A Man Is Known

By the photograph he gives, and the same rule applies to women. When you give to a friend a reproduction of your features, isn't it better to give a nicely finished photograph that will not fade quickly, but will last for a long time?

That's the kind you get at

SLIGHT CHANGE.

"I'm glad to find you as you are," said the old friend. "Your great wealth hasn't changed you."

"Well," responded Mr. Packer, "it has changed me a trifle. I'm eccentric where I used to be impulsive, and de- lightfully sarcastic where I used to be rude."—Detroit Tribune.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 24, 1905.

THE SUMMER EXODUS.

The churches are half deserted and the Sunday schools have more vacant seats than full ones these days. It is worse this year than last and last year was worse than the year before, clergymen and Sunday school teachers say.

This summer exodus is only a fad, many declare; it may be a necessity in some cities where to stay in the seven times heated streets means suffering and, maybe, death, but the summer weather in St. John is more comfort- able and healthier than it is ten miles outside and what other reasons exist for the migration are not sufficient to cause people to persist in the trouble and expense of moving out of town. Still, there are the staring facts that the migration is growing, that few families who spend one summer in the country spend the next in town, unless forced to, and that every summer sees new cottages going up along the beautiful and so easily accessible shores of the St. John and Kennebec- cas rivers. These are not the symp- toms of a fad but of something very apt to become a settled custom. Also there is more reason for it than the weather.

The city is attractive but it does not satisfy like the places God made. In nearly everybody there is a hankering for the wide out-of-doors, where the air is sweet and unadulterated and the trees grow uncramped by brick walls and you can walk on soft, fragrant, green stuff instead of asphalt. Few there are whose blood hereditarily has not charged with something from his forest or plain dwelling fore- bears, away back when there were no cities.

This and the realization of every parent that the city is no place for children, idle in the school holiday, are the chief reasons why more of those who can by hook or crook afford it are pouring every year from the streets to the shady, scented lanes. In St. John the lack of one moving motive so strong in other cities—the intolerable heat—is compensated by the great ac- cessibility and attractiveness of the places open to summer suburban- ities.

Within from five to twenty minutes of St. John are spots unexcelled any- where for beauty of scenery and the pleasures of river and field and wood which they offer, and such is the cheap- ness of living there and of travelling to and fro that they are open to people of very moderate incomes for whom, if they lived in the majority of cities, country life would be an impos- sibility.

So it is apparently a permanent con- dition which those who are preaching to half-empty pews these summer Sun- days must face. And it is a condition which does not promise well for the churches containing those pews. Al- ready there are too many churches for the church contributing people of St. John and many have difficulty in mak- ing ends meet. A falling off in atten- dance makes the difficulty greater.

The majority of the clergy believe that the condition is threatening in a spiri- tual sense also. They say that this three months absence from church has weakened the religion of many once devout members of their congregations, has made them careless regarding at- tendance at church when they return to the city and, what is even more dangerous, has inculcated careless Sunday habits and an indifference to religious matters among the young.

The summer falling off in congrega- tions is comparatively unimportant—the city would be no worse off with fewer churches—but if the other result is correctly judged the problem before those whose desire it is to increase Christian religion is a serious one. Since they cannot prevent the migra- tion they must meet it in other ways, must, apparently, follow in some way, in their wanderings those of their flocks whose religion is dependent upon forms and ceremonies or must be codified by constant instruction.

Fortunately for the churches the religion that thrives only under stained glass and fades in the sunlight is not the religion of all. It is strange that it should be of any, strange that one self and not be more so in God's own house where:

"The blue sky is His ceiling,
The grass the soft green carpet for His feet."

The Kaiser is remarkably like a flea in the way he worries the rulers of Europe. His latest jump has brought him with a great splash into the troubled waters of Russian politics, and the ripples therefrom are threatening to grow into dangerous waves. His im- perial yacht is today hobnobbing with the floating palace of the Czar in one of the ports of Finland, and what sen- sational mischief will result is for the future to tell. Certainly William is not making this trip for nothing any more than the excursion to Tangier. Europe would be a much pleasanter resort for statesmen if Germany kept her war fleet home.

It is a far cry from the Liberalism of Alexander Mackenzie and other true and faithful men who were the glory of their country and the guides of their party to the Liberalism of that amoral, shallow, smug, dapper little placeman, W. S. Fielding, who should be serving as a floor walker in a shoe store instead of being in a position to drive a great auditor-general out of office.—Winnipeg Tribune, Independent Liberal.

I LIVE MY LIFE.

I strive to keep me in the sun;
I pick no quarrel with the years;
Nor the fates—not even the one
That holds the shears.

I take occasion by the hand;
I'm not too nice 'twixt weed and flower;
I do not hesitate to understand;
I take mine hour.

