FACT AND FANCY.
Governor Lake Blackburn, of Kentucky, wears a cream colored hat since his conversion.
J. H. Lester, who lives in McDonough, Va., says that he is 113 years old, having been born in Rockingham, N. C., in 1749. There is no special use for a "best man" when the bridegroom has already secured his "better half."
Jim Currie, who murdered the actor, Ben Porter, now holds the office of city marshal at Commarque, New Mexico.
At the close of Moody's meetings in Glasgow a conference of 1000 reformed drunkards was held. Some thrilling experiences were told.
A Boston policeman wanted to scotch a crowd, so he ran around the corner and yelled "Dog fight!" It did the business like a charm.
A West Virginia farmer recently sold a single black walnut tree for $600, which was but a little less than the sum he paid for the tract on which it grew.
According to Chinese writers silk-spinning and weaving was invented and taught by Shu Ling, wife of the famous Emperor Huang-ti, who reigned nearly one hundred years from about 2597 B.C.
Nine hundred dollars was the bill for the mourning insignia in which the Ohio state house was draped on the occasion of Garfield's funeral. The trappings were recently sold for the princely sum of $81.
Signor Sgambati, the Italian pianist, is spoken of as Liszt's latest rival. His hair is bushy and he has one of those romantic combinations of straggling goatee and imperial which are unaccountably affected by a few Italians.
The Prince of Wales is described by an English writer as being very jealous of the military reputation of his brother-in-law, the German Crown Prince. He is anxious to perform some warlike feat, but is prevented by his mother's fears for his safety.
T. P. O'Connor, M. P., says of Lord Randolph Churchill—"Churchill is not an orator, and is not absolutely illiterate—I mean, of course, from the scholarly point of view—that it is reported and believed that he never reads a book through in his life; but he knows me."
President Lincoln on one occasion allowed Representative James W. Singleton of Illinois to pass the confederate lines without a pledge that he would not convey confederate intelligence, although the privilege had been refused hundreds of men before.
A little boy at Union Corner, Md., captured the other day a small snake with two heads, perfectly formed, with two eyes in each head. The boy's father has it in alcohol on exhibition in his wheelwright's shop.
At a Virginia watering place a gentleman asked another who was sitting near him three questions concerning sulphur water, and he discovered that he had been consulting the resident physician when he received a bill for $15.
An enthusiastic meeting held on the afternoon of August 1 at the United States consulate, Bristol, England, subscriptions amounting to $42 were made by leading citizens to the fund for the erection of the Garfield International hospital.
A church in Milwaukee keeps a bulldog in its graveyard in order to scare away bad boys and other intruders. Recently the animal bit somebody, and the trustees are now discussing whether it is best to keep him on duty or hand him over to the dogcatchers.
The cholera is very prevalent in the neighborhood of Yokohama and Tokio, and among other measures adopted by the Chinese government to prevent its spread is an order that the bodies, with their effects, of the poorer victims, be immediately buried after death.
A green-ribbon army, composed of members of Roman Catholic temperance societies throughout Great Britain, has just been formed. The new organization closely follows the methods of the blue-ribbon workers and claims to bear the influence of the Protestant gospel temperance movement.
When Bruno Meyer, cook of the good ship Buena Vista, came ashore to New York he went into a barber shop to be shaved. The manipulations of the barber were put in the form of an itemized bill, which amounted to $9.80. Now Mr. Meyer claims to possess documentary evidence of the champion exhibition of American cheek.
The shortest courtship on record is here given. A Newton county, Georgia, widower rode up to the gate of a handsome widow and asked for a match to light his pipe. The lady gave him the desired article when he asked, "Did you ever think of coming to my house to live?" "No," she said, "I had it would have done me no good." In ten days they were man and wife.
An interesting trial will shortly take place in Paris before the civil tribunal of the Seine, between M. Damala, the husband of Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, and Mlle. Minnie, a professional singer, who claims a sum of 35,000 francs, money advanced to the defendant before his marriage. The fair defendant represents that she paid many bills due to tailors, hatters, perfumers and landresses who worked for M. Damala, and she defrayed the cost of his artistic education.
Frances Anne Kemble in her "Records of Later Life," tells this of Lady Ashburton, who was Miss Bingham of Philadelphia: She gave the address of one of her milliners to Lady Warrackville, who complained to her of the exorbitant prices of the superlative fashions, plainly stating that she had changed her fifty guineas for a morning dress. Lady Ashburton replied: "Ah, very likely, I dare say; I don't know anything about cheap clothes."
Brean, a French explorer, who has just returned from Coosmasie, says that the inhabitants of the interior are much more civilized than on the coast. He traveled through a country rich in gold, gum and India-rubber. The climate is salubrious and the nights cool. The provisions as good as in Europe. He saw a regular African court, and was received by the king in great pomp, appeared of ten thousand people coming out to meet him, together with a hundred and fifty of King Mensah's tributary princes.
The West-n whisky distillers' association pays a bonus of twenty cents a gallon on all exported whisky, and a truck worthy of Ah Sin has grown out of the practice. Wicked distillers would ship whisky at a low rate to points like Demerara or Port Nassau, and, without unloading it, re-transport it to the United States. The entire cost of this pleasing proceeding would be more than five cents a gallon, leaving a clear profit of fifteen cents on each gallon exported. The government will not interfere with the men engaged in this trade except to see that no revenue laws are violated.
