M. K. PIPER.
 PROPRIETOR AND PUBLISHER.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 1, 1908.

The nomination of William Taft for the Republican candidate for the presidency of the United States appears to be a very popular one. If one may judge from the general expressions of good will in British and Canadian newspapers. That he will be, if he wins, as striking a personality in the history of his country as Roosevelt is doubtful, yet the fact that he is Roosevelt's personal nominee signifies that Roosevelt's policies are likely to be carried out under the new administration, unless new contingencies cause diversified aims.

A St. John contemporary tersely contrasts the two, Taft and Roosevelt, as follows:—

Taft will probably be president. He is genial and able, a sane man and an administrator of proven ability.
 But he is not Roosevelt. He will not preach. He will not pillory the "rich malefactors" as Roosevelt has done. He will not re-discover the Ten Commandments as Tom Reed said Roosevelt did. He will not display Roosevelt's more conspicuous weakness, but on the other hand he will not match Roosevelt's higher qualities unless some national crisis now below the horizon develops from attributes which he has never shown his fellow citizens. The sharp spur of circumstance might reveal Taft as a great man, but the absence of stirring national events during his term will probably cause him to be remembered as a rather commonplace president. The many-sided Roosevelt could not be placid, content, or commonplace. He must tilt at the windmills were real enemies wanting; but he has left the windmills ready enough for storm-gusts when it has appeared. The same men who would shout for Taft in an hour of party heat might be cold were his voice appealing to them in an hour of national peril; but the same men would follow Roosevelt to war for he has in him some strain of the prophet and the soldier and the popular imagination is touched by him. The people will take Taft for president but would prefer Roosevelt. The "interests," Wall Street, the trusts and the "placid paterfamilias" will accept Taft, not that they love him more but that they love Roosevelt less. Roosevelt has appealed to forces which the "interests" do not like to think of as engaged in thinking seriously about the present day problems of the United States. When Roosevelt goes to Africa to hunt lions, and Taft rules in his stead, the "interests" will expect a period of tranquility—that is to say, freedom from a crusading president. They may have four years of peace or something like it, but scarcely more.
 The call for Roosevelt in 1912 is likely to be loud and strong. If so, his friend Taft, whom now he crowns, will gladly make way for him.

Apple culturists will be interested in the statement of Prof. Clarence C. Gillette, of the Colorado Agricultural College, that he has discovered a means of exterminating the codling moth. He recommends the use of arsenate of lead in the form of a spray which he asserts can be made the means of saving millions of dollars' worth of fruit. The codling moth is found in many sections and formerly destroyed a large percentage of the fruit crop of Colorado.

Grover Cleveland started life on a borrowed capital of twenty-five dollars, and he rose to the highest position in the gift of his country without any adventitious aid but by sheer force of his own industry and ability. His career is an inspiration to every young man.

Hymeneal.

McANDREWS-GESNER.

Our Belleisle correspondent contributes the following:— One of the prettiest home weddings that has taken place here for many years was solemnized at the residence of Arthur W. Gesner, on Wednesday evening, the 24th, when his sister, Bessie Maude, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick McAn-drews, of Bridgetown, the Rev. G.
 F. Johnson officiating. The room was beautifully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. Across the room, forming a niche, was a pretty arch, made of oak leaves and flowers of the field. In the centre was suspended a floral bell. Precisely on the hour, the bride-elect entered the room on the arm of her brother, Jacob V. Gesner, of Manchester, N. H., who gave her away.
 She took her place beside the groom beneath the bell, and heard the solemn words that made them man and wife. The bride, who is a lady of most charming personality, was daintily robed in crepe de chine, trimmed with allover lace and white satin. She carried bride roses and maiden hair fern, and wore the conventional veil crowned with a beautiful wreath of orange blossoms. She was indeed one of the daughters of men that was fair to look upon.
 She was attended by her sister, Miss Gladys H., who looked very pretty in blue and white silk muslin, and carried beautiful wild flowers. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. McAn-drews received the hearty congratulations of their many relatives and friends. Soon after a sumptuous tea was served, and a most delightfully pleasant evening was spent. The bride and groom took their departure for their future home at Bridgetown amid hand shaking and best wishes of all present. Being a very popular young lady, she was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents—which are here enumerated—while in after years will serve as gentle reminders of old friends.

Like to Try Psychine

"Please send me a bottle of Psychine. I have a child afflicted with tuberculosis, and have been advised to try your medicine by my family doctor, as he says he cannot do anything more for my child."

MRS. H. STEPHENS.

