

T. EATON CO. Canada's Greatest Store.

A Bargain Whirl in New Wash Goods.

Now for a bargain feast in Wash Goods. Business in that section has not been quite to our liking, so we have decided to change this state of affairs by giving a series of bargain offerings to quicken sales. On Tuesday morning we start the ball rolling by selling at these winning prices:

- 2000 yards 40-inch White Lawns, fine, even, smooth finish, suitable for children's aprons and dresses, regular 12c yard. Tuesday.....7 1/2
- 2000 yards 28 to 32-inch Scotch Ginghams and Zephyrs, in stripes, checks and plaids, all this season's patterns and colorings, warranted to wash, regular 18c to 30c a yard. Tuesday.....10

Don't wait too long before coming to the store on Tuesday morning. The best patterns will go first as a matter of course, and the early visitor gets the pick of the offerings. Come at eight o'clock. We'll be ready at that hour.

A Snap in Youths' Suits.

Note the cut in time for the 24th. These are all new, up-to-date Suits, this season's goods, but more suits are coming, and we must have the room. Be here early Tuesday morning and get your pick. Remember we open sharp at 8:48 only Youth's Long Pant Suits, single and double-breasted, single and double-breasted, navy blue and black, some with mohair herringbone, others silk stitched edges, best linings and trimmings, broken range of sizes, 32, 33, 34, 35, regular prices $8.50, $9, $10, $11, Tuesday.....5.95

Hosiery Bargains

This is to be another important week for Hosiery buyers. No need to tell you why. The mere fact that you can buy good Hosiery for less money than we usually ask is all you care about. On Tuesday we have to sell:

- Ladies' Misses' and Boys' Plain and Ribbed Black Cotton Hose, fine elastic make, warranted fast dye, in medium and heavy weight, sizes 6 to 10, regular price 15c a pair, Tuesday.....8
- Ladies' Extra Fine 2-1 and 4-1 Ribbed Black Cashmere Hose, some with seamless heel and toe, soft make and finish, double sole, regular price 25c and 30c a pair, Tuesday.....17
- Ladies' Lace Lisle Thread Hose, in very pretty designs, extra heavy heel, seamless, double sole, full fashioned, all sizes, regular price 50c a pair, for.....35
- Ladies' Plain Black Cotton Hose, in a very fine quality, extra high spliced ankle, full fashioned, double sole, Herculon dye, regular price 20c a pair, for.....12 1/2
- Misses' and Boys' 2-1 Ribbed Black Cashmere Hose, in a good heavy weight, some with six-fold knee, just the thing for school wear, fine and durable, sizes 6 to 8 1/2, regular price 25c a pair, for.....16
- Men's Fine Plain Black Cashmere Half Hose, made from pure wool yarn, with a perfectly seamless foot, extra spliced sole, heel and toe, regular price 25c a pair, for.....14
- Men's All-wool Socks, in a dark grey shade, with close ribbed toes, white heel and toe, a good wearer, regular price 15c a pair, for.....10

NORSEMAN BICYCLES.

$25.00, FULLY GUARANTEED.

ROYAL AND SOCIAL CIRCLES

Season's Hardly Opened in London, Yet the West End is Livelier Than It Was.

DRAWING-ROOM AT BUCKINGHAM.

The Queen wore few jewels, but there were lots of diamonds and pearls.

New York, May 13.—Mr. Isaac N. Ford, commenting and reviewing the doings of royalty and society in general, says in his London letter to this morning's Tribune:

Jonkie has been revelling in two war chariot shows during the week and favoring the public with the information that all the women present looked very smart, and he is now rejecting over the prospect of two big dinner parties and two dances next week. The West End is livelier than it was, but the season can hardly be said to have opened, although there was the drawing room at Buckingham Palace yesterday.

A Twenty-Five Cent List of Groceries

Don't pay too much for your Groceries. It stands to reason that we can sell you groceries cheap. Why not? We buy direct from the producer and sell direct to you at smallest margin. Besides, you need groceries 3 times a day or 105 times a year (not counting lunches and pieces for the children). A few cents saved each time means dollars every month. Look this list over carefully, it is just a hint of what we carry. Full lines of the best goods, all fresh and reliable. Come Tuesday morning and get some of these goods. Your choice for 25c.

