RECEPTION GIVEN "OF AGE" EDITION

COMPLIMENTS FROM PEOPLE AND PRESS

The Times is Congratulated by Its Contemporaries - A Big Demand in The City.

The "Of Age" edition of the Times has with a most cordial reception, not in this city, but in every place at a copies have been received. It is ded on all sides as the best producof its kind that has been issued in ada west of Winnipeg, and because of the abundance of information it contains and the attractive manner in which | career for 21 years—in itself a history it is displayed, it is bound to prove a of the principal events in this province valuable advertisement of this great provalue. Contemporaries of the Times number contains a review of the progress have made the issue and the occasion it of British Columbia and the growth of entary references. A few of these are as follows:

Victoria Colonist. A Special Edition,-The Victoria the journalistic adventure being described as follows: "It covers every industry and every resource, active or potential, within the environs of British Columbia. Every field-fisheries, mining, agriculture, horticulture, smelting, refining, logging, lumbering, railroading, climate, nunting and the varied attractions for the tourist-all are comprehensively complied within the folds of the attractive cover. Upwards of forty thousand copies. of this splendid number will be distributed in various parts of the world. Our ambition, as embodied in this anniver-sary edition, is to let the world know what we have here in British Colu for the man who desires to make his way in life as well as for the capitalist

We congratulate the Times upon its "Of Age" edition, which came formally to light yesterday. Our contemporary was 21 years old that day and celebrated the event by a handsome special edition, containing an illustrated with the paper and the city in which it is published. the event by a handsome special edition, containing an illustrated review of the development of British Columbia and the advantages it has to offer the investor and settler. There are 44 pages of this all interesting, even the several dealing with the personnel of the staff, the mem-bers of which are to be complimented upon "coming out so well" in print.

Vancouver World.

Hearty indeed are our congratulations to the Victoria Times upon the celebra-tion of its majority. Adjectives almost fail in describing the splendid number which it has issued to celebrate ing of age. The Times has always stood ing of age. The Times has in coast journalism. Its for what is best in coast journalism. Its first idea has been to give all the newsthat is fit to print; secondly, it has laid itself out to advance the interests of Victoria; thirdly, it has been a consisten and all the time, it has been a staunch considerable reserve and a haughty incompetitors of the Colonist. In fact, to use a banality, it filled a long-felt want.

In order to show what it is capable of to far-away friends than a capy of this toria paper has issued a special number of 48 pages, or, including the ordinary Saturday edition, 60 pages. No wonder it feels complacent after getting out so gigantic an impression, the composition, engraving and printing of which were all done under its own roof on Broad street, Victoria. Its only regret in connection with the mammoth publication is the fact that the paper contained in the same was not manufactured in this prowince. When our Victoria contemporary comes to celebrate its half century in its useful field—as it no doubt will do in the fullness of time—it will be able to make the proud boast that the whole issue was prepared in its home towr—paper and all. We have not space to go into detail regarding the number and excellence of the features in this "of age" edition. It must be enough to say that, in celebrating its twenty-first anniversary of its establishment, the Times has given an illustrated review of the de-

the advantages it offers the investor and settler, and that it has covered every in-KIDNEY

Vancouver Province. The special edition of the Victoria Daily Times, with which issue it celebrates the anniversary of its twenty-first birthday as a public journal, is a highly creditable production indeed, and proves that on this coast the newspapers are quite equal in enterprise and talent to those of Eastern Canada. The 44 wellwritten and well-edited pages which it contains are thoroughly interesting, and admirably illustrated. The Province was agreeably surprised on looking over engravings to have that the Time had such a numerous company of hand some men in its employ, and it wishes them and the enterprise which they represent ever-increasing prosperity.

The stringing of the trolley wires for the B. C. Electric Railway Company Saturday, and Monday the high potential transmission wires were also completed. J. Buntzen, the managing director, re turned from Victoria Monday, and after consulting with harry Hemlow, who will be manager of the line, and the various other heads of the construction work, it was decided to open the line for regular passenger traffic on July 4th. Some final touches have yet to be given to the line, and it will be a day or two before the C. P. R. trains are taken off. To test the line General Manager Sperling 1.50 and a party of officials of the B. C. Electric Company took a run over the line in a special car Monday evening. The officials expressed themselves as perfectly satisfied with what they had seen

There was a crowded court room Monday in auticipation of the hearing of the latest chapter in the telephone contro-versy. Mayor Buscombe was on hand to give evidence for the prosecution, and 17.00 City Solicitor McEvoy conducted the 75 case. L. G. —cPhillips appeared for 33.00 Mr. Kent, who pleaded not guilty to the 27.00 charge of obstructing the police in the 25.00 performance of their duty. Chief of 30.00 Police North was the first witness called. 60 Mr. Kent was placed in the box and repeated the story he had told on Saturday. He said he understood they had ission from the board of works and were working under the charter of the B. C. Telephone Company. The mayor was called to the box, and Mr. McPhillips asked him if he was authorized by the city to stop the work of the telephone company. The mayor replied that he was not authorized by the city, but he acted by virtue of his office. "You he acted by virtue of his office. You took it upon yourself to stop this work on 1½ your own responsibility? That was ra-30 ther risky, wasn't it?" observed Mr. Mc-25 Phillips. "I did it." was the laconic re-ply. In reply to further questions the mayor said he had done what he had, 25 knowing that the company was working without proper permission from the board of works, and he thought the officials of the company must have believed that they had not proper permission either. Mr. McPhillips said that the company considered that it was quite within its rights since the city charter showed that the consent of the city council was not all was not a city of the city council was not accompany. The magistrate said it seemed to him that the charge was wrongly laid any-how. From what he could see Mr. Kent was not obstructing the police in the discharge of their duty so much as he was committing a breach of the peace. Mr. McEvoy said His Worship had to decide whether the city had a right to control its whether the city had a right to control its own streets or not. The magistrate said he had nothing to do with that question, which was now before the Supreme court. Mr. McEvoy held that in that 20 case it was perfectly clear, because the chief of police had gone down to prevent these men from working, and Mr. Kent had told them to go on working and never mind his orders. The magistrate said her tould not see it in that light. It seemed to him that Mr. Kent was committing groups of mines in Dendwood camp, the
