

The first begins about the 15th of September, and ends at Christmas ; the seconds ends at Easter, and the third about the middle of June.

The teaching is given by a) Titular Professors, b) Fellows and c) Tutors. The first are, properly speaking, Professors ; they only can be members of the University Council, and have a debating voice in the Council of Faculties. A titular professor in one faculty cannot be appointed titular professor in another, but can be a fellow or a tutor.

The lectures in the Faculty of Theology, of Law and of Medicine are private. Nevertheless any priest can be admitted to the lectures on Theology ; the same rule exists for lawyers and public notaries with regard to the lectures on Law, and for physicians and surgeons with regard to the lectures on Medicine. In the Faculty of Arts, there are public and private lectures ; the latter are for the students on this faculty only.

Once a week, in the private lectures, the professor devotes the time of one lecture to examine pupils on the subjects studied during the week.

At the end of each term, all the students