Arthur, Ont., July 14, 1907.
 Psychine cures when doctors fail.
 Many are sorry they did not try Psychine first. Throat, lung and stomach troubles yield to its curative power. At all druggists, 50c and $1.00, or visit of King Edward to the Emperor of Russia. The event is regarded as one of great international importance.

The Banks and the Money Situation

(Toronto World.)

The bill, introduced by Hon. Mr.
 Fielding, and passed, provides for what may be called an emergency increase in our bank circulation to the extent of about $24,000,000 for four months in the year, namely, at the time when the crops have to be moved.

The banks of Canada, speaking in round figures, have about $900,000,000 of money wherewith to do the business of the country. Of this $900,000,000, $100,000,000, or one-ninth, is made up by the banks themselves, in the way of paid-up stock. Against this $100,000,000 of paid-up stock they issue $100,000,000 of their own notes, namely, dollar bank notes for dollar of paid-up stock. They also issue what they call their own money, $70,000,000 of reserves. These reserves, however, are accumulated profits which really came from the public, and have been earned out of the public, and are, therefore, more or less a contribution of the public towards the banking business. In all fairness, however, perhaps, $20,000,000 of this sum ought to be deducted, an amount which represents the premium on new capital paid by the shareholders; so that it would be better to say that $80,000,000 of the reserve is contributed by the public, rather than $70,000,000. Then they have about $60,000,000 of deposits from the public, and these four items, namely: capital stock, their own note issue, reserves accumulated and deposits from the people, make up almost $900,000,000, which is the total of the available funds in the bank treasury. It will, therefore, be seen that the banks have contributed $120,000,000 of this $900,- 000,000, and that the public, by the legislation that they give them to issue notes, and which is deposited with the banks, has contributed $780,000,000 to make up the available funds in Canada of $900,000,000. The people supply seven-eighths and the bank shareholders one-eighth.

Canada is a great and growing country. It is said to be the country of the century, and anyone who looks at our great West, who looks at the immense resources of the Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, and at the inducements they offer to enterprise, must admit that when the present depression disappears, and it is disappearing rapidly, and era of unheeded expansion must set in over this whole Dominion.
 British Columbia, with the prospect of a great and growing Asiatic trade, has itself immense possibilities. It has right in sight a large development and a growing need of capital.
 The question before parliament last week, and which is before the great question before the Canadian people today, is one of money to carry on the present business of the country, and to provide for the immense expansion that must soon take place.

The Law Against Profanity

We believe that advertising is vital and that the merchant should use the means and instruments within his reach for his own benefit. The advertisement in your home paper serves a double purpose—it gives you the support of the paper in a business way and it brings your business to the attention of the people who may be customers of yours. The country paper is worthy of patronage. We have a vital interest in the prosperity of the merchant, and we believe that we are justified in urging him to advertise in his home publication. Most merchants do, you may say, and that is true in a way but look through the country papers as we do, week after week, and you will realize how few merchants comparatively speaking, advertise with any vim or earnestness. They pay for two things and only take one of them. The publisher is willing that you should have nothing but what they want—Exchange.

The Law Against Profanity

The law that exists in Pennsylvania, and similar ones exist in other states, reads: "If any person shall wilfully, premeditatedly, despitefully blaspheme or speak loosely and pro-fanely of Almighty God, Christ Jesus, the Holy Spirit, or the Scripture of Truth, such person on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding $100 and undergo an imprisonment not exceeding three months, or either at the discretion of the Court."

The police are evidently enforcing the law against profanity on the streets of Halifax. The only three prisoners before the police court the other day were men, and in each case using bad language was one of the charges against them.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company does not allow its employees to swear. Last Thursday a new set of rules were posted in the shops in Wilmington, Del., declaring that profane language shall not be used by the men while at work. It is understood that violations will be punished by enforced vacation. The same rules are being posted throughout the Pennsylvania system.

Local option has been in force in Orillia for nearly a month and a half now. So far the results have been all that could be desired. The streets have been free from drunken men. Whereas under license it was scarcely possible to walk the length of Missisaga street without encountering one or more "drunks," the present writer has met only two men under the influence of liquor since May 3, and one of these was a stranger who had come into town on Empire Day. The most marked difference is at night. After midnight now, the streets are quiet, where formerly disorder used to start when the barrooms closed and keep up till nearly morning. There have been only two arrests for drunkenness, and the fine of ten dollars and costs imposed in each case will doubtless make future offences rare. The predictions that business would suffer have been entirely falsified. Whatever effect local option has had on business has been for the better. The one weakness which has developed is due to the presence of a licensed hotel at Atherley. There have been some complaints of rowdiness on the part of parties coming home from there late at night—Orillia "Packet."
