Montreal Street Strong and Active,
320 Asked.

Business Well Distributed.

During the morning's trading the interests which have been busily active during the last while were in prominence again to-day. The holiday in New York had no quieting effect upon local speculation, demand was active and general and business well distributed.

Money has grown cheap. Funds have been accumulated by private and public banking institutions. In proportion to this saving equities in securities and railroads represented by stocks have increased in value, wages throughout the country are generally good, and advances in some cases are recorded. These facts confronting investors lead inevitably to the conclusion that the improvement apparent for many months is a substantial structure and likely to endure indefinitely. That we shall experience a long period of abnormally cheap money seems assured, in view not only of monetary conditions existing in the United States but also in Great Britain and Continental Europe.

Today the market widened and increased in activity. Amongst some of the most important features we might mention Canadian Pacific. All through the dealings transacted this morning in this security there was a feeling of confidence and an undertone of strength visible. The price ranged between 90 and 90½ where it closed. Investors should not be in too great a hurry to realize, insiders talk of much higher prices for this security.

The feature of this morning was Montreal Street. After yesterday's meeting in Quebec, where the discussion of an increase of stock issue took place, and the definite form in which in all probability this increase is to be issued, there was a general demand for shares and the price rose according to the demand. It closes at about the best of the day at \$11, having sold at $31\frac{1}{2}$ and dollars now asking $31\frac{1}{2}$. The new issue advanced in proportion and closed at $11\frac{1}{2}$.

In the winter stocks Payne and Ward Eagle were quiet, they both suffered a little from the lack of interest shown All the Payne stocks lately dealt in will be settled for to-morrow. Montreal & London was in good demand, it did not add much to its actual value but the trading was active, and it looks to us as if it should be bought for a turn.

Richelieu & Ont. was steady to firm selling at 108. Twin City at $70\frac{1}{2}$ was quiet, and Toronto Rails was inactive round $11\frac{1}{2}$.

AFTERNOON BOARD.

The whole market continued to gain in strength, the most active feature being Montreal Street. During the last few minutes before the gong rang there was a determined effort made to acquire some, and bidding became lively; there were, however, no sales made, and it closed at 31½, with sellers asking 32½ and buyers offering 31½.

Toronto closed at 13300 in the eleventh session, and the market was selected at these figures, and Binghamton at 108, and New York at 108.
