New York, Jan. 7.—It was learned to-day that Jacob H. Scheff, James Stillman and D. O. Mills have been subposed to give testimony before the interstate commerce commission when its resumes its investigation of the Herriman railroads here.

Visitors to the Princess Theatre last night for the first performance of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" were favored with more than an ordinary enjoyable evening. Great things had been written of the excellence of the Herriman railroads here.

Cook as the amiable, big-hearted and deeply wronged Mrs. Wiggs retained the attention and sympathies of the audience from the rise to fall of the curtain and elicited warm and continued applause. Miss Edith Taliaten as Lovey Mary won the hearts of all present and will undoubtedly be a popular favorite for the rest of the week; while Miss Vivia Ogden as Mis Hazy kept all in good spirits with her from St. Petersburg, apparently bearare a good number, with little Tommy at their head, soon found lots of favor. Mr. Daly's work was as clever as ever. Isabelle Urquharo perhaps a trifle over-acted the part of Aurora, tho she certainly made a very satisfactory picture to the eye and Percival T. Moore gave a very good restrained impersonation of the husband. The playlet is very characteristic of Shaw and abounds in clever lines.

Mr. Shea is to be congratulated on securing such an attraction in vaude-ville and this one act should ensure crowded house for the rest of the week.

"When Frisco Burns"-Majestic. Genuine realism is afforded in "When Frisco Burns," which was greeted by large houses at the Majestic yesterday afternoon and last night. The earthquake is not exactly felt, tho some of the more timid in the audience may have experienced personal tremors, but there is provided a deafening detonation and a thunderous creat which tion and a thunderous crash, which piles the foreground high with debris, from which rise clouds of dust. It is quite a convincing spectacle and the acme of the scenic expert's art in the creation of sensational effort. In tiself it will well repay a visit to the Majestic.

The plot of the play is a very concentration of villainy and the great up-heaval comes at the psychological mo-ment when a struggle of varying fortunes is going on for possession of the heroine. It follows a thrilling scene from an opium den in the Chinatown
