Associated Press Despatch New Yo'', Jan. 10 .- Jack Dempsey yweight champion, and ons of St. Paul will fight te match in New York ly in June, promoter Tex nounced today, after with Eddie Kane and Rickard came to a definite agreement with Kane after an hour's conference at Madison Square Garden.

Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, has not yet signed articles with Rickard, but a few days ago he assured the promoter there would be no hitch in arrangements if Gibbons were signed.

Several promoters had been dickering for the return fight, the latest offer having been made by James Mullen of Chicago, who asserted he had negotiations well under way. Both Kane and Kearns, however, denied that they had given Mullen any definite assurances.

No details of the agreement reached between Kane and Rickard were re-vealed, but Kane, who barely made expenses at Shelby as a result of the financial debacle of the fight there, indicated he was well satisfied with the promoter's proposition.

Kearns declared he would have no hesitancy in signing for Dempsey if terms and conditions are agreeable. was understood, however, that he already has come to an understanding with the promoter.

Kearns said any date and place were agreeable to the champion, but mentioned Decoration Day, May 30, as favorable time.

According to Rickard he has no definite site planned out, but his choice would be limited to the two 1 baseball parks here and Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City.

GIBBONS CONFIDENT.

St. Paul, Jan. 10 .- Tommy Gibbons when informed tonight that a return match had been arranged between himself and Dempsey, declared "It is the best news I've heard in a long time. It means that I am going to be the next heavyweight champion of the world. Ever since the fight at Shelby, Montana, I have tried hard to get a return match, for I honestly believe I learned more about him than he did about me. I feel sure that I can defeat the champion."

"O.K." SAYS CHAMPION.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 10.-"It is O.K. with Mr. Kearns; it suits me fine, said Champion Jack Dempsey when told tonight that it was announced in New York by Rex Rickard that the champion and Tommy Gibbons would meet in New York, probably next

FAMOUS FANS IN BASE-BALL HISTORY.

In picking out some of the famous fans of my time I will start by naming the president of our club, Barney Dreyfuss. He was the only club terror Lever bear who was just as men out I was the only club men out I was delight in calling our CHAPTER 32. owner I ever knew who was just as rabid a fan as any rooter in the grandstand. He got in the game first as a fan and not merely to start a new business, as a lot of people think.

So much has been said of Barney Drefuss as a wise baseball owner, a smart trader and a man who understands every angle of the baseball of the players had never seen before. You know, a lot of folks come to business that few know of him as a fan. Barney has calmed down in his later days and can take the games as they come without getting excited. If you ever sat next to him in a grandstand in the old days, though, and didn't know him by sight you'd never think he was the owner of the Pittsburg club. His comments would you have a something like this:

You know, a lot of folks come to New York all their lives and never see the Statue of Liberty. "What does she remind you of?" I asked Fred Clarke, as we looked up at the great figure of a woman, holding her hand high and rigid, with a torch in it. "Looks like Bill Klem calling a third strike." he said.

Then a ground ball would go for clean base hit between third and short.

"What's that shortstop playing near second for on a dead left field hitter? Well, that's fine! What's Johnny watching that runner forhe's an ice wagon on the bases. Sure. He can't run the length of a base without stopping. G'on, pitch to the batter, never mind the base runner!"
With Barney's own club at bat he would go like this:

"Scoops ought to bunt-look, that third baseman is playing back a mile." The batter does bunt and beats it. "That's the boy, that's playing the game. Now, there's a playing the game. Now, there's a chance for a sacrifice." Batter bunts a pop fly that is caught. "Huh, bunts like a drunken shoemaker—picking on a high ball to bunt—bound to pop it in the air." Old farmers and woodsmen would mention Barney Dreyfuss having had a scout out there on certain ball players. He out there on certain ball players. He keeps a line on the way they are developing year after year. When they are ripe he either gets them or marks them off his little dope book. Once he runs that mark through a youngster's name you can bet that young fellow will never make the big league. Barney never makes a mistake on them. He has a wonderful memory and knows the good ful memory and knows the good and bad points of young players whether he ever has seen them or not. Just mention any young fellow to him and you'll find that Mr. Dreyfuss knows lots more about his playing than you do. He can even tell you the boy's personal habits.

Where He Got Some of Them. Barney Dreyfuss is a hard worker. All he asks of a player is to give him his best and obey the club rules. It is his belief that a ball player owes it to the public to give the fans a run for their money. If they de-liver the goods they can depend upon Barney's remembering them for their
