

STAND BY THE PEOPLE, SAYS HON. MR. MACKAY;
THIS IS AND HAS BEEN POLICY OF LIBERALSRousing Rally in Hyman
Hall Last Night.New Leader of Ontario Liberals
Given Reception.Forming a Policy Which Will Appeal to the People—Mr.
Pardee and Others Speak.

Hyman Hall was reopened last night for the season by one of the most splendid demonstrations in the history of London Liberalism. In spite of the very bad weather, the large auditorium was completely packed, while the hallways were crowded, and many stood anywhere within earshot, so that none of the speeches would be missed. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed. Mr. Arthur Sippi, president of the Young Liberal Club, presided, and addresses were given by Hon. A. G. MacKay, leader of the Ontario Opposition, Mr. F. F. Pardee, M. P. for West Lambton, and Mr. George C. Gibbons, K.C., president of the Liberal Association of London.

Hon. A. G. MacKay.

The affair was notable from many standpoints. The first was the appearance of Mr. MacKay. That the cause of Liberalism is safe in his hands was established beyond a doubt. That his leadership will prove a great thing for the Liberal party was the consensus of those present. He delivered a very strong and eloquent speech. As an orator, he is one of the coming men, a worthy successor to that prince of speakers, Hon. G. W. Ross. He was frank, straightforward, and masterful—a leader of men. His gifts are constructive, and there is no doubt that the elements of the party in Ontario will be cemented into an irresistible whole under his guidance. He was given a tremendous ovation, and established himself firmly in the hearts of London Liberals. His speech was punctuated with cheers and applause.

The splendid new home of the young Liberals of London was favorably commented on by all speakers. With common consent it was voted one of the handsomest structures of its kind in Canada, and it was prophesied that it will indeed be the home of Liberalism not only of London but of this entire western district.

Hon. Mr. Hyman.

The absence of the man whose name it bears was spoken of, and at every mention of the name of Hon. C. S. Hyman, an ovation such as has never been given the name of any other politician here was given him. It showed that the party is unreservedly loyal to Mr. Hyman. This was a notable feature.

Mr. Pardee's Speech.

Mr. F. F. Pardee, M. P., gave a splendid speech, in which the policy of the Laurier Government was defended, and the policy, or rather lack of policy, of Mr. Borden sharply criticized.

Mr. George C. Gibbons, K.C., spoke briefly, voicing his great pleasure at being present with Hon. Mr. MacKay and Mr. Pardee.

On the platform with the speakers were: Mr. J. M. McEvoy, Mr. T. H. Purdon, K.C., ex-Mayor F. G. Rumball, Ald. Wm. Gerry, Dr. Routledge, ex-M. P. P., and others.

During the evening the Imperial Quartet rendered many selections. The members were in excellent voice, and were splendidly received. The quartet is one of the best ever heard in London. Splendid solos were rendered by Mr. Ernest Moule and Mr. J. C. Pink, both of whom sang well.

President Sippi Welcomes.

Mr. Arthur Sippi, president of the Young Liberal Club, welcomed the Liberals to their new home, and extended an invitation to all of them to make it their home indeed. He was delighted to inform the members that Hon. Mr. MacKay and Mr. Pardee were present.

Both were young men well-known to the Liberals of London, and both were highly regarded.

He spoke of Mr. MacKay as the coming Premier of Ontario, a man worthy to lead an Opposition or a Government. (Cheers.)

Mr. Geo. C. Gibbons, K. C.

Mr. Geo. C. Gibbons, K. C., declared that he was not going to make a speech. He congratulated the Liberals of London on having such a splendid home. He also congratulated the young Liberals on showing such a magnificent spirit. The young Liberals were worthy of the name of Liberal. He regretted the absence of Hon. C. S. Hyman. (Cheers.) There was not a Liberal who did not sympathize with Mr. Hyman in far-off China. If he could look in upon the gathering of tonight, he would regret that he was not there to see them. The young Liberals were worthy of the name of Liberal. The Liberal Club is to be the home of every Liberal in London, as well as the home of every Liberal sympathizer. There were many English Liberals who had come to the city and an effort should be made to bring them to the city, and also to bring them into the home of Liberalism in London—Hyman Hall.