The time is short enough at best;
I push right onward with I may;
I open to the winds my breast
And walk the way.

A kind heart greets me here and there;
I hide from it my doubts and fears;
I trudge and say the path is fair
Along the years.

—J. Vance Cheney in the Independent.

MILITARY CONVICTS'

DARING ESCAPE.

SPOKANE, Washington, July 24.—Five military convicts have escaped from the guard house at Port Wright. All of them were men sent to the fort to serve sentences for desertion of other army posts. The names of the men are, Frank Burton, Joseph Car- roll, James Collingwood, Herman W. Lamp and Harry Linden.

The outbreak was one of the most daring ever attempted at Port Wright. With the whole post out of doors en- joying the cool evening air and from six to ten guards in an adjoining room, the five desperate men saved their way through two iron bars three quar- ters thick and escaped through a win- dow.

SEISMOGRAPHS REPORT GREAT

EARTHQUAKE; NO NEWS YET.

NEW YORK, July 24.—A Vienna de- spatch to the World says that one of the most violent earthquakes ever known was indicated by the seismo- graphs of the hydrographic instruments at Lajochan Ampois yesterday. Be- tween 3.55 and 4.17 a. m., the instru- ments showed extraordinary move- ments in waves signifying an earth- quake catastrophe at a distance of 6,000 kilometers (about 3,700 miles) at 7 a. m. The instruments were still vibrat- ing. The distance indicated by the seismographs would locate the earth- quake in Central Asia (the most prob- able point) or in mid Atlantic or in the Arctic regions, or in South Africa.

THE DEADLY AUTOMOBILE.

CHICAGO, July 24.—The Tribune to- day says—Seven persons killed and 34 injured in the worst road accident far this year by the automobilists in Chicago. Although the year is but little more than half over, the figures show an appalling increase over last year's record of one killed and 73 in- jured.

SOMETHING WRONG.

The Bishop of Worcester, on alight- ing from a train at Paddington, asked a porter to see after his luggage. "How many articles are there, sir?" asked the porter.

"Thirty-nine," replied the bishop ab- stractedly.

DR MORISON HERE.

Rev. Dr. Morison, formerly pastor of St. David's church, is in the city on a two-months' vacation from his present pastorate, First Presbyterian Church, Chicago. Dr. Morison is accompanied by Mrs. Morison and Miss Josephine, and will occupy the pulpit of St. Da- vid's during the next month. He preached at both services yesterday.

Speaking about his work in the great western metropolis Dr. Morison said that the amount of home missionary work which must be done is immense. The population of Chicago exceeds by 100,000 the total seating capacity of all the churches.

POPULAR SAN TOY.

The music of "San Toy" is of that peculiar kind that is likely to last a long time in popular favor. It has the true ring of originality, and its com- poser, Sidney Jones, has never sup- plied as great a number of tuneful airs for any production as he wrote for the musical entertainment of Ed- ward and his friends. There are two-ty-six musical numbers and every one of them is a delight to the ear. The production is under the personal di- rection of Mr. John C. Fisher, who has spent thousands of dollars in providing an entire new wardrobe and scenery for this season's tour. Its appearance here will be greeted with a crowded house on August 17, night at the Opera House.

LOCAL NEWS.

Don't be discouraged if you have been unsuccessful in getting proper glasses. See D. Boyaner, Optician, 651 Main street. He guarantees perfect satisfaction.

The death occurred in this city yesterday of Sarah, wife of Jacob Cos- man, at the age of 55 years. Mrs. Cosman leaves besides her husband four children, two sons and two daughters. They are Miss Lulu, at home, Mrs. R. Chappell of Nova Scotia; Joseph S., at home, and John W. of St. John. She had been ill about nine months and her death was not unexpected. Mrs. Cosman leaves many friends who will regret to hear of her death. Service will be held at the house this evening and tomorrow morning the body will be taken to Car- sonville, Kings Co., for burial.

The seamen who gathered in the Chip- man house last evening enjoyed the singing of a number of familiar hymns during the song service. Rev. Charles Comben gave a very earnest and profit- able address. A number of citizens who attended were reminded by the manager that the institute wanted all to give what they can towards the work this month. Mrs. H. A. Cruick- shank sent a beautiful bunch of car- nations for the table. After the service some of these were distributed to the seamen and the rest will be sent to the public hospital.

The Hon. Senator Wark, who suffered from illness last week, owing to the extreme heat, has, his many friends will be pleased to learn, recovered from his slight indisposition.

A brilliant idea struck the colonel: "Why not march him up and down the whole line of the regiment, and shame him into decency?"

It was done. The untidy warrior, who hailed from the Emerald Isle, was ordered to exhibit himself and march up and down the entire regiment, and the men told to have a good look at him.