- 1000 Cans (only) Finest Tomatoes at 4 times.....25
- 1 Bottle Royal Salad Dressing.....25
- 4 lbs. Finest Iceberg Sugar.....25
- 4 lbs. Finest Pearl Tapioca.....25
- 24 lbs. Fine California Prunes.....25
- 3 Bottles Tomato Catsup.....25
- 9 lbs. Finest Wheatflour.....25
- 9 lbs. Flaked Wheat.....25
- 11 lbs. Flaked Oats.....25
- 8 lbs. Finest Hand-picked Beans.....25
- 6 lbs. Rangoon Rice.....25
- Mixed Bird Seed, 1 lb. packages, at 6.....25
- 5 Bottles Worcestershire Sauce.....25
- 5 Packages London Corn Starch.....25
- Windsor Table Salt (5 lb. bags) at 6.....25
- Our special blend of Fine Jamaica and Java Coffee, regular 30c lb., for.....25

We give prompt and careful attention to orders by mail and telephone. Every satisfaction guaranteed to those who take advantage of our service in that respect.

Sheetings.

On sale Tuesday morning:

- Horrocks' Extra Heavy Plain Sheet and Fine Soft Finished Twill Sheet, full bleached, made of selected long staple yarns, 72 inches wide, regular price 30c a yd. On sale Tuesday at.....23c

Floor Nothing better than Matting.

Matting for summer use. But get good kinds. We have some very fine China and Japan Matting which we think are reasonably priced:

- New China and Japanese Matting, in assorted patterns, suitable for rooms, halls or cottages, per yard 15c and.....20
- New Japanese Matting, 36 inches wide, per yard 15c, regular price 20c.....14
- New Japanese Matting, 36 inches wide, a complete range of floral and block designs, regular carpet pattern, per yard.....40

Paints, Brushes.

The little painting or varnishing that ought to be done around your house can be easily done by yourself.

We have the paints and brushes, too. They're not very expensive. These tools are good and easily applied:

- Pure Prepared Paints, ordinary colors and floor paints, 1 pint, 1 lb. pints, 22c; quarts, 35c; gallon, each.....140
- Shutter Greases and Varnishes, Colors, etc., a large range of designs to select from, each $5.00 to.....20.00

THE T. EATON CO. LIMITED

190 YONGE ST., TORONTO.

followed by scores of fashionable tens and receptions for the display of gowns.

Royal Circle Was Large. The royal circle at the drawing room was the largest witnessed in a long time, and there was a full attendance of the diplomatic corps. The Queen wore hardly any jewels, but there were lots of diamonds and pearls in the large assemblage.

The Queen Returned to Windsor. The Queen has returned to Windsor this afternoon, receiving a warm greeting from the throngs of operators in the streets, and leaving the residence of Wales to conduct the second drawing room on Monday.

Royalty Busy This Week. Royalties will be busy next week laying corner stones and visiting hospitals, and the royal military tournament will come on with a unique program, including "Defence, not Defence," and designed to illustrate the critical periods of the volunteer movement of 1798, 1860 and the present day. The crowd from the Powerful, with a big bow from the Powerful, will be the patriotic attraction.

THE TORONTO WORLD.

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER. No. 55 YONGE-STREET, Toronto. Daily World, 3c per year. Sunday World, in advance, $2 per year. TELEPHONES: Business Office, 124, Bloor Street, Rooms 423. Hamilton Office, 10 West King-street. Telephone 964. H. H. Rogers, Editor. Agent, 145 Fleet-street, London, E.C. The World can be obtained in New York at the rate of 10c per copy. Hotel, 100, Broadway and 11th-street.

THE WEST HURON AND BROCKVILLE FRAUDS.

Mr. R. L. Borden, M.P. for Halifax, has been making a determined effort in Parliament to have the West Huron and Brockville election scandals again referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections. It will be remembered that an investigation was made by the committee last session, but the House was prorogued before the committee was able to report. It contained itself by presenting to the House the evidence that had been taken. In his speech in the House on Friday night Mr. Borden summarized the evidence that was taken at the West Huron investigation last session. He said:

"What did I undertake to prove when I made this motion before this House, and last session what did I prove? I undertook to prove, in respect to one polling station, No. 4, Colborne, that 48 of the 100 ballots for Robert McLean were counted, 30 for Robert McLean and 18 for Robert Holmes, and that at that particular polling station before the Privileges and Elections Committee that at that particular polling station, 30 of the 100 ballots were counted, 18 for Robert Holmes and 12 for Robert McLean, and that they had handed their ballots to the deputy returning officer, who had deposited them in the ballot box."

This is what has already been established in the West Huron scandal. But much more damaging evidence is to come, if only an opportunity can be had to present it.