Tribute to Mr. MacKay.

"You do not want to hear me to—
Continued on page nine.

London Election October 29.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 28—On account of some delay in arranging for the manhood suffrage vote, the London election for Dominion House by-election will not take place until the 29th of October.

Nominations will take place a week earlier. All three by-elections take place on the same day.

Wanted His Wife's Wedding Ring;
Modern Jonas Chuzzlewit in CourtFound Guilty of Failing to Support His Life Partner, Who Is Dying of Tuberculosis.

One of the saddest cases of neglect of a dying woman ever heard before Magistrate Love was the case of Joseph Smith, charged with failing to supply his wife with the necessities of life.

Smith elected trial before Magistrate Love yesterday morning, and pleaded not guilty. This morning his worship told Smith that he was firmly convinced that he had neglected to take proper care of his wife, and advised him to withdraw the plea of not guilty and to plead guilty, and then he could be allowed to go, and appear from time to time.

Smith Refused.

Smith obstinately refused to plead guilty, and the case was proceeded with. Several neighbors were placed in the box by Crown Attorney McKillop, and their stories showed that the woman is in a most pitiable condition, and that she is entirely dependent upon the neighbors for nourishment.

The trained nurse who so kindly volunteered her services for nothing has stated that it is merely a matter of time when Mrs. Smith will pass away, but in the meantime the question of caring for her is left entirely upon charitable neighbors, with the exception of $3 a week which Smith has sent her the last two weeks.

Cold and Heartless.

"It seems to me," remarked the magistrate, "that you have grown cold and heartless towards your wife, and if you said, as you are reported to have said, that if you were worsted in court, you would soon be a thousand miles away, remember that the law will pursue you, and if captured, you will be punished."

Continued on Page Ten.

Money Lost a Month and Then Found

Peter Moss, chief at the Tecumseh House, is one happy person today. To lose $90, and then to find it again after a month's time has been his unusual experience, and today he is patting himself on the back and calling himself the most fortunate of individuals.

On Aug. 10 Moss took a drive out through Glendale, and on the way back his wallet, containing the sum mentioned, worked out of his pocket and became lost along the Wharncliffe road.

As soon as he missed his property Moss inserted ads in the local papers, but with no results.

Some two weeks or so ago Mr. Daniel Thody, the proprietor of the Lambeth House, was notified of the occurrence, and as he was a friend of Moss inserted ads in the local papers giving among nearby farmers.

Nothing was learned, however, until a day or so ago, when he accidentally heard from a boy passing his place of business that a farmer had picked up a wallet containing $90 on Aug. 30.

The boy unfortunately did not know the farmer's name, nor his place of residence.

Thody on the Trail.

Mr. Thody went to all the nearby cheese factories and obtained the names of all farmers who traveled the Wharncliffe road on their way to the factories. After a two-days' drive, during which he visited a large number of farmers, Mr. Thody eventually located the missing money at the residence of Mr. Courtney Birtwhistle, of Westminster Township.

Mr. Birtwhistle had not found the wallet until long after the ads in the papers had been discontinued, and consequently had not been on the lookout for them.

A peculiar coincidence was that the wallet was lost and found on a Saturday.

Too Much Bulk in the Whisky Sold

Crown Attorney McKillop prosecuted in a somewhat unusual case at Ailsa Craig yesterday.

Oscar Grimm, of that place, was charged by Inspector Thomas McGladry with selling liquor in greater quantities than allowed under the tavern license act.

The act limits the amount to be sold to one person to one quart, and Mr. Grimm was found guilty of selling larger amounts and fined $20 by Magistrate E. B. Smith.

