BIBLE QUESTIONS.

What women guarded the bodies of seven

1. What women guarded the boards of slain nen?
2. Whose three daughters were the fairest of any in the land?
3. What woman delivered her husband into the hands of his enemies?
4. What mother taught her son deceit?
5. Who took a little coat once a year to her son and where washe?
6. What woman wandered seven years in a strange land because of a famine in her own country?

A BIBLICAL SEER.

In the records of a sage Found upon the sacred page, One strange tale our thoughts engage

Of a seer who from his sleep Walked in silence dark and deep, Vigilant his soul to keep,

Lo! a vision meets his gaze, Filling him with dread amaze Mortal fear his soul betrays.

Stands erect his hair, and chills Deathly cold his being thrills— While a voice the silence fills.

What the solemn presence told, And who was this man of old, You who know may now unfold.

FEELING AT EASE IN SOCIETY.

O dear, I can remember perfectly the first formal evening party at which I "had a good time." Before that I had always a good time." Before that I had always hated to go to parties, and since that I have always liked to go. I am sorry to say I cannot tell at whose house it was. But I could tell you just how the pillars looked between which the sliding doors ram—for I was standing by one of them when my eyes were opened, as the Orientals say, and I received great light. I had been asked to this party, as I supposed, and as I still this party, as I supposed, and as I still suppose, by some people who wanted my brother and sister to come, and thought it would not be kind to ask them without asking me. I did not know five people in the room. So it was that I stood sadly by this pillar, and said to myself: "You were a fool to come here where nobody wants you, and where you did not want to come; and where you did not want to come; and where you did not want to come; and you look like a fool, standing by this pillar, with nobody to talk to." At this moment, and as if to enlighten the cloud in which I was, the revelation flashed upon me, which has ever since set me all right in such matters. Expressed in words, it would be stated thus: "You are a much greater fool stated thus: "You are a much greater fool if you suppose that anybody in this room knows or cares where you are standing or where you are not standing. They are attending to their affairs and you had best attend to yours, quite indifferent as to what they think of you." In this reflection I took immense comfort, and it has carried me through every form of social encounter from that day to this. I don't remember in the least what I did, whether I looked at the portfolios of pictures—which for some reason young people think a very poky thing to do, but which I like to do—whether I buttoned some fellow-student who was less at ease than I or whether I talked to some nice old lady who had with her own eyes half the history of the worth knowing. I only world which is worth knowing. I only know that, after I found out that nobody else at the party was looking at me or was caring for me, I began to enjoy it as thoroughly as I enjoyed staying at home. As it is with most things, then, the rule for going into society is not to have any rule at all. Go unconsciously; or, as St. Paul puts it, "Do not think of yourself more highly than you ought to think."

Everything but conceit can be forgiven to a young person in society. St. Paul, by the way, high-toned gentleman as he was, is a very thorough guide in such affairs, as he is in most others. If you will get the marrow out of these little scraps at the end of his letters, you will not need any hand book of etiquette.—E. E. Hale, in Our Young People.

GRATEFUL ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

The following letters speak for themselves :-

John Dougall & Sons :

GENTLEMEN,-The little boy wished to acknow ledge the receipt of "Ben Hur," himself, and the enclosed is the result which, we trust, you will be able to make out. He is very proud of his book Yours sincerely, R. A. Johnston.

Messrs. John Dougall & Sons, Montreal:—
DEAR SIRS,—I received the prize book "Ben Hur," for which I thank you very much. I did not expect it so soon. I am very proud of it. 1 am a little boy. I was eight years old in November, so no little boy or girl need wait till they are big to earn a book. I go to school and am in the Second Reader; I am busy learning pieces for Sunday and day schools after Christ mas. I will try and send you more subscribers.
W. B. JOHNSTON.

THE "DELUGE.

The annual deluge of letters at the Montreal Witness Office has come again. On Tuesday, January 3rd, no less than 1,161 money letters were received, containing subscriptions for the Daily Witness, Weekly Witness and Northern Messenger. The army of clerks had a merry and a busy time opening them, counting the money, checking the amounts, entering the names and performing the other duties necessary to the despatch of a newspaper. This is a sample of the letters received at the Witness Office. It is from Mr. George Parkinson, of Warrington, Man.

"I would just say 'Go on, dear old Witness, and may your circulation increase more this season than ever before.' For my own part I feel as though I could not get along very well without the Witness' weekly visits, for when, by some hitch or other in mail service we do not get it for a week, as occasionally occurs, we really feel as though we had lost something of importance for the time being. I feel in duty bound to say I feel under great obligations to the Witness, and truly grateful for the spiritual helps I have received many times from its perusal, and although, under pressure of circumstances I cannot take as many papers for next year as I have been in the habit of taking, still there are two I feel I cannot justly spare-the Witness and the organ of the church of my choice. The Witness, as a general family paper, I believe has no superior and very few equals, for it is pre-eminently every person's paper-for old, young and middle-aged. I cannot tell how thankful I am to see from week to week the manner in which strictly temperance principles are advocated and upheld by it, though it has great opposition from traffickers in body and soul destroying "poison," and I firmly believe the strength and standing of the temperance sentiment and principles through out this Dominion to-day are very greatly owing to the stand taken by the Witness, under God. May its voice never be weaker, but gain in strength for the right."
