Half Sister

Expects to Get $1,500,000

Her Lawyer to Contest on Ground
That Decedent Had Not
"Testamentary Capacity" to Make Will

New York, April 23.—Mrs. Mary E. McGee, a widow living with her five daughters on the top floor of a tenement at 208 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, announced yesterday that she is a niece of the late James Buchanan "Diamond Jim" Brady, and that she had instructed a lawyer to start proceedings for a share of the estate. Although she set no definite sum, her lawyer, Frank E. Hipple, of 60 Wall street, said she ought to get at least one-third of it, or about $1,500,000.

The Brady will made no mention of Mrs. McGee either as a beneficiary or a relative, nor was she known to be one of those who were reported to be contemplating an action to contest the will. The only persons previously mentioned as possible contestants were Daniel M. Brady, brother and Mrs. Little Mathieu, a sister. Mrs. Brady asserts emphatically that she had "never heard of the woman." R. C. Crowley, for many years "Diamond Jim" Brady's secretary, also seemed puzzled by Mrs. McGee's announcement.

Mr. Hipple, however, said he would apply to the surrogate for leave to intervene in the probate of the will, and then contest it on the ground that Mr. Brady had no "testamentary capacity" at the time he drew it.

The lawyer showed reporters two letters which, he said, proved that Mrs. McGee was Mr. Brady's niece. One of these bore the signature of "R. C. Crowley," Mr. Brady's secretary, and was a brief, typewritten acknowledgment of a letter that had been sent to Mr. Brady by Mrs. McGee, thanking him for some favor. The other letter was signed "Lucy M. McGee," which is the name of the daughter of Mrs. C. T. McCarde of 486 Sterling place, Brooklyn, an aunt of Mr. Brady, to whom he bequeathed $1,000. This letter referred to some debts contracted by Mrs. McGee during her mother's illness, and after her death, and indicated that they had been paid by Mr. Brady.

"Mrs. McGee was the daughter of Mr. Brady's half-sister," Mr. Hipple said. "Mr. Brady's father was married twice, and Mrs. McGee's mother was the issue of the first marriage. The children born after the second marriage were James B. Brady, Daniel M. Brady and Mrs. Mathieu."

"Mrs. McGee's mother was placed in a boarding school at Tarrytown, where she remained until she was ten years old. She was then sent to Chicago by her stepmother with a letter of introduction to what the child thought were relatives, but which proved to be an employment agency which sent her out to work as a servant. She later married a man named O'Neil, and after his death she moved to Brooklyn with her daughter, the present Mrs. McGee."

"According to the story told to me by Mrs. McGee, Mr. Brady made her mother an allowance of $15 a month for ten years after she returned from Chicago and settled in Brooklyn. Later he in-

DYSPEPSIA
MOST DIFFICULT TO CURE
BUT B. B. DOES IT

Dyspepsia is one of the most difficult diseases of the stomach there is to cure. You eat too much; drink too much; make the stomach work overtime. You make it perform more than it should be called on to do. The natural result is that it is going to rebel against the amount of work put on it. It is only a matter of time before dyspepsia follows.

That forty-year-old remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters, will cure the dyspepsia, and will cure it to stay cured as we can prove by the thousands of testimonials we receive from time to time.

Mr. Nell A. Cameron, Kiltavilly, N.S., writes: "I am writing you a few lines to tell you what your great medicine Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. I was troubled very much with dyspepsia for the past two years. I was recommended all kinds of medicines, but they did not help me any. At last a friend advised me to try a bottle of B. B. I took four bottles and was totally cured. I will gladly recommend it to all sufferers."

B. B. is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES
INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapiesin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—what portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head aches and aches; belch gases and acids and create undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapiesin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your food it is a damage instead of a help. Remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapiesin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gentle and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, indigestion stomach; it's so unnecessary.

Increased this to $25, and also, after her death, paid her funeral expenses. Mrs. Brady's allowance to his step-sister was not large, but it proves that he knew she was his relative.

