hension as to the meaning of said Act, as in consequence of Gaspereaux (or Alewives, as they are sometimes called,) not being distinctly mentioned, doubts had arisen whether these were included in the general term "Herrings." The Act passed last Session, which we now insert, completely removes all doubts upon the subject, and therefore leaves those inexcusable who will venture to ship that species of Fish without strictly attending to the form explicitly prescribed.

An Act to extend the provisions of the several Acts regulating the exportation of Fish, to all Pickled Fish intended for exportation.

Passed 10th February, 1829.

THEREAS it is deemed expedient to extend the regulating the exportation of Fish, to all Pickled Fish intended for exportation.

Passed 10th February, 1829.

WHEREAS it is deemed expedient to extend the provisions of the several Acts now in force, for regulating the exportation of Fish, to all Pickled Fish.

I. Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council, and Assembly, That the several provisions of an Act passed in the ainth Year of his Majesty's Reign, initiated "An Act in amendment of the Acts regulating the exportation of Fish;" and an Act passed in the fifty-ninth Year of the Reign of His lata Majesty King George the Third, initiated "An Act to regulate the exportation of Fish, and to repeal the Laws now in force relating thereto," be, and the same are hereby extended to Alewives, Gaspereaux, Mackarol, and other pickled Fish, as fully as if the same had been particularly specified in such Acts.

In discharging the Grand Juny, on Saturday, His Worship the Mayor, after thanking them for their services, in the usual form, compliment ed them on the strictness with which they had attended to their duty, and the correctness of their discretion in the exercise of leniency, so far as the same comported with the discharge of the trust confided to them. Immediately afterwards, the following Address was presented, by the unanimous vote of the Body, to His Worship:

To L. Donaldon. Esquire, Chief Magistrate of the City and Caunty of Saint John.

May it please your Worship.

The grand Juny in receiving from: you their discharge from further attendance on the Court upon this occasion, cannot omit the opportunity thus afforded them of congratulating you upon receiving from the relation of the European powers to seek redressistation of the President of the Fresident that they speak the language of their fellow-citizens and of the community generally, when they say that they are hardefully satisfied with the empty state of his exchequer.
