seen or heard of for 43 years, Mr. J. J. Sullivan, of Pensacola, Florida.

Mr. Crouch, when a boy in England, had gone to the same school with Mr. Sullivan, and after finishing school the boys drifted apart.

Mr. Sullivan and a friend of his, Mr. T. Wright, also of Pensacola, were taking a pleasure trip, and had got as far as Detroit when Mr. Sullivan heard that Mr. Crouch was running into Windsor on the Grand Trunk. He at once took steps to meet him. He gave Mr. Crouch a minute description of how he would be dressed, and promised to meet him down town in Detroit. Mr. Crouch went over, but owing to the crowd was unable to see Mr. Sullivan's clothes, but immediately picked him out from remembering his face. The friends were more than glad to meet after such a long absence, and Mr. Crouch brought Mr. Sullivan and his friend back to London in order that he might meet Mr. Harry Crouch, a brother of Mr. Crouch, who also went to school with Mr. Sullivan, and had not seen him for 45 years.

Mr. Sullivan is at present in the city, and will likely stay here for several days.

A Peculiar Case of Liquor Selling

Will the biter be bitten?

H. A. Judd, a young Englishman, who claims to be in the employ of the Government as a spotter or secret service man, was arrested today on the Oneida Indian reserve, charged with having brought liquor upon the reserve and giving it to Edward Charles, an Indian.

Charles alleges that Judd several days ago gave him whisky on three different occasions, and that when he (Charles) in turn bought some whisky and treated him, the detective arrested him and haled him before the Indian reserve magistrate. Between fine and costs Charles paid out $30. Now he wants revenge.

The case will be argued next Saturday.

"THE SIGN OF THE CROSS"

Rev. A. K. Birks Discourses on "The Marks of a Christian."

The subject of Rev. A. K. Birks' sermon at Askin Street Church, yesterday morning, was "The Sign of the Cross," or "The Marks of a Christian." Text, Galatians, vii., 17.

"Like every true Christian," said the preacher, "Paul was adversely criticised. His very apostleship had been called into question. He defended and affirmed his sincerity and fidelity by showing what he suffered for his faith, and having done so, he resolved to pay no more attention to any man who would cast aspersions on the character of his life. So Christians should never be disturbed by the trictures men may pass upon their conduct, so long as they are living in fellowship with Christ. The body of the slave was branded with certain marks, so that private ownership could always be established. Paul claimed that he had those marks in the scars he carried from the scourgings and other punishments he had received for the sake of the cross of Christ.

"Christians no longer carry physical scars, as evidences of their faith, but there is a very literal sense in which they portray their allegiance to the cross of Christ. The qualities of temperance and sobriety, of calmness and happiness, are stamped on the very features of the countenance. Religion is a profession, and it is more than a profession. It is a life. Men discern by sign infallible the life that glorifie God in both body and spirit. which are his"

In the evening Rev. Mr. Jewett, of Lambeth, occupied the pulpit and delivered an excellent sermon. Large congregations were present at each service.

China's first school of forestry will shortly be opened at Mukden. The Chinese empire is usually pointed out as the worst example among modern nations, of forest destruction.

NERVY STOP OF RUNAWAY HORSE

Mr. Max Finch Heads Off Frightened Animal and Prevents Serious Accident.

When the time for distributing the much-discussed Carnegie hero medals rolls around, if there are any left over they might well be given to Mr. Max Finch.

Mr. Finch was walking along Richmond street, near King, at ten thirty this morning when he heard a cry of "Runaway" The horse was coming westward on King street at a high rate of speed, and as the streets were crowded at the time a bad accident seemed imminent.

Quick as a flash, however, Mr. Finch ran out and heading off the runaway, grasped the horse by the bit, just as it had crossed Richmond street ahead of a street car. Mr. Finch was dragged a distance of twenty feet and narrowly escaped being pinned under the horse when the frightened animal stumbled and fell to the street.

"I wouldn't have taken that chance for $50," remarked a witness of Mr. Finch's nervy act.

The owner of the horse could not be located, so the rig was taken in charge by an officer and removed to the police station.

