The Great Society Function of the Season

Brilliant Triumph for American Duchess

But Her Husband Managed to Misbehave Himself.

Gossip Regarding Various Prominent Persons-Great Bicycle Show.

Advertiser. London, Nov. 28.-The principal soclety function of the country house season was the visit this week of the Prince and Princess of Wales to Blenheim. A visit from the Prince is here considered a social indorsement that is very valuable: but to secure the Princess and her daughters at once furnishes a social certificate that the moral as well as the social status of the hostess is above question. The American Duchess may, therefore, consider that there are no more worlds for her to conquer; she has achieved higher social honor in a short time than any American lady before her. Further, she emphasized her triumph with the presence of two distinguished Americans, Lady Randolph Churchill and Mrs. George N. Curzon. The house party "to meet their highnesses" was equally brilliant. Politics were prominent in Mr. A. J. Balfour, Mr. Henry Chaplin, Lord Londonderry and Mr. George N. Curzon, Mr. Grenfell, the Earl of Gosford, the Earl of Chesterld, Viscount Curzon, Sir Samuel In addition to the brilliant women enumerated there were such social stars as Lady Londonderry Viscountess Curzon, Lady Lillian Churchill and the Countess of Gosford. Despite the ourning into which the Duchess of Marlborough was recently plunged, there was no moment in the week that was not of the liveliest description, and many were the compliments passed on the completeness of American hospital-The programme of the festivities of Blenheim was carried out with suc-

To the crowds of reporters and to the townsmen generally the Duke of Mariborough made himself extremely unpopular. When walking about his estates on Monday before the guests arrived, he exhibited a perfect picture

He refused to see reporters, out allowed his agent, who reflects the Duke's airs in a still more offensive way, to see two or three reporters, were requested by the agent, while they were in the park during the Prince of Wales' visit, to wear high silk hats and frock coats. Permission was given an artist of the London Graphic to sketch in the grounds, provided he agreed not to make any "tittle-tattle" sketches. A PRETTY SCENE.

were followed again by other members of the royal family, Lord and Lady Derby, Lady Churchill and the Earl of Chesterfield. At the request of the ince of Wales several university glee singers took part in the concert. At the supper afterwards a splendid silver service was used which belonged to the first Duke of Marlborough, with a famous center piece representing the great commander seated on horseback on a battle field writing a dispatch on a drum head.

Vanity Fair says: "By not postponing the party, the duchess has lost great deal of money, as people in Americal are so strict about mourn-ing," and asks if the party would not have been postponed if the Dowager Duchess of Marlborough had died.

The last one was opened on Monday, and much to the chagrin of the executors, expected to make a valuable find, it was like the two previous cupboards, empty of all but valueless papers.

PROSPECTS OF GOOD TIMES. Representatives of the Associated Press have been making inquiries in centers as to the effects upon trade already traceable to the results of the Presidential election in the United peared leaning on the arm of the Duke | States. In England the increase in the number of invoices presented for authentication at all the consulates in the first week after the election of McKinley was more marked than during the second and third weeks. But the increase for the second and third weeks over the same period in October was at many consulates over 60 per cent. At all the consulates the per centage of increase is expected to continue. Among forwarding agents there is the liveliest belief in good times abroad, many of them having since November, made contracts for large amounts of cubic space. Exporters and large commission houses report greatly increased activity, which they expect to continue unabated for at least six months, American stocks of drygoods, etc., having been allowed to fall very low. The winter buyers, due shortly, are expected to order heavily. In Dublin the election of McKinley has been very cordially received by the exporters. There is everywhere noticeable a general expectation of improved trade during 1897. One large exporter, however, qualifies this generally held opinion by saying: "International trade is dependent upon so many fluctuating quantities that no absolutely safe predictions can be laid down as to the future."

In Paris the increase in shipments to the United States has been marked since the election. In Germany, more particularly in Frankfort, the defeat of the free silver coinage proposition has been received with expressions of delight. The advance in values which has followed McKinley's election has produced so much satisfaction that it cannot fail to have a large influence on the vol-

St. Albert, N. W. T. General Satisfaction With the School Settlement.

Business Improving and a Bright Outlook, Now the Question Is Out of the Way.

Special to The Advertiser. Medicine Hat, N. W. T., Nov. 28.-Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, is here on his way to Winnipeg. The Minister held meetings and attended banquets at Victoria, Vancouver, Nanaimo, Edmonton, St. Albert and Calgary. The Government's policy in general, and the school policy in particular, was enthusiastically indorsed by men of all creeds and nationalities. The Roman Catholic population is entirely satisfied with the term; of agreement, excepting such extremists as Archbishop Langevin and Father Leduc. At Calgary, on Thursday night, the Minister spoke before a large audi-ence of both political parties, and was heartly congratulated upon the broad and liberal policy of the Government.

