Angel Spectacles

"Do you use Atropine in fitting glasses?" asked a lady timidly as she presented her self at an optician's office for the ordeal of having her eyes tested. "Well, that depends," cautiously answered the optician. "Will you want those glasses to wear while you are living, or do you just want something to go to heaven in or wear when you become an angel?" "Oh, I don't expect to go to heaven very soon, nor wear glasses when I get there," very well then, I'll fit the glasses to your living eyes, and not the dead ones, such as yours would become physiologically if I used Atropine. Angel Spectacles are not very satisfactory to living eyes. As Atropine paralyze all the ciliary muscles, E. J. MacIntyre, Leading Jeweller and Optician, does not use Atropine, but all the latest scientific methods.

WERE WEDDED

Exceedingly Pretty and Quiet Marriage of Miss Annie Gertrude Ball and Frank D. Laurie.

In the drawing room at the home of the bride's parents on Victoria avenue—in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom—there was solemnized yesterday afternoon the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Annie Gertrude Ball, eldest daughter of William Ball, and Frank D. Laurie, local manager of the Bell Telephone Co.

The room was most gracefully decorated with flowers and foliage, the deft work of delicate appearing, exceedingly attractive appearance. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Lawrence E. Skeg, of Hamilton, while the inspiring strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were contributed by Miss Ada Ross, the bride, who approached on the arm of her father, wore a dress of French pearl and gray crepe de chene and carried white roses, while a spray of rosebuds adorned her hair.

Immediately succeeding the ceremony a bridal repast was served on the departure of the happy young couple for Niagara Falls, Toronto and Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurie are two of the Maple City's most popular young people, and carry with them the best wishes of a myriad warm friends. The bride is an earnest, active worker in the Sunday school, choir and social circles of Holy Trinity Church, where her services have been deeply appreciated. The groom has been prominently prominent in the society and choir work of the First Presbyterian Church, and in athletic, military and social circles in the city.

The universal high esteem in which the young couple are held is evidenced by the large number of handsome gifts, of which they were the recipients. The groom presented the bride with a crescent of pearls, accompanied by a purse and cheque, while the gift of her father was a magnificent piano.

Among the other presents were:—House and lot on Victoria avenue, from father and mother; Cheek, from Chas. R. Ball; Drawn work centre piece, from Mrs. Stanley Ball; Picture from Edith, Ethel and Wilton Ball; Cordial cup, from Claud Sharp; Two sofa cushions, from bride's grandmother, Mrs. Pool; Dozen bread and butter plates, from Misses Edith and Flo. Smith, Mount Clemens; Picture of Mary Kimball, an English beauty, Football Club; Silver spoon, Miss Coltart; Slippers, Mrs. Waller; Embroidered tea cosy, Mrs. and Miss Skeg.

The Hair is Not Weather.

Oil the head at night three times weekly. On the following day wash with soap and water, rinse and expose to the sun's heat for as many hours as possible. Let the sun fall on the scalp. It is not necessary to expose the entire scalp at one time. One part may be shielded while another is having its sun bath. Few people are aware that by a skilful use of the comb severe straightness can be remedied. It is difficult to convey in words a correct idea of the necessary motion of the hand. It resembles that employed in whisking an egg into a frothy state. The comb is moved rapidly and very lightly, with the result that the hair assumes a fluffy condition. But this is merely temporary.

Jackets With Low Collars.

The English fashion of breakfast jackets with low sailor collars is being taken up by many beauty seekers. It is a sensible and becoming style, and the best possible way to acquire a pretty neck and throat. Any number of society girls are making a practice of having all their house gowns constructed without collars, and as a consequence the improvement in the color of the skin is much hastened.

Primitive Stoves in Spain.

In many parts of Spain the "stove" in general use is made from an empty petroleum oil can, by cutting a hole near the bottom on one of the sides to make a draft, the can being lined with gypsum to the pleasure of the constructor, giving the fire space accordingly. The stove thus made, primitive as it is in its appearance, is effective in purpose and costs the equivalent of but a few cents in our money.

TO CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS.

Bulk and separate tenders will be received by the T. H. Taylor Co., Ltd., until Oct. 21st, inst., for the several works required in building a flour mill and elevator. The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Plans and specifications and other information can be obtained at the office of the above named company.

Time for opening tenders has been extended until Thursday 24, inst.

Weak Back and Spinal Pains

Pains in the back number their victims in thousands. Only very powerful and penetrating remedies will reach these distressing complaints, but Polson's Nervine is as sure to cure them as anything in this world can be sure. Rub Nervine over the sore parts, night and morning, and see how quickly it drives out the pain. Five times stronger than any other. Good for internal and external use. Large bottles 25c.

MONEY TO LEND

To pay off mortgages. To buy property. Very lowest rates. Pay when desired. Will also lend on note and chattel. J. W. WHITE, Barrister, King St. West, Chatham.
