

our understanding and respect for one another as human beings. The widening of this process of re-humanization in the nuclear era must gradually lead to political recognition of the common ground we all must protect.