Edward Glavin, of Ailsa Craig, charged with selling liquor to persons forbidden by the act, was found not guilty and the case was dismissed.

In the afternoon Mr. McKillop went to Lucan, where Gardener E. Tuckey, of Granston, was found guilty of selling liquor on Sunday, and fined $50. He was also found guilty on two separate charges of selling liquor to minors, and fined $25 on each charge. The cases were heard before Magistrate McComb.

Object to Cutting Off of the Train

Considerable criticism is being heard among the traveling public regarding the action of the Grand Trunk in taking off the Ontario Limited.

Businessmen refer to the conditions before the train was put on when they frequently had to stand the entire distance from Toronto.

They also say that the company refused to allow them to travel on the limited unless they were going to Detroit. This frequently caused misunderstanding which led to considerable annoyance.

The railway officials say that the train was discontinued through this city because it is believed that the limited can handle all the traffic which they say falls off considerably at this season of the year. They say that a special car will be placed on the limited and that it will meet all demands necessary.

The train is not being discontinued but instead of coming to Detroit, via London, will in future go over the old main line, via Stratford, and on its return trip will pass through this city, where it will still be known as the Ontario Limited.

The officials state that residents and businessmen between here and Sarnia have complained for a long time about not being able to get to London before noon, as No. 6, arriving here at 11:30, was the only train coming. This was most inconvenient to businessmen, as it used up the best part of a day. Now, with the Ontario Limited arriving here at 8:55, they can run in the morning and transfer their business, and return on No. 3, arriving home at noon.

CASE WAS SETTLED

Some time ago the defendant promised, it is alleged, to give them a right-of-way in order that they might get to the street nearest their respective properties.

Mrs. Davis refused to stand by her agreement, it is alleged, within the time specified, and a writ was issued asking that she be made to keep her agreement.

Yesterday a settlement was arrived at between the parties. Meredith, Judd & Meredith, for plaintiffs; J. M. McEvoy, for defense.

Some time ago the defendant promised, it is alleged, to give them a right-of-way in order that they might get to the street nearest their respective properties.

Mrs. Davis refused to stand by her agreement, it is alleged, within the time specified, and a writ was issued asking that she be made to keep her agreement.

Yesterday a settlement was arrived at between the parties. Meredith, Judd & Meredith, for plaintiffs; J. M. McEvoy, for defense.

HON. A. G. MACKAY AT HYMAN HALL.

"The London Liberals have the true spirit of Liberals. Liberalism may have its reverses, but it never dies. In the country, or locally, reverses may come, but these reverses are but for the moment. Liberalism comes from these reverses strong and united."—Extract from Mr. MacKay's speech.

No More Hotel Licenses for London;
Mr. Greer Says There Are EnoughA Couple of "Extras" Would Only Increase the Troubles of the Commission.

A rumor has been going the rounds of late to the effect that the license commissioners would ask the council to amend the bylaw allowing 28 hotels instead of 25 in London, as at present.

It has been stated that the local hotel accommodation at present is very inadequate, and that also if a man was anxious to build a new hotel it would be impossible to do so, owing to his inability to obtain a license for the hotel.

Some time ago Mr. W. S. Lashbrook obtained options on some valuable property on the corner of King and Clarence streets, intending to erect a large new hotel.

He asked the commissioners if it would be possible to obtain a license, but no assurance could be given that he would obtain it. He then decided not to build, but bought the London House.

Shortly after that the rumor gained credence that the commissioners intended asking the council to allow for two more licenses to meet the growing needs of the city, and also make it possible for men who would erect splendid new hotels in the city to obtain licenses.

Mr. Greer Denies.

License Commissioner Greer was seen by The Advertiser, but denied that any such move was contemplated by the commission.

