Thus did the civic legislation and recep-tion committee unanimously declare it-self yesterday, on Controller Ward's trio of motions. The controller held that the yearly outlay of $15,000 on i civic elections warn't justified. In the last 50 years only one mayor, the latt E. A. Macdon-ald, had sought re-election for a sec-ond term in vain, while most aldermen were returned for their second year. Every city in the United States, of To-ronto's size, either elected its council for two or four years. For doing away with qualifications, he argued that he present system of qualifying by lease-hold or: freehold made it possible for candidates by spurious means and juggling, to get into line with require-ments. He had always looked on the qualification scheme as a farce. The trades and labor council had passed resolutions asking for abolition, Many people wanted it, and it would be in the city's interests to do away with the wards. only occasional bad years for har-vests can partially retard, but never destroy. "Under these circumstances, Can-ada offers a good field for judicious investment, and altho prosperity may bring out many unsatisfactory concerns, the number of high-class investments on a sound basis must predominate. Railways and land companies of the better class are all good to buy, and with the high pro-tective duty against the United States in iron and steel, certain of the Canadian industries in this de-partment offer great attractions to investors. The enormous railway development of the country, and the necessity imposed upon the railways by the protective tariffs to buy. in the first instance, the goods neces-sary for all their requirements, of construction or renewal, from Cana-dian sources, will further improve the position of their iron and steel manufactures. For economical work-ing the water powers in Canada must, and do. play an impoitant part. Manufacturing developments will follow water power, and in this line there is already great scope for sound investment, and it will be greater in the future. Milling under-takings and lumbering also are open to investment." takings and lumbering also are open to investment."
