

PARAGRAPH FOR SOME READERS.

On turning the leaves of our subscription book, it is noticeable that a goodly few names have the mark "free" attached to them. Some of these free readers will not receive the periodical after the present Number. Those that are presumed to be rich enough to order the work, will be lopped from our list, to make room, in due time, for others who are too rich in devotion to feel like doing without religious reading, and not so rich in temporals as to have the wherewithal to recompense.

IS The regular essays in this volume have, according to evidence which has come to us, been read with a good per cent. of interestedness. The six articles on the Religion of Jesus, and the four articles on the subject of Deacons, Elders, and Evangelists, have attracted unusual attention. To any one who sends us three subscribers for 1855, we will forward the volume for 1854, to pay him for his day's work. We have a number of sets of volume 6, and a few sets of volume 7, which will be freely distributed to those who give us their cooperation in getting readers and keeping up our supply of oil to make the Banner machinery work briskly and constantly. D. O.

IS Another paper or essay on the labors included in the office of Evangelist was mentally prepared, to accompany the series of articles under the head of Deacons, Elders, and Evangelists. In particular we desired to bring out a regiment of reflections on the fourth question we proposed in our last article. We have not been able to appropriate the necessary number of moments to put the proposed essay on paper, nor have we room for it in this No. D. O.

IS The second edition of the Letters on the modern means of conversion is nearly exhausted; but we have a few to send to those who obtain subscribers for 1855. Every one who sends us two new readers will receive, if he so desires, a copy of the three Letters, and six of the twin Tracts on the Holy Spirit.

IS Will our friend, "A Bible Christian," please read carefully the article headed "The Ethiopian Eunuch Baptized by Sprinkling" in our last Number, and send us his reflections? D. O.

IS In mentioning the names of fellow-helpers in New York State last month, we omitted to name brother Jonas Hersey, who sent a fine list of readers' names some time ago. D. O.