Mr. Borden stated to the House that he had named Pittblott to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Mr. Borden further said that he had evidence to illustrate the method by which these 161 forged ballots were substituted for good ones. This is what the sworn statement of the returning officer, Mr. Pittblott, made to the effect that an expert was employed and paid to train deputy returning officers to steal ballots and substitute forged ballots in their place at that election; that 11 deputy returning officers had been named, and that they were trained by that expert, and that they received 161 forged ballots for the purpose of this substitution; that the amount to be paid to these men for each ballot which they would so substitute was, in most cases, the sum of $5 per ballot.

Practice of Business.

The theory that underlies business is taught in the above course. The course is of a practical every-day character. Bookkeeping, Stenography, Typewriting, Business Letters, and Penmanship. BRITISH-AMERICAN BUSINESS COLLEGE, Y.M.C.A. Bldg., Cor. Yonge and McGill Sts., Toronto. David Hopkins, Chartered Accountant, Principal.

TO HAVE IN MIND OUR OWN

Request from Ottawa to Have a Branch in This Country Will Be at Once Granted.

SO SAYS A WELL-KNOWN WRITER

Imperialist Questions Are Taking All the Attention in Great Britain Just Now.

New York, May 13.—In discussing the subject of imperial interests, in his London despatches to this morning's Tribune, Mr. Isaac N. Ford says graceful tribute to the Canadians. He says:

"Imperialism has taken the place of all foreign questions, and despatches in the London journals from European capitals have not been so meagre for many years. Imperialism is the thing which interests every reader; even the smallest details are discussed, such as the establishment of a branch of the Royal Mint in Canada. The request is expected from Ottawa that Canada shall be placed on terms of equality in this respect with India, Australia and South Africa, and it will be granted at once. The vexatious question raised by the Australian federation renders the Colonial Office eager to grant favors to Canada and other colonies."

Natal Losses To Be Made Good. Mr. Chamberlain has already assured the Natal government that the losses in the war will be made good, and as the southern half of the colony has been in the possession of the Boers, the assessment for damages will be a large one, and there will be much heavier bill to come from Cape Colony and the Bechuanaland protectorate. The South Africans on the exchange have been very busy with these matters are discussed. They know that the Boer burghers have no resources for settling these immense claims for compensation, and that the mine owners on the Rand will be called upon to pay the bill.

DISCOVERIES IN EGYPT.

Some Interesting Results of Prof. Petrie's Work at Abydos During the Past Winter.

London, May 12.—Prof. Flinders Petrie has just reported the results of the past winter's exploration at Abydos, and the results of the excavations of the prehistoric times in the Egyptian desert. Fascinating indeed are the season's discoveries, for practically all the prehistoric remains of the written history of the human race, the whole of the first dynasty of the Egyptian kings, heretofore regarded as a mere list of names, are now being brought to light. From 4000 to 5000 B.C. Now we are able to handle the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

All this has come about through a careful study of three or four insignificant-looking objects of black mud. The royal wine jars were sealed and in most cases only bore the name of the king, which was not recorded in the lists of kings. But some seals bore both names and from these the actual names of the fifth, sixth and seventh kings of the first dynasty have been identified. We wish to make it clear that the discovery of the first dynasty is not the work of other kinds of the first dynasty. The discovery has also, by the side of the work and the position of the objects of King Ahmose, the founder of the Egyptian monarchy.

Mr. Petrie has also found a position to form a correct appreciation of the whole first dynasty, the art of which was rude and archaic. Under Menes, but now to be seen under the luxurious King Deneset, fifth of the dynasty, the art of the first dynasty is seen in its full development. The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

The principal objects of antiquities are the royal drinking bowls and the papyrus, to compare their art and carvings, to criticize the posthumous respect paid to the king and to feel much more familiar with the daily life of this age than we are with that of the Roman Empire.

THE ASHANTEE TROUBLE.

Writing for American Readers, a Correspondent Says the Colonial Office is Disturbed.

New York, May 13.—In regard to the troubles among the Ashantes, Mr. Isaac N. Ford says in his cable despatches to this morning's Tribune:

"Tumors of the fall of Coma are unconfirmed, but the Colonial Office is believed to be so concerned with the situation, especially as the native rising has been organized with foresight. The work of the Ashantes will have to be repeated, unless the Colonial Office is able to bring about a settlement, even if it be a matter of a month."

CHICAGO HAS 2,000,000 PEOPLE. That is the Estimate of the Enumerators for the Directory.