on should be elected to the Mayor's chair. It therefore championed the cause of Ald. Daniel Lamb, a man who had given long and faithful service in the Council, and who, The World still believes, would have proved himself a faithful and energetic Mayor.

The complexity of the contest accomplished the defeat of Ald. Lamb. He nevertheless polled a heavy vote—a vote which is substantial vindication of his appeal to the people by right of service. The World's advocacy of the claims of Ald. Lamb implied no lack of sympathy with the platform of Ald. Urquhart appealed to the electors on an admirable platform, and the strength of the principles he enunciated is indicated beyond question in the returns. Credit is due The Evening Telegram for the support which it gave single-handed to the candidate who stood for its principles.

And now that Ald. Urquhart is platform. He has told the people what he believes skould be done. His datty now is to give effect to his pledges. ate possibilities of the Marconi wireless telegraph system. Marconi has proved the success of his invention.
Probably no invention that the world has, known advanced from infancy to practical utility as quickly as Marconi's wireless telegraph. It already possesses speed, and the cost of transmission, as indicated by Masconi himself, must prove a dangerous, menace to competing systems. Because the Marconi system is not one of absolute secrecy, its efficiency and prospects of becoming a general utility are not seriously disparaged.

Secrecy is not an important considereation in innety-nine out of a hundred messages that cross the Atlantic.
Speed and cheapness are the governing factors. If Marconi's system fulfils its promises along these lines, it must soon become the popular medium of communication between America and Eutope. Wonders in overland wireless telegraphy are confidently predicted by Marconi. The world which has witnessed his triumphs on the ocean has no reason to discount the possibilities of his invention on land.

For the assistance afforded Marconi in establishing a station in Canada, Hon, W. S. Fielding deserves credit. It was $80,000 well spent. The country is

We beg to advise you that the coroner's jury has since brought in a verdict that the explosion was from some unknown cause. Pagluighi admitted having dynamite in his home. The acetylene generator, which was a small one, was found entirely uninjured, and had not exploded at all, and Pagluighi himself swore that he thought the explosion was done from malicious motives by two of his discharged operators. The truth would seem to be that Pagluighi had been mixed up with anarchists and had quarreled with them, the explosion being a stroke of revenge against him. Harrison's Criticism. A publicist whose criticisms each New Year attract the widest interest in England is Frederic Harrison, who presides at the annual festival of the London Positivist Society. He went so far this year in an address just delivered as to prophesy that the Monroe Doctrine would eventually descend to the simple formula of "No European monarchy shall hold ground on trans-Atlantic continents." Mr. Harrison affirmed that England was hastening such a development by her foolish combination with Germany.
