

DOWN
The cause of Mr. J. F. Small's not contesting South Down in the present elections was ill health. The great pressure of Parliamentary work during the past few months has affected very considerably Mr. Small's health. The announcement has caused deep regret to the people of Newry and neighborhood generally, among whom Mr. Small enjoyed a genuine and well-deserved popularity during the whole of his career.

FERMANAGH
There will be a stiff struggle to displace Mr. William Redmond in North Fermanagh. There is considerable feeling in the district at the substitution of Mr. Archdale for Mr. Bloomfield as the conservative candidate the latter having contested the seat at the late election.—Dublin Nation.

MONAGHAN
On July 21, at the adjourned Court of Petty Sessions, held at Monaghan, Joseph Healy, Patrick Donnelly, Patrick Smith and Patrick Keenan were charged with having seriously assaulted John Crawford on the evening of June 8th. Mr. Dudgeon represented the Crown, Mr. William McWilliams appeared on behalf of the accused man Girvan, and Mr. J. B. Ross defended. On the application of Mr. Dudgeon the four militiamen were remanded, George Girvan, was charged with shooting at and injuring Murphy, who has since died. In reply to the court, Mr. McWilliams said he was not prepared to defend Girvan, as notice of the trial had not been served upon him.

CLARE
At a meeting of the Coorh I. N. L. held on June 20, a circular was read from Ennis Branch soliciting subscriptions to carry on a prosecution against the Lord of Dromoland Castle. It was resolved to forward 1 pound.

At the meeting of the Broadford Branch held the same day Rev. E. Maloney, P. P., in the chair, a letter was read from the O'Callaghan's Mills Branch enclosing for adoption a copy of a resolution passed by them condemning the conduct of the Messrs. Going, of Violet Hill, and their agent, Mr. Brown, towards some of their tenants.

CORK
An influential meeting of the citizens of Cork was held in the City Courthouse on June 22, under the presidency of the Mayor, in support of the movement in favor of Irish manufactures. Dr. Sullivan, in a very practical speech, said technical education of a thorough quality was absolutely needed among artisans and manufacturers to enable them to produce articles of manufacture equal to those of other countries. Resolutions were adopted pledging support to home industries, and calling upon shopkeepers and the public generally to deal in goods of Irish manufacture.

The committee of Queenstown who have been appointed to carry out the wishes of the public meeting called recently for the purpose of commemorating the services of the Rev. Fr. Keller, P. P., to the people of Queenstown, met and selected the design for a costly stained glass window to be placed as a memorial in the Queenstown Cathedral.

The crops in the district of North Cork are in a condition that gives promise of an abundant harvest.

KERRY
George Arthur Ludgate, of 72 Patrick street, Cork, grocer, trading as 'Ludgate and Dixon,' has been adjudged a bankrupt.

LIMERICK
On June 23 the eve of the Spaciohill Great Horse Fair, a melancholy occurrence took place at the paddocks, where it was held, and caused much dismay to all who witnessed it. A respectable farmer Mr. Robert Nix, who resided at Meelick two miles outside Limerick, was exhibiting a horse which he had for sale; standing behind it when the animal got restive, and kicked violently, struck the owner on the stomach and both sides of the chest; inflicting such severe internal injuries that death was instantaneous.

On June 18 at Garhouse, near Bruce, three evictions took place on the property Mr. J. Gubbins. In consequence of Mr. Gubbins being High Sheriff for the county the duty of executing the writs fell on Dr. Ambrose, the district coroner. Two of the tenants evicted were widows, one of whom fainted during the eviction. Some rotten eggs were thrown at the coroner and one woman was temporarily arrested. The presence of the Rev. Father Sheehy helped to prevent the crowd which had assembled from having recourse to any violent conduct.

WATERFORD
On Sunday evening June 20, a young lad named Tyrrell, residing in Gashouse Lane, Limerick, was drowned in the river near the cove. He was bathing in company with some other boys, and having gone out a good distance he was swimming back when he either got a weakness or a cramp. He sank and was drowned before assistance could reach him. The body has not yet been recovered.

GALWAY
Martin Pelly, Coroner, held an inquest on June 21, at Harbor street Ballinasloe, on the remains of John McDermott, a young man aged 17 years, who was drowned while bathing in the River Suck the day before. A verdict of accidental drowning was returned.

The death is announced of Patrick Clayton, Eyre Square, one of the oldest and most respectable citizens of Galway.

The following sale took place recently in the Land Court.

