The principal illicitatinger of Fame: which re-believe many bas or territorial inc.

ensit of burg

THE

C O N T E N T S.

4 3 6	ATEMPORATION OF COMMENT AFTERN TO IN
16	The viring est of the contract set to	7 13
The	principal advantages of France with respect	.4
20	to trade "Till to " and degree of the trade	39
	The natural produce and commodities of the	5
£ .	country the first of the first but of the	ü.
4	The subordination of the common people	. 16
3.	The rules and regulations they are obliged to
	ferve in manufacturing their goods, and expof-	7
52 1h	ing them to fale	30
4.	Their excellent roads, their navigable rivers and	: 12
	The goodness of their sugar colonies	ib.
	Their colonies receive all their luxuries and re-	44
. ••	finements of living from their mother country	23
.2.	The manner of collecting their duties on several
• 9.	forts of goods imported	ib.
	Their neighbourhood to Spain, and present connection with it	25
. 9.	Their address in drawing raw materials from o-
• •	ther countries to work up their own.  The encouragement given to foreign merchants	26
	and manufacturers to fettle among them	ib.
	. The English monopolies, which are so destru-	,
	clive to the interests of Great Britain, become,	er
10	for the very same reason, of the greatest benefit	11
1	and advantage to France	28
12	. Their public stock of wealth greatly increased,
10	by foreigners of all countries travelling among them	ib.
	TO: WIEL	