"Mrs. McCabe's husband was for years employed in the Water Department of the city as a stationery engineer in charge of a pumping station on Long Island, and I became Mrs. McGee's lawyer after his death. She told me months ago that she was related to a 'wealthy man in New York,' but didn't tell me who he was until after Mr. Brady's death. She said she had been a sister of the full blood. Under the law all her rights were transferred at her death to her daughter."

"Under the law governing inheritances, Mrs. McGee's rights are exactly what her mother's would have been under the law. The fact that the mother was a half-sister makes no difference. Her rights are the same as if she had been a sister of the full blood. Under the law all her rights were transferred at her death to her daughter."

"Mrs. McGee added Mr. Hipple, 'Mrs. McGee can hope for nothing from the estate unless we succeed in breaking the will. But I think we will be able to do this on the ground that Mr. Brady had no testamentary capacity during the last years of his life to draw up a will.'"

Mrs. McGee refused to discuss her case. She asserted that she was Mr. Brady's niece and that she had retained Mr. Hipple to start proceedings.

Miss McArdle, who was said to have written one of the letters in the lawyer's possession also refused to comment on Mrs. McGee's contemplated suit.

"I know Mrs. McGee," she said, "but it is none of my business if she has started action to break the will. Daniel M. Brady is the one to make a statement."

It was said that neither Daniel M. Brady nor his sister, Mrs. Mathieu had made up their minds whether they would contest the will, and that no decision probably would be reached for some days.

ARRIVED AT HALIFAX
Steamer Brings Interesting Passenger List — Hon. A. J. Balfour and Party — Large Party of Soldiers' Wives

A steamer, arriving at Halifax Friday, made a voyage which, for various reasons, promises to be historic. Not only did it bring the famous ship bringing the Balfour commission to the United States, consisting of Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour, British foreign secretary, Admiral Deschamps, General Bridges and about twenty distinguished representatives of the military and civil authority who passed through the city Saturday morning but there were on board a party of 1,100 Canadian women, wives and dependents of soldiers and about 400 officers and returned men, including several of high rank. The military party was commanded by Lieut. Colonel R. H. Greer, former O. C. 180th battalion which was stationed in St. John in fall and included also Major C. L. Dunfield and Mrs. Dunfield, and Captain Frank H. Elliott, these officers being members of the original 20th battalion. The women and officers coming to St. John arrived during yesterday on special trains which continued on their way to the west bearing their precious freight.

Military Hospitals Commission Gets New Order, Giving it Control of Appointments—Ties Hands of the New Director

(Toronto Star.)
What to all appearances is a deliberate attempt to exploit the Army Medical Service and the whole medical profession for political advantage, is revealed in an edict from Ottawa, just issued, that the Military Hospitals Commission must, in future, give approval to every appointment to the medical staffs of convalescent soldiers' hospitals throughout the dominion. Coming within a few months after the announcement by Sir Edward Kemp, minister of militia, that the Army Medical Service in the making of appointments to the staffs of the hospitals, the latest decision is regarded as an impudent attempt to bring the entire medical service completely under the control of politicians, without waiting for the return to Canada of Surgeon-General Fotheringham, who, as the officer chosen for the supreme command of medical services, would undoubtedly ensure a plan of appointment which would ensure the best results.

"Things are in an absolutely rotten mess," said a prominent physician, long identified with the Army Medical Corps, when describing the situation to The Star yesterday. "The Military Hospitals Commission have insisted upon certain things being done by the Army Medical Corps, and they are in a position to receive the approval of the commission, which simply means that the political gang are in control and intend to keep control, regardless of the results of unwarranted political interference," he added. "They are not content with exploiting the Army Medical Corps, but want to exploit the medical profession of Canada as well, to achieve political ends. There never was a more scandalous condition of affairs than exists today."

Fotheringham May Not Act.
It would occasion no surprise to many of Surgeon-General Fotheringham's friends in this city if he should, on the return soon, when he appreciates the position in which he is placed, resign his appointment rather than submit to the dictation of party politicians on the carrying out of his duties.

