

teaching the young divine truth in a sound catechism, but above all, by the Bible itself; and that they will be sacredly called, by their love to Christ, and to their fellow men, to pray for, and to enlighten a people, who, though uneducated and superstitious, are industrious, quiet and hospitable.

