REDINGOTES FOPULAR

Still Favorites for Smart Models With Attractive Features Added.

Redingotes, which were so much the craze at the opening of the autumn season, continue in popularity with a few attractive features introduced Of course, chief among these is the presence of large quantities of fur at the throat, wrists, and hem, and on some; striking models even buttens and pockets are made from the fur which trims the rest of the coat. The silbourte achieved by the wearing of a smart redingote model is greatly admired and effected by the est dressed women of the moment Under it is worn a jaunty short skirt reaching to the top of the high dull kid boots with gypsy toes and contrasting laces. The hats worn with the winter redingotes are very small -sometimes of fur or velvet and feathers—fitting close over the head popular and practical way demanded by frosty weather. In Russian Green.

this style of coat is developed in equisite Russian green velvet with trimmings of moleskin which are most effective. The collar is large and of the stand-up turn-over type so universally becoming to every type of face. A band of the mole, nine inches deep, finished the hem of the which flared smartly and also pockets pockets pockets.
