

It was supposed that the difficulties between Costa Rica and Nicaragua, alluded to in previous accounts, would be settled without resort to hostile measures.

The news by this arrival from California... the public were much excited with regard to the seaworthiness of the Pacific Mail Steamers.

Great Britain and the Continent of Europe.

The British Parliament was opened by the Queen in person, on Thursday, the 8th inst. The suspension of the Bank Charter (says the European Times) forms a prominent feature of the Speech, and the disturbed state of the commercial world introduces, naturally enough, an allusion to the distress which prevails in the manufacturing districts, and which has not failed to be heartily alleviated by the products of the last biennial harvest.

The greater part of the Speech is occupied, as might have been expected, with the subject of the Indian mutiny, and while sorrow is expressed for those who have lost friends and relatives in the fearful struggle, ample justice is awarded to the heroism of our troops, and led them to qualities of valour and glory. Nor are the powers of eloquence and the higher qualities of self-devotion and patriotism denied to the civilians who figured in the scene. The British soldier, who feels his arm raised in his palm through which reads the glowing eulogy which the Queen has so nobly pronounced on his most superior human powers, opposed as he has been to nearly superior numbers, and distinguished by his heroic exploits, is not only confined to the Bengal army, and has not affected the general mass of the population. The conduct of the native princes, who have acted in the most friendly manner, is pointed to with commendation. The peace of Europe, the Speech assures us, is profound at the present moment, and nothing is likely to disturb it. The event which has excited the attention of the Shah of Persia, and the perfect fulfilment of the treaty with this country, are alluded to in brief but gratifying terms.

Some progress has been made in the attempted launch of the Steamship Leviathan.

France. The Monitor of the 28th contains the anticipated elevation of M. Dupin, the procurator-general, to the dignity of Senator.

The French Parliament opened on Saturday, the 28th, at the Palais Bourbon, and formally opened the session.

Messrs. Carnot, Godechaux and Herron have announced their intention not to take the oaths as members of the new legislative body.

A son of General Lamoriciere had just died in Paris. As soon as the Emperor heard of his illness he is so ordered that passports should be given to the General, and that he should be permitted to return to France, without any condition whatever. Unfortunately, the boy died before the father had time to avail himself of the permission.

The demolition of thousands of houses in Paris, and the increased value given to the new and splendid streets, have raised the income of the municipality, this year, over a million francs.

Spain. A despatch has been received from Madrid, informing us that the Queen, at ten o'clock, p. m. on the 28th, was delivered of a healthy boy.

The birth of a Prince presents a fair opportunity to Queen Isabella of Spain, if Her Majesty only knows how to profit by it, of trying to win back some part of the attachment of her people, which she had nearly lost by her crown and dynasty. Much depends on herself. The hope of success is faint indeed, but such of the constitutional party as have not been entirely alienated from monarchy, will cheerfully grant to the Sovereign, may now lead a motive for rallying once more round the throne and saving it from the ruin to which its occupants have so long been hurrying it.

India. The Bombay Times of Nov. 3rd supplies the following summary.

The force at Lucknow, believed, when they were slain, to be too weak to maintain their selves at the capital, and intended to have receded and brought back the inmates of the residence to the British cantonment on the 29th of September. They were expected to be reinforced about the 24th, by Her Majesty's 53rd and 93rd Regiments, and about the 30th by the whole of Col. Greathed's column, pursuing its career of victory towards Delhi, and so raised to the strength of some 7000.

There has been some skirmishing around Cawnpore. Col. Greathed obtained a very brilliant victory over the rebels on the 10th of October. He is now pursuing his way downward to Joinpore. The Malwa insurgents, concentrated at Dhar, have been beaten and dispersed by Brigadier Stuart. Malwa is quiet for the present.

A large mass of rebels having gathered around Neemuch, the column sallied out to attack them on the 24th October. The enemy was beaten, but managed to withdraw to a strong position, and they were expected to be reinforced about the 24th, by Her Majesty's 53rd and 93rd Regiments, and about the 30th by the whole of Col. and has cast in his lot with the rebels. He, by his revolt, would not only have ruined his country, but would have ruined himself. Such is the account given in a recent letter from Calcutta. It must be understood that our Generals had not entire possession of Lucknow, but only of the cantonment and a part of the city adjacent to it. Generals Outram and Havelock, the former severely wounded, are thus left to our apprehensions as besieged in the place, and the latter, who had carried a strong post called the Allam bag, a fortified suburb east of the city, is also in a very precarious position. A Russian envoy has also arrived in the Chinese waters, and is reported to be on good terms with the agents of England and France.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The third Lecture of the course was delivered on Tuesday Evening last by the Rev. Professor Hill of Windsor. The evening was very unpropitious, the wind blew a gale, and the rain came down in torrents. The consequence was a very limited audience, but those who braved the inclemency of the weather, were not without some of themselves amply repaid.

GRAFTON STREET SUNDAY SCHOOL.—On Sunday evening last the Rev. James ENGLAND preached, in Grafton Street Church, a sermon in behalf of the Sunday School meeting in that place. It was one of the most interesting and happy efforts. More than two hundred children were present, and their sweet voices were heard sounding the praises of their Creator. This school is under the superintendence of our excellent friend J. Thomas, Esq.

A very interesting letter from the Rev. J. H. Starr appears in this day's impression. It has afforded us great pleasure, and will be equally gratifying to our readers, to hear from him. We shall expect with much interest the further correspondence which he intimates the intention of furnishing.

The first number of NGUYEN'S ADVERTISER, a sheet for gratuitous circulation, has been issued. The Proprietor has adopted, he says, a plan of gratuitous circulation, the main object being to give general notice of the Advertiser, and to be read not only well circulated in Halifax, but in every town and hamlet throughout the Province.

FOR WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.—This Restorative for making the hair grow, stopping its falling out, and restoring gray hair to its original color, is becoming celebrated. All the great newspapers are giving notice of it. Three-fourths of the mixtures for restoring and beautifying the hair, do not destroy the life at its roots—make the hair fall out, and produce premature baldness. But Wood's Restorative may be relied upon as containing nothing which can in any manner be injurious to the hair, while it succeeds in accomplishing what it pretends to be has been verified in hundreds of cases. We advise gray heads, and bald heads, to obtain a new coat, to get a bottle of Wood's Restorative.—N. Y. Democrat.
