Plain Prices

A natural question to ask. But surely, if you take thought, you will conclude that the wise plan is to buy from a expect to receive, in which case it is a matter of bargainmaking that determines the actual price paid, with the advantage always on the side of the seller.

Where pianos are really sold at plainly marked prices, as are all the pianos in our warerooms, the price quoted must be the lowest, allowing the seller the smallest margin of profit it is possible to accept at any time in order to meet trade competition.

It is because of our adherence to and our belief in this one price system as a fair method of doing business that we ask an opportunity of securing your patronage. To illustrate our values we quote you on five representative pianos: Dominion

WE regret to have to announce that, owing to the prolonged strike in the anthracite coal districts, we are unable to supply any more of that grade of coal at present. The strike was inaugurated in May, the season of the year when our stocks are always at the lowest point, and it is now nearly five months that we have been unable to obtain any supplies whatever of this kind of coal Had the strike ended by the 1st of September, as was fully expected at the latest, there would have been no shortage in this market. As it is, although we have tried to treat everyone fairly and distributed the coal as evenly as possible, we are now obliged to recommend our customers to use Soft Coal in the present emergency. We have on hand an excellent quality, which is largely used in many places both for furnaces and ranges, and which we can supply at a moderate price. Our advices from the anthracite coal fields point to an early re sumption of mining, and although coal will undoubtedly be slow in coming forward for a time, we hope that before cold weather sets in there will be sufficient to supply all pressing demands.