"Why should we interfere with that?" he asked. "The business of the commission is to see that the laws already in force are kept. If the commission was given a leeway of two licenses, there would be all kinds of trouble. Every man with a little shop would want a license, and there would be no end of trouble. There is enough now without getting into any more. I hardly think that there will be any new hotels erected in the city for some time. Over $200,000 must have been spent on hotels during the past three years, and more money is continually being spent. The law is enforced, and everything is running smoothly."

THREE MOTIONS
WERE DISPOSED OFAt the Weekly Sitting of the High Court This Morning.

Three motions were disposed of before Mr. Justice Magee in the weekly sitting of the high court for London this morning:

Trudell vs. Trudell.—Motion for an injunction to restrain the defendant, Mary Trudell, from sending the children of the plaintiff to the Catholic separate school. Motion adjourned, the defendant promising not to attempt to send the children to school until the case shall have been heard at the assizes on Oct. 7.

Re Morris.—Motion to pay money into court under trustee act. Order made. The King against Joseph Gray, rape.—Ordered that he be admitted to bail to appear at October assizes in the sum of $2,000 for himself, and two sureties of $1,000; sureties to be approved of by county crown attorney.

LATE CECIL GILBERT

No Word Has Been Received From His Relatives as Yet.

No word has as yet been received by the officials of Victoria Hospital regarding the funeral of the late Cecil Gilbert. The late Mr. Gilbert, it is learned, was a member of a well-to-do family living near Norwich, in Norfolk County, England. He came to this city about eighteen months ago and was simply seeing the country. He had intended returning about the first of October, and had made arrangements to that effect, but was prevented by his untimely death.

HON DANIEL GORDON DEAD.

Halifax, Sept. 28.—A dispatch from Georgetown says that Hon. Daniel Gordon died yesterday. Mr. Gordon was at one time leader of the Opposition in the Prince Edward Legislature.

Labor Man for Mayor in London;
Party Will Run a CandidateOther Offices Well Also Be Sought
—Big Programme Being Framed.

A labor candidate for mayor and also a strong slate for the council, is the programme of the Trades and Labor Council.

The matter has been discussed at some length, and that conclusion has been reached.

The selection of candidates will be proceeded with shortly.

The success of the council in electing Ald. Rose last year has encouraged them, and it is thought that at least three members of the council can be elected and possibly the mayor, thus giving them control of the council.

The labor men promise many reforms.

Personal Statement.

The mayoralty promises to be a great fight. With Ald. Matthews, and a labor man in the fight with possibly another, there will be something doing.

"If there are three other candidates in the field for mayor," said Ald. Cooper this morning, "I'm going to run. That is a fact. I think I can win in that kind of a fight, although I will not run if it is a three-cornered fight."

There will in all probability be a record field in the race for aldermanic honors.

Local Grand Trunk Firemen Win; Made Splendid Time in the TestMontreal Team Comes Next to the London Men—Time
Was Good.

The annual competition between the different hose teams of the Grand Trunk system in Canada was held this morning in Queen's Park, in which three teams from the London shops took part.

Excellent time was made by all three teams, especially No. 2.

This team made the best time last year of all the Grand Trunk teams, and made a record of 44.1-5 seconds in the dry competition.

The teams did well today, making the time in 44.2-5 seconds. The other teams did well also.

The best time made for outside teams up to date was made by the Montreal team, who made the time in 46.2-5 seconds. The London team beat that by two seconds.

The time was as follows:
Dry race—Team No. 1—First move, 27.1-5 seconds; second move, 11.4-5 seconds; third move, 10.1-5 seconds; total, 48.7-5 seconds.

Team No. 2—First move, 27 seconds; second move, 5.4-5 seconds; third move, 11.3-5 seconds; total, 44.2-5 seconds.

Team No. 2—First move, 31.2-5 seconds; second move, 8 seconds; third move, 11.1-5 seconds; total, 50.3-5 seconds.

Wet race—Team No. 1—First move, 31 seconds; second move, 11.2-5 seconds; third move, 15 seconds; total, 57.2-5 seconds.

