THE LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET. MR. GLADSTONE ON THE POLICY OF THE GOV-

ERNMENT-THE COCUPATION OF EGYPT-RE-LATIONS WITH FRANCE-FTATE OF IRELAND. LONDON, Aug. 8-At the Lord Mayor's bacquet to the Ministers, this evening, Mr. Gladstone was greeted with prolonged cheering. He said the Government had gone to Egypt in an unselfish spirit, and desired simply to accelerate reform there. It was felt that too much haste might spoil the work. When the views of the Government in this respect were accomplished the British troops would disappear from the country. Nothing would be more grateful to every one of the ministers than the early and successful accomplishment of this grand movement towards reform in Egypt. Regarding the Tamatave affair, he said the Government had received fuller advices confirming the hope that no difficulty existed which could not be solved by a generous and honorable disposition, which should always exist, especially between France and Eng. land. He now felt even sarguinely confident that nothing would arise which would disturb their long accord. He was thankful to be able to record a great change in the condition of Ireland. The authority of the law had been reasserted there, and peace and security prevalled, the darkness of assassination effectually suppressed, and the confidence which had united their unhappy frequenters and enabled them to execute their deadly purposes has been in a large degree destroyed. Deep gratitude was due to the Almighty and secondarily to Earl Spencer, Lord-Lieutenant, and Mr. Trevelyan, Chief Secretary. He bc-lieved the end of the session would show a fair amount of work would be achieved. The Government hoped much in the future from the new system of grand committees.

SUICIDE OF AN ADVOCATE AT SHER-BROOKE.

SHEBBECKE, August 7.—Mr. George H. Boriase, advocate of this city, formerly of Montreal, was missed from his home last night, and the Chief of Police, on being noti-August 4, 1883. Searching parties were at once sent out, and about 8.30 a.m. a coat, hat and cane, recognized as those of the missing man, were found on the bank of the St. Francis river near the brewery. Boats were procured, and about 3.30 p.m. the body was found in fifteen feet of water, just below the Whitcher rock. A jury was empanelled, with street, or to H. A. Elkins as foreman. They viewed the body and adjourned to the Uity Hall, where, after examining witnesses and deliberating they brought in a verdict as follows :- " The jury find that deceased, George H. Borlase, came to his death from drowning himself while in a state of temporary insanity,"

AN IRISH OPERA.

Speaking of opera, a few persons of musical taste had an opportunity the other evening to hear some selections from a new production of that class, entitled "Amergen," by a young Irish composer, Mr. Paul McSwiney. Ireland and opera are not often associated, though the operatic stage owes some of its most interesting works to two irishmen Balie and Wallace. If Mr. Mc-Swiney succeeds in finding an opening for his talent in New York, he may in time become as well known as either of these. Those who heard the selections from Amerger, rendered by the young composer himself, who possesses modesty as well as talent pronounced them highly meritorious. A similar verdict was rendered in Mr. Mc-Swiney's native city, Cork, where the opera was performed a week in succession and excited much interest, the press praising both the score and the performance quite warmly. The music is of a pleasant kind, yet not too simple to rank with compositions of what is called the higher class. It is interspersed with melodies which are certainly at least as agreeable as many that have become popular. Mr. McSwiney found his them in the same rich storehouse of Irish poetical and dramatic subjects from which his countryman Dr. Joyce obtained the crude material for his fine poeme, Delrdre and Blanid, though the composer does not go quite so tar back as the poet went. The story of bis opera is fixed at a time in the long epoch of the Danish incursions and occupation, and the chief characters are Amergen, the poet hero; Consire, the High King, and Adels, his daughter. The love of Amergen and Adela forms the chief theme and affords opportunity for some excellent passages in the score. A couple of selections from the solos may be given as indicating the quality of the libretto. One is from Amergen's love-song.

When morning is breaking.

Lear love, o'er the sky,

I mourn that on waking

My dreamland should fly;

When bright stars are shining

At midnight above,

I'm wearily pining

For the eyes of my love.

The other is from the song of Oulmar

a soldier of fortune:-

a soldier of fortune:—
From Norland's cold and wintry shore
To soft Italia's blushing sky,
Where'er resounds the clarion's roar
Or voice of love-song—there am L
I heed not of empires' fall,
I heed not of churchmen's strife,
There's a theme for my song in maiden charms,
And war is my labor of life,
For the soldier of fortune, he feareth no foeman, As brave as the Teuton, as stern as the Roman, As joyous as troubadour chanting of woman, When he looks in the eyes of his own love. Young authors, whether in literature or music, always have difficulty in obtaining a

THE GANG OF WRECKERS.

London, Aug. 8 .- An extraordinary number of vessels have been wrecked in the Straits of Kerton, in the Black Sea, during the past few years, and; in consequence of many suspicious circumstances, such as the wreck of vessels in calm weather and the fact that some pilots grew rapidly rich, an investigation was made by the English insurance companies who had paid indemnities amounting to many million roubles. It was learned that a pilot named Francisco was at the bead of a band of Engliab, Italiar, Greek and Russian pirates, who made a living by disesters on the coast. They were in collusion with the pilots, and charged huge sums for assisting the vessels the pilots auffered to go ashore. In less than two years fifty stranded versels had recourse to assistsuce of the pilot salvors. It is said that some Government officials are compromised.

THE CANON BERNARD TRIAL. Tournal, Aug. 8 .- In the trial of Canon

Bernard, charged with abstracting securities representing several million france from the Episcopal Palace, to-day, the counsel for the defendant declared that his client had documents from the Pope empowering him to take such measures as he deemed best to conceal the matter. He could not have supposed that such an order meant that he was only to conceal it in Tournal. Bernard had been made the scapegoat for Bishop Rousseaux, who wrote to him, while in New York, virtually ordering him to conceal the funds. Rousseaux believed that he could avoid meeting the claims of Dumont, a former bishop, by sending the funds beyond the reach of judicial power. Had he been successful he would have indemnified Bernard, who merely attempted an evasion of the civil law and had not committed a orime. The case caused a very painful feeling in religious circles.

THE SLAYER OF CAREY.

London, Aug. 8.—Captain Phelan, of Kansas City, the man supposed to be identical with O'Donnell, the slayer of James Carey, is at present sojourning at Cork, and, there-fore could not have committed the murder.

Referring to the cable despatch stating that papers of American oldizenship, dated Toron to, November, 1876, were found on O'Donnell at Cape Town, the Clerk of the Peace at Toronto says that no person named Patrick O'Donnell was ever naturelized in Toronto. A lengthy examination by the United States Consulate at Toronto failed to reveal any days. This is believed to be the largest head trace of O'Donnell's having taken out papers of a baby ever known. there.