At St. Albert, which is the most important French-Canadian settlement, he was enthusiastically received. The Minister has been obliged to abandon for the present his trip to Kootenay, and declined a banquet at Rossland on account of the bad state of the weather. All noise in Winnipeg is made by half a dozen politicians who for years past have been at the disposal, and some of them in the pay, of the Conservative leaders.

Of the Bell Piano Company Now Open to the Public.

Artistically Decorated and Elegantly Furnished-Contains a Concert Hall Seating 256 People.

The handsome and commodious new premises of the Bell Piano Company at 167 Dundas street, will be opened for the first time today for the inspection of the public, who will doubtless call in large numbers to gratify their curiosity for the past two months, case results "Curiosity" it has been, because a great deal of speculation has been indulged in as to the outcome of the extensive alterations and improvements the kidneys. which have been in progress since the removal from the premises of the Bank of Toronto. A representative of The Advertiser called upon Mr. Percy T. Carroll, the district manager of the company, recently, and was shown over the entire building by that gentleman, and the truth is not exagger ated one jota to say that London has now, through the enterprise of the "Bell" people, who are, by the way, the largest manufacturers of pianos and organs in Canada, one of the largest music warerooms in the Dominion, if not absolutely so.

The first floor is fitted up as a piano show room, the decorations of which are very artistic and beautiful. The walls are finished in pale blue ingrain, surmounted with a frieze nearly a yard in depth, of Italian and French design, with Cupids and Music in re-lief. Around the base is an exceedingly fine Japanese leather dado, the rich harmonious coloring of which makes a magnificent background for the beautiful veneers of the instruments. The woodwork throughout is the good folk for alienating his affec-cherry, which affords a fine contrast The second floor is used largely as a stock room, and here can be seen not only a complete supply of "Bell" in-struments, but also those of various other makes, both in pianos and or-gans, which have been taken in exchange from purchasers of "Bell" goods. These are offered at "bargain" prices all the time, and on terms to suit the poorest pocket. At the front or the building on this floor is fitted up a very pretty "parlor" show room. It is a cosy little place, and has a very inviting aspect. A few of the choicest instruments are here shown, and the way in which the furnishings and draperies are arranged gives the place the appearance of an ordinary parlor. It is a very happy idea. The tuning room is also situated on this floor, but entirely apart from every-

On the next floor is situated the oncert or recital hall, which is capable of seating about 250 persons. The furnishings are dainty and comfortable, and the decorations entirely in keeping with the place. The Woman's Morning Music Club here have their headquarters, and every two weeks a recital is given by the talented members. The London Vocal Society, under the conductorship of Mr. W. H. Hewlett, organist of Dundas Street Center Methodist Church, also meets here every week, and various other organizations are making application for it from time to time. The Bell Music Hall, as it is termed, is already well known, and bids fair to be a very popular resort for London's music loving citizens.

The building throughout is well heated and ventilated, and the lighting arrangements are simply perfect, combination electric and gas fixtures of wherever needed. A description of the new premises of the Bell Company would be incom plete without recognizing in a substantial way the merits of the superbly cased instruments which they are now manufacturing. From a mu sical standpoint they are well-nigh perfect, comparing most favorably with the very best makers in the United States or Europe, as the flattering enomiums received by many of world's greatest artists amply testify, and as for external appearance, they said: "No; the motto of the company is to make only the best, knowing it to be the cheapest in the end. if we wanted to because we do not self. carry them, but we often sell pianos cheap. Our saying, 'We sell only first-clas sinstruments,' while true, may not of itself carry conviction, for the most extravagant claims are habitually made for the notoriously bad piano, ne change affects London, and that as for the best. But as it is a fact, we must say it in justice to ourselves, and we trust that our doing so will not be misunderstood, merely because dealers in inferior goods make absurd claims. You must remember that the Bell Company are the largest manufacturers of musical instruments in Canada, and possess facilities at the present time for manufacturing highest grade planos, such as many makers are only dreaming of. You may rest assured that under present progressive management at headquarters our instruments will maintain the position in this country that their sterling qualities entitle the to, which is 'First Only.'" There can be no doubt that Mr.Carroll is selling the "Bell" piano. He makes one feel it. The Advertiser representative said afterwards, he was sure that if he had been a married man he would have purchased on the spot. The Bell Company, as well as Mr. Carroll, their representative, are to be congratulated on having such a fit-fing home for the sale of their ex-
