PICKERING COLLEGE.

Although endowed and maintained by the Society of Friends, this Institution is open to young people of both sexes of all denominations. The attendance of resident students for the present term is the highest yet reached. The College follows the curriculum of the High Schools and collegiate institutions in every particular but allows a wider latitude in optional subjects. There are Preparatory forms for junior students. A thorough business education is imparted to the Commercial form. Students may choose their own courses of study. Music, Painting, Drawing, and Phonography are taught. Tuition in Phonography is free. There are well equipped gymnasiums and four target laws. Three masters and two governesses are employed by the superintendent and matron, reside in the College, and a careful supervision is exercised over the students' home life. Junior students prepare their lessons under a master. There is a flourishing Literary Society, and a Reading Room supplied with the leading papers and magazines of the day. Bible classes and prayer meetings are held weekly. Students, accompanied by teachers, attend their own place of worship on Sabbath mornings, and in the evenings a religious meeting in the College, conducted by the Superintendent. Especial attention is given to the preparation of candidates for the University and Teachers' Examinations.

Rec'd for S.E. Eight students, all who have passed the Matriculation Examinations of Toronto University, nine out of twelve succeeded at the Intermediate and Second Class Teachers' Examination, and ten passed the Entrance Examination into High School.

Delightfully situated in full view of Lake Ontario, and only twenty-two miles east of Toronto, Pickering College offers special inducements to parents who desire their children to receive a first-rate education at a reasonable charge, and in a place free from the temptations of towns and cities. Fees $150 and $160 per annum. Students may enter at any time. For further information and the College Announcement, address