It is claimed that the system of political preferment had its beginning shortly after Samuel L. Armstrong received his appointment as director of the Military Hospitals Commission. Previous to his appointment Mr. Armstrong was assistant provincial secretary of Ontario. When a new assistant director of medical services for No. 2 Military District was to be selected, the choice of Lieut. E. S. Ryerson was made. Lieut. Col. Warren, who, it is claimed, was recommended by Major General Logie, but was not favorably regarded by the commission because he was friendly to the former assistant director of Medical Services, was passed over, although second in command. Lieut. Ryerson had spent two years in Salonika and it was on ground that he was chosen.

The Question of Expenses.
The director of the Military Hospitals Commission is also, it is said, complaining about the cost of the medical staffs of the hospitals, when in reality the cost of the whole visiting staff of specialists in this military district is less than $7,500 a year, which Mr. Armstrong draws as salary as director of the Military Hospitals Commission.

"A policy of drifting and bluffing against the work in this military district of the Military Hospitals Commission," said another medical practitioner.

In this city the lack of accommodation is almost a scandal. There are 436 beds crowded into the College street and Spadina avenue hospitals, where it was only originally intended to place 275 beds. Despite this it is said there are over 500 out-patients in Toronto alone, and 1,000 in this military district.

Big Influx Coming Soon.
It is reported that the number returning within the next few weeks will be enormous because of the decision to empty the hospitals in England of all Canadians able to make the trip home, in order to have accommodation for the wounded in this spring's drive on the west front, which has begun.

It is said nearly 8,000 Canadians who have been in English hospitals throughout the winter are due to return in a few weeks.

FOUR WEEKS
IN HOSPITAL

No Relief—Mrs. Brown Finally Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"For years I suffered so sometimes it seemed as though I could not stand it any longer. It was all in my lower organs. At times I could hardly walk, for if I stepped on a little stone I would almost faint. One day I did faint and my husband was sent for and the doctor came. I was taken to the hospital and stayed four weeks but when I came home I would faint just the same and had the same pains."

A friend who is a nurse asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it that very day for I was suffering a great deal. It has already done me more good than the hospital. To anyone who is suffering as I was my advice is to stop in the first drug-store and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before you go home."—Mrs. W. G. Brown, 224 W. 12th St., Cleveland, Ohio.

GOOD NEWS FOR SOME RUSSIANS IN CANADA

Montreal, April 23.—One of the first fruits of the Russian revolution to show signs in Canada is the granting of a pardon to all Russian refugees in the dominion. Henceforth Russian political refugees who have gone through the dominion under the constant fear that the hand of the Russian government would stretch across the sea and reach them, will breathe freely, and may even return to their native land without fear of interference, if they desire to do so. What this means to a man or a woman who has been in exile for many years, with the constant fear of being shadowed, even though they were innocent of crime, can only be realized by those who have experienced the peril. One Russian lady in Canada has been in fear for many years, just because when the Russian duma was first created with its very limited powers, she had the audacity to cry "Vive la duma."

Stories have frequently been heard, particularly in western Canada, where Russian political refugees have been arrested on warrants for murder. One famous case occurred in Winnipeg eight years ago, and it will be remembered that public protest meetings were held in an endeavor to arouse Canadian public opinion to the danger of the Russian hand of autocracy being stretched to this dominion.

All this is a thing of the past. Serge de Likatcheff, the Russian consul general in Montreal, has received an order from the Russian provisional government, declaring that Russian political refugees in Canada are in future to be treated as free men, because the change in the Russian regime has freed them. The order also states that a Russian consultative committee has been authorized to meet in Montreal and deal with all questions concerning consular aid to Russian political refugees who may desire to return to Russia. This committee will be known as the Russian political refugee consulting committee, and they have opened headquarters at 183 St. Lawrence boulevard.

