Bowling
The McAvity Team Wins Championship
The championship of the Commercial Bowling League was won by the McAvity team last evening, when the I. C. R. forfeited to them what was to have been the second game of the playoff. The first game was won by T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd. on Monday night, but the I. C. R. claimed it on points. The bowling committee of the league, however, ruled that the results of the games were to count in the playoff and as the I. C. R. refused to acquiesce in this, failed to turn up last evening, and the championship was awarded to T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd. Their scores were:

British Telephones and Telegraphs
(Boston News Bureau)
Great Britain uses, roughly, about 800,000 telephone calls a year, while the United States uses more than 10,000,000,000. However, the British people use more than twice as many telegraph messages per capita as do Americans. Furthermore, Great Britain is a compact country, and the postal service is, therefore, more prompt and available.
In England the telegraph service is under control of the postmaster-general. The post office is also in the "phone business, and on Jan. 1, 1912, all private telephone interests of the United Kingdom will pass over to the postmaster-general.
Underground telegraph cables extend from the extreme north of Scotland to the southernmost point of England, a distance of fully 400 miles, with similar underground trunks east and west. The post office now has 1,200,000 miles of wire, half for telephone and nearly 750,000 of that aggregate is in underground or submarine cables.
London claims the largest telegraph office in the world—the metropolitan gallery at the post office—which handles about 120,000 telegrams daily.
The National Telephone Company not only pays dividends, but in a recent year handed over $1,500,000 for royalties and rent of wires to the post office.

BRITISH BUDGET
Lloyd George Shows Large Reduction of Debt—Pay for M. P.'s Only New Feature.
London, May 16.—Chancellor Lloyd George presented the budget in the house of commons today. About the only novelty it contained is a proposal to pay members of the house of commons a salary of $2,000 a year.
The chancellor declined to give members traveling allowances or pensions and excluded from this salary a benefit to all ministers already drawing salaries.
The chancellor's realized surplus, including payments delayed in 1910-11, by the action of the lords in throwing out the budget of that year, totalled $2,030,000, of which he proposes to donate $1,200,000 to the support of sanitariums for consumptives.
The estimated expenditure for the current year is $906,179,000, which is $35,750,000 more than last year.
The chancellor's estimated revenue for the current year is $906,179,000, which is $35,750,000 more than last year.
Lloyd George claimed that the British fiscal system had passed through an exceptional strain with added haste. During his three years' tenure of office, the chancellor declared, he had paid off $130,000,000 of the national debt, while it has been reduced $300,000,000 since the Liberals had assumed power.
London, May 16.—The veto bill was introduced in the house of lords today, and normally passed its first reading.

REGITAL A TREAT
Last night at the recital given by the advanced pupils of William C. Bowden, music lovers heard one of the most beautiful musical performances ever given here. The recital started to an audience which packed even the standing room in the large hall, with a magnificent rendering of the Prelude from Cavalleria Rusticana by the orchestral class, and Mr. Kelly, the difficult violin solos by Miss McLean, Miss Barker, Messrs L. McGuire and J. O'Regan, were excellently played, both technique and tone being of the highest order. St. John is to be congratulated on the possession of a teacher who can produce such a skillful recital, as these young people will the other numbers received their full measure of applause; the Aeolian Mandolin Club showed by their playing that it is not only in the teaching of the violin that Mr. Bowden excels.
Mr. Kelly, as is usual with him, sang Anely, His solo, Cielo e Mar, from La Gioconda, being received with great applause, he kindly responded with an encore.
Mrs. J. M. Barnes, in her piano solo, was never heard to better advantage, the audience seeming particularly charmed with her rendering of Godard's Valse Chromatique.
Mr. Bowden was particularly fortunate in having such efficient accompanists as Miss Edith Cochrane and Miss Katherine Hughes, to whom fell much of the arduous work of the evening.

Weak Men, Read!
Just What You Need—Try This Cure
It is no longer an experiment. It is hailed by thousands with loud praise because it cured them. "It cured me. I am well and strong as ever. What more could one ask for?" writes a man with a heart full of gratitude.
Do not be in error. This grand appliance is like no other. It is new. It has all the good points that are known in electricity, it gives a powerful current, but does not burn or blister, because my special cushion sets the current a warm, gentle glow which creates relief at once.
DR. McLAUGHLIN'S ELECTRIC BELT has made thousands of men happy. It is good for women as for men. Men and women can use the same Belt. The relief is strong and can be regulated while on the body. You feel the power but it does not burn and blister, as do the old style bare metal electrode belts. If you're weak or in pain it will cure you. Will you try it?
Dear Sir—Excuse me for not writing to you before, as I have been away from home. Your belt has done me more good than all the drugs I have taken. I would not have lived much longer if I had not got it when I did. I just received it in the nick of time. It did me good from the start to the present, and has, I believe, cured me of my ailments. It was a God-send to me.—ISAAC SHALE, Granby, Que.
To those who are tired of paying without results, and to those who doubt if anything will help them, I make this offer: If you will secure me my
PAY WHEN YOU ARE CURED
I will let you have my Belt without paying me one cent in advance.