Edmond Curran otherwise Edward Curran of Carrara, Tuam, has been adjudged a bankrupt.

LEITRIM
The Very Rev. J. Dolan for over eight years president of Cavan College has been appointed P. P., and V. F., of the extensive parish of Inismagrath, Drumkeerin, County Leitrim by the new Bishop of Kilmore, Most Rev. Dr. Finegan.

MAYO
Mr. T. F. Brady has opened a fund to defray the expenses of building a bridge over a tidal ravine in the County Mayo, where the people suffer privations, loss and danger in trying to cross in either going to or returning from market. To his appeal there has been a most generous response.

ROSCOMMON
At the last meeting of the Killina I. N. L. many laborers complained of the want of work on large farms adjoining on which they were formerly employed.

At a meeting of the Killoorkney I. N. L. held on June 20, Patrick Gurrin in the chair, the committee were unanimous in condemning the action of The O'Connor Don for being the first landlord in the parish to carry out two of those dreadful 'death sentences,' one of them being the eviction of a poor orphan girl.

SLIGO
The praise worthy movement set on foot by the leading Catholics of Sligo for the purpose of making good, from private subscriptions, the damages done to Protestant houses during the late discreditable disturbances has been most successful, and has been highly applauded and approved of not alone by the public opinion of Sligo, but by the leading National journals of the country. The greatest praise is due to the Mayor of Sligo, Messrs. Peter O'Connor, J. P., Simon Cullen, J. P., Edward J. Tighe, J. P., Francis Higgins, John Walsh, J. P., John Connelly, Bernard Collyer and other gentlemen, who have contributed so largely, and who have spared no exertions to make the movement a success, and it is due to our Protestant fellow townsmen to say that they have met those gentlemen in the most conciliatory and generous spirit. The claims for damages have been entirely withdrawn by the Provincial Bank, the Ulster Bank, the Bank of Ireland, Mr. Francis Nelson, Mr. John White, Mr. John Douris, Mr. Robert Crawford, J. P., Mr. Thomas H. McLoughry, Mr. E. T. Kell, Mrs. Eliza Whitaker, N. R. St. G. Robinson, J. P., and Mr. W. R. Fenton, solicitor;—Sligo Champion.

THE BODY AND ITS HEALTH.
Climate and Health.—'We live in air,' says a recent writer, and this air flows continually into our blood. No marvel, then, that we are influenced by climate which means the conditions of the air. In temperature, however, citizens have some advantage over dwellers in the country. In villages in England the air is as a rule, very pure. Around these there may be marshy lands, but the emanation therefrom is diluted, and even neutralized or blown away to altogether, by the fresh pure winds of heaven. The higher these villages are situated the more pure is the air; the more dry and bracing it is and more laden with health giving ozone. Villages by the banks of large rivers like the Thames are subject to various influences that are by no means very conducive to health; notably, exhalations from the river itself, from decaying animal and vegetable matter on its banks from the malaria of low-lying adjacent and haze and fogs. These are worst in the heat of summer and in autumn. Houses or villages built near to fens or swampy moors are not to be desired, and the inhabitants are liable to ague or typhus fever, or both. The same is to be said about dwellings near wet, unwholesome, or swampy woods. We hear great talk of night air. 'A land of meadows,' says a reliable authority, 'and parks, and ponds, and rivers and woods is a thousand times more hazardous than all the nights and all the winters that ever were. This is the real night air to be dreaded, even though the gray mist should not rise, or the dew should not fall. To take a pleasant evening's walk by the banks of the river or lake, to watch the trout at the evening flies; to saunter among wet groves till the moon rises, listening to the nightingale; these, and more of such rural amusements and delights are the true night air—the malaria and the fever.' Well, I have to add to this, that though the strong and robust may withstand any amount of malarious darts aimed at their life through the medium of this true night air, invalids who frequent such districts ought to be cautious. Yet, is this not a mistake most commonly made—an invalid or delicate person wrapping up and going out at night; thinking it is the cold alone he or she has to avoid? Gravel soils are most healthy, and next comes chalk. Let me conclude this paper by remarking that thousands of city folks, business men (except medical men who must remain in town) would be contenting their own interests by living at night out of the city altogether. In these days of hourly fast trains how very speedily one can get whirled away from the emanation-laden atmosphere of town to pure and salubrious air! If any one thinks of acting on my advice he would do well to consider what part of the country around town will suit his constitution best; which an interview with his own medical man will the more easily enable him to do.—Cassell's Family Magazine.
