DESCRIPTION OF ILLUSTRATIONS

Figure No. 6.—Three materials are used in the basque here illustrated—silk, striped velvet and silk, and plain woolen goods. It is fitted with the usual number of seams, has extensions on the shoulders that form a wide box-pleat, with buttons at the centre back seam. The front is cut in a V to the waist, where a button holds them, then clove in divergent points. The skirt pleat-troon is striped at the neck, fastens in British style, and falls in a puff below the waist. Sailor collar with revers in front and sleeve facing of the striped. The sleeves are wider than usual, pushed up over the lining, and held by a button on the inside seam. Pattern No. 3431, price 25 cents.

Figure No. 8.—Pattern No. 3437, price 30 cents furnishes the design here depicted. Boucle-striped goods are recommended, though any ordinary fabric is suitable, with head trimmings to remove the plain appearance. The lining skirt is finished with a protective pleating; the upper skirt is laid in broad folds, with one box-pleat on either side. The pleats should be caught underneath with two tapes passed around loosely. The scarf is carefully draped from the right centre to left box-pleat, where it knots once with slanting ends trimmed or striped like the skirt.

FIGURE No. 12.—Pattern No. 3438, price 25 cents, furnishes the design for a basque suitable for any ordinary fabric. A pointed front, a shirton back, and coat sleeves are the chief features. The pleated V-neck is sewn on in British style, fastened on one side and hooked over on the other; the velvet collar and cuffs are pointed and buttoned over, and the vest outlined by long bands or revers continuing to the point.

FIGURE No. 14.—Our illustration is beautifully carried out in lace, though silk, canvas, velvet, etc., are equally appropriate. The skirt has a wide tablier of lace over a tiny pleating, draped scarfs above in open style, and a plain drape in thick gathers at the belt. The scarfs can be made of piece lace, though a better effect is given with the contrasting material. Pattern No. 3433, price
