LOCAL DEATH ROLL

JAMES L. WARNER

A despatch received here announces the sudden death of James L. Warner, a native and prominent citizen of Plympton, Digby Co., which occurred at the home of his daughter in Arlington Heights, Mass., about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, October 1st, having passed away suddenly while sitting in a chair reading a letter. Mr. Warner, who had reached the age of 84 years, had three wives, all of whom predeceased him. He had resided in Massachusetts about a year. He is survived by four sons: Capt. Alfred Warner, of Plympton; James, of Somerville, Mass.; Edgar J., of Digby, and Woodruff, of Newburyport, Mass.; and three daughters: Mrs. Joseph Nichols, of Arlington Heights, with whom he resided at the time of his death; Mrs. Walter Harvey, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Lester Weymouth, of Waltham, Mass. The deceased was a strong supporter of the Methodist Church and leaves a large circle of relatives and friends in Digby County and other parts of the Province who will regret to learn of his death. His brother, Mr. Jesse Warner, of Williamston, Mass., is the youngest and last survivor of one of the most prominent families of Plympton a half century ago. The funeral of the late Mr. Warner took place from the home of his daughter, with interment in Arlington Heights cemetery. It was largely attended and the floral tributes were beautiful.

ROBERT H. CURRIE
Wednesday's Liverpool Advance says: J. A. Kinney, Esq., Postmaster, received a telegram on Sunday morning announcing the death of his brother-in-law, Robert H. Currie, which occurred suddenly at his home in Melrose Highlands, Mass., on Saturday. Mr. Currie had recently returned with members of his family from a yachting trip along the Maine coast and had been enjoying good health, and the news of his death came as a great shock to his relatives and friends here. Deceased was well and favorably known in this county where he resided, for several years. He was about 71 years of age, and is survived by his wife, two sons and one daughter, Frederick, of Detroit; Albert, residing at home, and Mrs. (Dr.) A. C. Fales, Middleton.

MISS EUPHEMIA BENT
The death took place in Digby on Tuesday morning of Miss Euphemia Bent, aged 85 years. She was a daughter of the late Dr. William Lovitt Bent. The deceased had been a consistent member of the Digby Baptist Church for over sixty years. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from the residence of her niece Mrs. E. B. Woodrow, conducted by the pastor of the church. The pallbearers were Charles Carty, James Rice, Outram Dakin and Guy Morehouse.