PRO-GERMANS LEAVE
AUSTRIAN CABINET

London, April 23.—The resignation of Dr. von Baernreither and Dr. Urban, leading representatives of the Austrian-German parties in the Austrian cabinet, is a curious sign of the influence of the Russian revolution on the Hapsburg dominions. A little before the death of the late Emperor Francis Joseph, the German government and its partisan Austria put forward a scheme to complete the Germanization of Austria by means of administrative and territorial changes. The Czech preponderance in Bohemia was to be neutralized by the redistribution of the administrative and electoral districts. The German language was made the language of the state. Galicia was to be given a large measure of autonomy, and its parliamentary representatives to be excluded from the Reichsrath. The strength of the Slav elements in the Reichsrath was to be further reduced by the inclusion of Dalmatia with eleven Slav deputies in the new Austro-Magyar southern Slav province.

GOVERNMENT TAKES OVER
BRITISH FLOUR MILLS

London, April 22.—Lord Devonport, the food controller, today issued an order for the taking over of all flour mills in the United Kingdom on April 30 by his department. It is presumed that the mills will continue to be operated by their present owners, but under the supervision of the food controller.

INCIDENTS SHOW THE CONTRAST IN MORALE

London, April 23.—The Times correspondent with the French army telegraphs that conditions overhead and under foot are as bad as possible in the course of his despatch, which merely amplifies the present detailed French communiqués, he says: "The bombardment that has continued incessantly for days along the front to an extent of 100 miles added to the formidable length of the English front north of St. Quentin, is, perhaps the most appalling thing the world has ever seen."

I heard today of a captured German officer who went down on his knees when taken to beg for mercy. I saw a French officer who, with two men, had taken 60 enemy prisoners, walking about places where he was exposed, not only to shell fire, but to machine gun bullets, as coolly as if he had been in the place de l'Opera. The difference between the two men exactly typifies the difference between the general morale of the bombardment force that is attacking and the bombardment force that is being attacked. Not in one place or two, but all along the line the French have shown this morale superiority."

THE LATE FRED MANNING

Having had the pleasure of his friendship for seven years, I wish to pay this tribute to his memory. As a boy he was all that a father could wish in a son. He was actuated by the best motives while in his boyhood, and it was then that he laid the foundation of his career. As a bright youth he was everything that a mother could desire in a devoted son. As a young man he was everything any young person could wish in a devoted friend. His soul was pure, and he had lofty ambitions for his life work, which was to be a leader in leading men in their studies, in college. Fred belonged to that unique class to which the late Fred Young and James Malcolm belonged. Like them he has become a hero, and while standing on the threshold of a bright future he has laid down his precious young life.

It was a pleasure to have Fred for your friend. About fifteen times I urged him to devote his life to the ministry. He would say, "I would like to be a minister; I've often thought how lovely it would be—but I don't think I can cut out for one. My strongest leanings are towards a profession. And when he saw his way clear he bent all his powers to that one end. He was winning his way with singular success, when the mighty call to arms sounded through the empire. He was ready to go and when the Almighty called, he was ready for that, too, because he had all his short life lived beneath the cross of Christ. No fear, no doubt, just full of faith, trust and love to God. What more could he have than that? He now is safe in Paradise. He is more alive than ever. It is his glorious satisfaction to me to know that every dollar of public money is spent honestly and is spent well."

"Therefore it is that the new government will have a greater task before it than perhaps any administration in the history of our province. I feel so strongly upon that point that I think we should economize even in our public services."

"The loyal and patriotic men of the party in power should see to it that every dollar of public money is spent honestly and is spent well."

THE NEED FOR ECONOMY

Premier Foster, in his speech at Grand Falls, referred to the great responsibility which rested upon the people of New Brunswick at the present time when the empire is at war, and of the necessity of carefully guarding our resources. On this subject he said:

"We must economize. The war for freedom which has assumed such tremendous proportions, the war in which so many thousands of our New Brunswick sons are engaged, has placed on the men and women of all portions of the empire a responsibility of economy that cannot be ignored. Governments as well as individuals must respond to the demand that every bit of wealth and every resource that we have shall be treasured and guarded most carefully."

"Therefore it is that the new government will have a greater task before it than perhaps any administration in the history of our province. I feel so strongly upon that point that I think we should economize even in our public services."