Later it was learned that the outfit belonged to Poole, the liveryman, and that the driver was one of the three city travellers employed by Scandrett Bros., grocers.

The horse had been left standing untied in front of a store on King street, near Clarence street.

Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Dr. R. W. Philip, of the Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh, who will represent Great Britain at the coming international congress of tuberculosis in Washington, speaking in Montreal last week, said the same care ought to be taken to prevent tuberculosis that is taken to prevent scarlet fever. Out of 16,500 school children examined, he had found 1,900 affected by the scourge. Sixty-one per cent of tuberculous patients vere victims of infection. Every victim of consumption, he said, should be reported to the authorities and sent to a hospital. Hospitals for consumption should not be a hundred miles away, but in the centre of a city where everyone could see them. Consumption can be cured in any climate.

100TH ANNIVERSARY.

Sandwich, Sept. 21, —In connection with its harvest home festival yesterday St. John's Anglican Church celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the erection of the first church. When the British evacuated Detroit and the Northwest in 1796, several families, loyal to the British crown, moved from Detroit to the south side of the Detroit River, settling on the front between what is now Walkerville and a point a few miles below here. These families organized a parish of which one of their number, Richard Pollard, who had been ordained a deacon by Right Rev. Dr. Mountain, of Quebec, was placed in charge. In 1807 this parish erected the first church building west of the Mohawk Valley. The building was destroyed by the American army in the General Harrison invasion of 1813. A new church was put up in 1815, which was pulled down in 1872 to make way for the present building.

SCHOONER SILVER'S STRENUOUS TR P

Regular Crew Left, and After Being Arrested and Brought Back, Refused to Work.

Halifax, Sept. 20.—With one of her crew behind prison bars, and after forcing her way through great seas which swept the Nova Scotia coast, the Tern Lunenburg schooner H. R. Silver, in command of Capt. Gerhardt, made her way into this port this afternoon, completing a voyage of five thousand miles, marked with sensational incidents, which shows that mutiny on shipboard is not a thing of the dim and distant past. The H. R. Silver went from Lunenburg last spring to St. Johns, Nfld., where Capt. Gerhardt shipped a crew, and loaded fish for Bahia, Brazil. He sailed out of St. Johns harbor on the morning of May 1, and was 47 days on the voyage down to Bahia, where the cargo was discharged, and then the schooner set sail for San Fernando, Trinidad, where a part cargo of molasses was taken aboard. While the vessel was preparing to sail for St. Kitts, where they were to complete out cargo for Halifax, five members of the crew, including the cook, made their escape and could not be located. The chief of police at San Fernando was notified, with the result that four of the deserters wer located and placed on board the schooner. The men refused to work, and Capt. Gerhardt had a warrant issued for their arrest. While the captain was ashore making arrangements with the authorities, the men scrambled down the side of the ship, and, securing the boat, made their escape, rowing to land. The men were finally arrested, and later were sentenced to seven days' hard labor. A temporary crew brought her here.

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps left for Belleville this afternoon.

NOT MISSION OF WAR

But Hollander Admits Recruiting Men to Go to Venezuela.

New York, Sept. 20.—According to a statement by P. F. Joubert, of Johannesburg, South Africa, whose activity in recruiting secret service agents in this city for work against President Castro, of Venezuela, has been described, the movement of which he is the head, has received sanction from persons high in authority in Holland.

Joubert says there are in this city two revolutionary movements which have for their object the subversion of the government of Castro. According to Joubert factional strife has broken out between these two movements.

"So far as I am concerned I am doing nothing and shall do nothing that in letter or spirit will violate the neutrality laws," he says. "I have explained to each of my callers that we are not at this time going on a mission of war. I know nothing about the purchase of firearms. One man wanted me to charter a steamship from him in which to take my men south. I told him that I could not do that because I did not want to commit any overt act.

"As things are now, I am simply recruiting men for the secret service in Venezuela. These men may later be formed into a foreign legion."

For the first time in over 20 years the Ohio River is so low as to expose at Smith's Ferry, just below Beaver, Pa., the famous "picture rocks," about which much has been written.