Team No. 2—First move, 30.4-5 seconds.

Continued on Page Ten.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY FOR LONDON

London continues to grow as a manufacturing center. Scarcely a month passes without the establishing of some new factory. The latest venture is known as the National Light and Manufacturing Company, under which title half a dozen Londoners and two Americans have applied for incorporation with a capital of $50,000.

The commodious, three-story building at 343 Talbot street has been secured by the concern, and practically all the machinery has been installed.

They have acquired the patent rights for Canada of the Cody inverted gas lights, and inverted arc lights, and the Keller gas governing devices and have also become owners of the Cody oil gas patents, including the only known method of generating a non-carbonizing gas from common coal oil. The latter, on account of its absolute safety, freedom from odor, and lower cost, is calculated to entirely replace gasolene and wick-lighting lamps for both lighting and cooking, and the firm will handle a full line of stoves and are lights constructed on this principle. The premises, leased for six years, cover some 10,000 feet of floor space, and a staff of about 25 men will be employed as soon as the work of equipment is completed. The firm is already shipping out gas lights, and will be accepting orders for the oil-gas lights and stoves in a few days.

Who Is This Man Frank Brown?
Is Said to Have Burglarized HereIs Now Incarcerated in the Kent County Jail at Chatham.

The Chatham News has the following in connection with the arrest of Frank E. Brown, an alleged thief, who is said to have operated in London, Stratford and other places.

There is no doubt in the minds of the local police that the man incarcerated in the local jail under the name of Frank E. Brown, of New York, who pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a watch from a local boarding-house, and on whose person two revolvers were found, is the man wanted in Stratford and London for thefts of a somewhat similar nature.

This belief was engendered by the receipt of three letters by Chief of Police Holmes yesterday afternoon, one from W. T. Williams, police chief of London, one from N. F. Babb, a jeweler of Stratford, and one from the Stratford chief of police, all to the effect that a man answering to the

Continued on Page Ten.

Strangers' Club at the Y. M. C. A.

A crowd of young men met last evening in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A., and organized themselves into a club, whose aim and object is to get into touch with the young men strangers who come to the city. The plans of the club is to have the Y. M. C. A. act as a sort of clearing house for the various churches of the city. The privileges of association will be accorded the stranger for a few weeks. Club members will introduce him to the churches, social gathering will be held monthly to promote fellowship, boarding and rooms will be secured for him; in fact everything will be done for the stranger that will help him form proper associates and be a helpful citizen.

Already the members have gone into the work enthusiastically and good results will be sure to follow their efforts.

A Notable Tennis Contest
Bishop Against PresidentDignitaries of Church and State Indulge in an Athletic Struggle.

Washington, Sept. 28.—A notable athletic event took place at the White House yesterday, when by special invitation of the President, the Right Rev. and Hon. Arthur Foley Winnington Ingram, Lord Bishop of London, joined in a game of tennis with Mr. Roosevelt, Secretary Garfield, and Assistant Secretary Cooley. Messrs. Garfield and Cooley have long been members of the famous Tennis Cabinet.

The bishop had Secretary Garfield as partner, and the President and Mr. Cooley were their opponents.

The game was kept a secret for several hours, the contestants approaching the tennis court from the White House proper, and no visitors being admitted to Secretary Loeb's office after 4 o'clock. The windows of Mr. Loeb's office overlook the tennis court.

The court is hidden from the view of passersby in the street by a high screen of painted canvas, and there is no access to the grounds south of the White House. The only spectator was Silas McBeck, editor of the Churchman, who with the lord bishop, is a house guest of the President. The aim and object of the match was to decide whether the side captained by the President of the United States, or the distinguished prelate should win at least two sets out of three, and the play which began shortly after 4 o'clock, continued until about 6.

The outcome is not known, for all were cautioned by the President not to say anything.