WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

The Woman's Auxiliary of Holy Trinity church met in the school room on Thursday afternoon, June 20th, to pack their annual bales. There was a very good attendance and much pleasure was expressed at the amount of work done and the success during the past year. Dynvor Hospital, in the Diocese of Rupert's Land, is the destination of this bale, which was a most substantial one, the contents of which were of course suited to the needs of a hospital. A great number of quilts, sheets, pillows, bedding and a large roll of rag carpet and a quantity of clothing of all sorts, besides numerous smaller articles, which will be much appreciated there.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Hodgins gave the members a cordial invitation for afternoon tea on the rectory verandah, where a most enjoyable hour was spent.

THE MENDELSSOHN CHOIR

Traditions Not Absolutely Necessary to Success.

Even yet the critics of New York are referring from time to time to the wonderful singing of the Mendelssohn Choir of Toronto. That visit last February was a revelation to the musicians of that exceedingly critical city and the unanimous verdict of approval did much towards placing the Toronto organization in the front rank of the choral bodies of the world, and the conductor, Dr. A. S. Vogt, on a par with the greatest choral conductors of the present day. But the Mendelssohn Choir was perhaps hampered to some extent because of its youth. It has no traditions, and therein it differs from the great Bach Choir and other similar organizations of Europe, which have been in existence for many years and have been conducted by some of the greatest composers. But traditions cannot make pure tones. Tradition cannot create musical intelligence. Traditions may assist, but cannot compel enthusiasm. In like manner, traditions cannot make good pianos. Unless a reputation is sustained constantly and consistently by good work, the name of the manufacturer will be of no avail. It has been said that because the Gourlay piano. But the Mendelssohn Choir, fifty years, it cannot be a good piano. But the Mendelssohn Choir, of intrinsic merit. And the Gourlay piano, four years old, is winning success for the same reason. Musicians in all parts of Canada are commencing on the wonderful purity of its tone and the elegance of its case design. The reason is that the Gourlay is the best piano that time, care and money can make. Thirty years from now there may be traditions about the Gourlay, because it is going into the best homes of this country.
