PEACE ENTHUSIASTS

DO NOT AGREE

Fierce Attacks on Conference at the Hague.

Internationalist Paper Accuses England of

Causing Fiasco—Session Extends

Red Cross Immunities to

Hospital Ships

THE HAGUE, July 22.—The peace enthusiasts have declared open war on the peace conference. They chose Saturday which was fixed for the third plenary session since the convention five weeks ago, to begin a public celebration of their wrath.

The Baroness von Suttner, an enthusiastic Austrian lady who shared in a Nobel Peace prize, advertised in the publication for internationalism that on Monday she would deliver a discourse on "The Report Presented by the Commission Zerk." This sarcasm upon the nobles reports that the commission of the conference have hitherto given out in more violently reflected in a manifesto of the same paper which says that the cause of peace has been killed in the house of its friends, and adds: "We learn today that it will not have even a first-class funeral." In the public plenary session it will be hidden away."

The document which bases a violent diatribe on what it calls this fiasco blames the British government and its delegates to the Hague. "The cause of conducting their peace campaign, disregarding all warnings they would knock their heads against the wall. It says: "They have made no propaganda, and by their silence to ratify the only piece of work accomplished in five weeks, and this modest achievement was the adoption of the Geneva Convention of 1864 relative to land warfare. On all other questions there have been such serious reservations and such considerable minorities that a final ratification vote has not been attempted.

There were no negatives and the only absentees were Uruguay and Colombia hats, whose representatives chanced to be away from the Hague.

The convention adopted gives a legal status and protection to vessels used especially and solely to render success to the wounded, sick and shipwrecked. The names of such vessels must be communicated at the opening or during the progress of hostilities to the respective belligerents. When they conform to the rule sanctioned they are immune from capture. The only reservation of a serious character came from Great Britain up on the rule that any belligerent may claim the return of its sick, wounded or shipwrecked from not only hospital ships, but commercial ships of any nationality. England's chief delegatee, whose interest of her commercial marine declared that this last clause needed clear definition, otherwise innocent shipping might needlessly be detained in voyages to the owner's loss.

The only other reservation was of a technical nature from Turkey and Persia, whose religion forbids them to hoist the Red Cross, which is the symbol of the Geneva convention. But they declare themselves willing to respect it if the others reciprocate by respecting the Star and Crescent and the Lion and Red Sun respectively.

Among the addresses from the outside presented to the conference there was an offer from a Dutch woman artist,

Mrs. Hirschmann, to present a portrait of the czar as the initiator of the conference. But it has been decided that so far no suitable place has been found to put the portrait, and the lady was asked to delay her gift until through the generosity of Andrew Carnegie, it could be hung in the permanent peace palace.

The addresses presented included one from the International Women's Societ and 2,000,000 members of the American Peace Association.

Count Nidloff, the president of the conference, expressed himself favorably as to the ideals of the addresses, but said that many of the signers seemed to think that the conference was a government able to dispense law instead of being occupied with the study of international law and certainly not able to control international politics.

Prof. Diepold of Berne had advocated founding a school of international law at The Hague. Count Nidloff approved this, but said he failed to see the possibility of carrying it out unless some general person came forward and donated the money.

The proceedings closed with the reading of a protest which it is known emanated from the English mission against a breach of engagement by some delegates in communicating documents to the press on matters which are still under discussion.

FIRE ALARM POSTAL CARD.

Mr. Wells Hawkes suggests That the

Rockville Centre Volunteers Be

Summoned by Mail.

BROCKVILLE CENTRE, L. I., July

23.—Chagrined by public mirth on the occasion of their protracted battle with a burning automobile runaway last Friday, the volunteer firemen of this town decided to elect as member an expert on burning automobiles. Mr. Wells

Hawkes, of New York and Rockville Centre, was immediately selected and made a member. He was fined $3 at a meeting last night for failing to respond to an alarm. Mr. Hawkes explained that he did not hear the alarm bell.

"Where were you?" the presiding officer asked.

"At Fortieth street and Broadway," Mr. Hawkes humbly replied. The fine was remitted with a warning.

THOUGHT HIMSELF

FOOL, CUT THROAT

Prominent St. Louis Lawyer Wrote

Remarkable Note in Explanation of His Attempt to Die

ST. LOUIS, July 22.—Louis D. Goodman, thirty-seven years old, married and one of the best known attorneys of St. Louis, who has been particularly active sociological and other work of a similar kind, cut his throat with a razor this morning at his office, No. 709

Carleton Building. He slashed himself several times and probably will die.

After cutting his throat Goodman walked to the elevator landing and pressed the button. When the elevator boy arrived at the seventh floor he found Goodman leaning against the wall, his face and clothes bloody and crimson streaks spouting from his throat. Two physicians were called and gave Goodman temporary treatment and then sent him to a hospital.

In Goodman's office was found an unsigned note which read:

"I feel utterly worthless, am of no use, and not knowing what else to do I have concluded to die. The utter failure of my life is to be attributed to an incapacity to affiliate with my fellows and also to an utter inability to apply myself with steadfast constancy to any one thing. I hope no one will say worse things of me than I have said about myself—to wit, 'That I am a fool and a weeding.'"

Goodman lived at No. 815 North

Kings Highway.

BURGLARS CHASED BY BLIND

MAN WITH TOY CANNON

New Yorker and His Little Son Held the

Fort Against a Gang of Thieves

THOUSAND ISLES PARK, N. Y.,

July 23.—Totally blind and with his fourteen-year-old son armed with a toy cannon, the only aid, Robert M. Jones, of New York, a summer resident, routed a band of burglars. Mr. Jones discovered five men attempting to enter the house early Monday morning, and calling his son Walter he told the boy to give the little cannon, which was used for saluting passing vessels. Blank shells were used but the burglars fled pell-mell at the sound of the first shot.

TOD FAT TO GO TO JAIL

Unlaw States Commissioner Paroles 250

Pounder During Hot Spell.

NEW YORK, July 23.—George Ulrich

Edgewater, N. J., was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Linsley

Rove in Jersey City, Saturday, charged with larceny from an Italian vessel which docked at Pier B of the Pennsylvania railroad system several immigrants who had not run gauntlet at Ellis Island. Ulrich pleaded guilty and said he was drunk at the time.

He could not furnish bail and as he weighs over 250 pounds the commissioner did not wish to send him to jail during the hot weather. He finally decided to parole Ulrich on condition
