THE CENSUS AND PROTECTION

The advocates of a protective tariff will do well to give the census returns very careful study. What has high protection done for the farmers of Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces? It has taxed them so heavily that they are trying to escape it by moving into the cities or to the West. Where are the great advantages of the "Home Market" that we hear so much of? The Ontario farmer is steadily being driven out of business by the heavy burden placed upon him by our protective tariff. Protection is huddling the people of Canada into large cities and is depopulating the rural communities of the older provinces.
