Reporting of Corresponding Delegates.

Rev. J. Noble, Corresponding Delegate from the F. C. B. General Conference of New Brunswick, was introduced, and said—

He was highly pleased to be present. Pleased to find that God had spared our ministry and added others to the ranks. Spoke of the progress of his denomination. Changes had taken place with them, but for the better. Addition to the membership of their churches, 580. Spoke of their Foreign Mission work, and their method of raising the desired funds. Also their Home Missionary work; are doing something in the Education work, some funds aiding some young men when in their studies. Referred to the late action of their Conference in the expulsion of an elderly minister; the causes and results. The spiritual tone of their late public gatherings very precious. Harmony exists. Also spoke many cheering, profitable words.

Rev. W. H. Tarbox, Corresponding Delegate from the Maine Yearly Meeting and General Conference, was introduced, and conveyed the greetings of those bodies—

The churches of the Yearly Meeting he represented had a membership of 7,000; 6,000 Sabbath School scholars. Referring to the Home Mission work, spoke of the Maine State Mission which had done a noble work for weak churches; also spoke of the success of some of their city churches; some large revivals. Thought it of equal importance to care for country churches. As a denomination they feel the need of Evangelists to go and preach and save souls. He also represented the General Conference, a body numbering 75,000 to 80,000, but in its largest connection 300,000. Spoke with much feeling of the loss of some of their ablest ministers by death; also of the Freedmen's Mission, its success, and the influence of the Spirit of the Gospel of Christ upon Southern society. Said the reason why they in the States had learned to love us is because we are so much like them. He wanted to keep their anchor down here so that they won't drift too far. Made excellent remarks on the different orders of the ministry; temperance; the direct way of preaching Christ; education of the ministry, &c.
