Guy Celebration.

The dates for the celebration are now drawing near. The arrival of Rev. Wm. Stacey, the representative from the city of Bristol, brings these facts home to all in the strongest way. It is indeed pleasing to see the old city of Bristol so deeply interested in our welfare, and we extend the hand of good fellowship and a hearty welcome to Mr. Stacey, not alone for our feelings of loyalty to the Old Country, and more especially to Bristol for so much that we are indebted, but we acknowledge the honor and compliment implied to Newfoundland by appointing a native of our country as their representative. After this celebration is over our citizens will know more of the history of Newfoundland than they ever did before, and we will appreciate how closely connected Newfoundland has always been with the city of Bristol. The people of Cupids are now erecting a monument, and Mr. Stacey brings as the gift of the citizens of Bristol a handsome tablet which will be a fitting memorial of our first Governor. A tower with a magnificent iron flag staff is also being built at Guy Point in Cupids. A monster Union Jack, the gift of Newfoundlanders in Toronto, will be hoisted. These will be remembrances forever of the first settlement under Royal patent ever effected in Newfoundland.

The people of Harbor Grace, Carbonear and Bristol's Hope are going ahead with an elaborate programme of sports and will have as their memorial a hospital in remembrance of the 300th anniversary of John Guy's arrival in Conception Bay and his subsequent second settlement a few years later at Bristol's Hope. All wish to join to make this celebration a great success, and with every prospect of fine weather at this season we see no reason whatever why everyone who can possibly be present will not be pleased and delighted with the efforts of the several committees in charge. Mr. Stacey has that feeling for Newfoundland that the bard of Scotland so well describes in "This is my own my native land," and is glad to be back after an absence of twenty-five years to renew his acquaintance with old friends and visit the scenes of his boyhood. While he is in St. John's he is the guest of his relative, Hon. John Anderson, and is looking forward to having a real enjoyable time with all in Newfoundland. He is a most friendly and affable gentleman and sure to make many new friends before he leaves our shores.

New Boat Launched.

At 3 p.m. yesterday the new race boat Guard, built for the Methodist Guards by Mr. Robert Sexton, was launched at Quidi Vidi Lake from the wharf at the City Club boat house. A large number of people were present, including many regatta enthusiasts, and Mrs. Pitts, wife of Hon. J. S. Pitts, commander of the Methodist Guards, performed the ceremony of christening. This was done in the old time honored way by the breaking of a bottle of champagne over the bow of the racer as she slid into the water, while hearty cheers greeted her appearance in her proper element. The Guard is a very pretty boat, sits well in the water, and all who saw her on the lake yesterday entertain the best opinions of her. She is a remarkably speedy boat and the Guards' crew took the trial run in her, the amateurs taking her next. Both Mr. Sexton and the people who helped put such a splendid racer on the pond deserve the thanks of the community for keeping up the interest in our local Derby.

Hit By an Auto.

Tuesday Mr. T. Martin, a resident of the White Hills, went to Kelligrews where he purchased a horse, for which he paid $70. He left late at night and drove bare back to the city. As he came out Topsall Road an auto followed. The man says the occupants did not blow the horn and collided with the hind legs of his horse, dislocating one of them at the fetlock. The horse had to be stabled on the road and it is feared will have to be destroyed. If such should occur the loss will be a great one to Martin, who is a poor man.

A Bath Unsought.

Yesterday forenoon as fireman Jno. Galway, of the Western Station, was proceeding from his house on Alexander Street to work, a woman appeared on the gallery of a residence near and threw a vessel of soiled water completely over him, and drenched him to the skin. Of course it was done accidentally, but just the same it was very annoying, and the man, who must be promptly at his post, had to delay while he went home for a change of clothing. About two months ago the very same woman did the same thing to Mr. Galway, and she and others who throw water from their doors should exercise more care.

In Memory of Victoria and Edward VII.

Newfoundland is Britain's oldest Colony and glories in the honor. She likes also to be regarded as Britain's most loyal Colony, and possibly that designation also is her right. But up to the present time, so far as we know, Newfoundland has done little to show her loyalty and devotion to the Empire. Victoria, the noblest of queens, as well as one of the best women, passed away, but there is no memorial of the great Queen erected in Newfoundland. Edward VII. laid Newfoundland under special obligation, since by his tactful dealing with France he made possible the settlement of the long vexed dispute over French claims in our bays and harbors, and even upon our shores; but yet, so far, no steps have been taken to erect a memorial in his honor. Opinions have been invited and expressed favourably to such a project, and there the matter rests. Now, it seems to us that the memory of these two great Sovereigns should be perpetuated in Britain's oldest Colony, and we believe that Newfoundland is sufficiently loyal and generous to pay the bills, if only something can be set on foot that will appeal to the loyalty and judgment of the people.

The question is, what would be a suitable memorial for Victoria and Edward? Many suggestions have been offered. One, supported by several persons, was that it should take the form of a statue. This would, doubtless, be very beautiful and appropriate, but would be utter lacking in practical utility. The memorial that would be best adapted to local conditions should be useful as well as ornamental, and confer benefit upon as large a number as possible. What then is one of the great needs of Newfoundland to-day? It seems to us to be an institution that would be a centre of light and inspiration to the teachers of our country. We have to-day in Newfoundland about ten thousand teachers, most of whom are entered upon that important and responsible profession with very little practical training. Once their professional work commences they are thrown almost entirely upon their own resources, to succeed or fail as conditions may determine. If they all, or only partially succeed, who are the losers? The boys and girls of Newfoundland. Many of these teachers see little before them but a "full, monotonous" round year in and year out. They may get into ruts and keep there. They may adopt poor methods of teaching and follow them up. They may make mistakes and persist in them, not knowing that they are mistakes. The result is some discouraged and leave the profession. Others keep on and do the best they can, but it often is a poor best. Now, what would help the teachers, lift them out of ruts, relieve the monotony of their work, inspire them to greater achievement and enable them to secure complete, instead of partial, success, would be the establishment of an institution to which they could resort in summer for help and guidance. While it would be possible, perhaps, for pupil teachers to obtain training in the art of teaching during school terms, the principal object of such an institution, it seems to us, should be to make provision for the discussion of methods of teachings during vacation.

What an opportunity this would afford also for lectures upon Mineralogy, Natural History, Drawing, Agriculture, First Aid in case of accident, The Great White Plague, Hygiene, or any other living subject claiming consideration! A Master of Method should be provided, and experts in such subjects as were to be treated. If these could not be found at home, it should be possible, at limited cost, to get one or more first class men to spend a few weeks in Newfoundland in summer enjoying our delightful climate and recruiting for the year's work. Such a project seems fraught with tremendous possibilities. Such an institution would be a boon to the thousand or more teachers of the present day, and to the thousands that will come after them, and through the teachers a means of enlightenment and help to the young people of every town, village and hamlet of Newfoundland. Why should not the names of our late great and good Queen Victoria, and of King Edward the Peacemaker, be forever associated with such an institution as this in Newfoundland? We believe that if teachers and educationists take up the matter in the right spirit it will soon be an accomplished fact and mark a new era in educational work in Newfoundland. Methodist Greeting.

The C. of E. Picnics.

Yesterday the children attending St. Mary's Church of England Sunday School had their annual picnic at Glendinning's farm, Mount Pearl. To the number of 300 they left here by special train at 10.30 a.m., and on arrival at the field enjoyed such sports as cricket, football, racing, croquet, etc. The Rector, Rev. Mr. Uphill, was present, and under the direction of Superintendent Belbin and the teachers the little ones spent a very pleasant day. Dinner was served at 2.30 p.m., and the happy youngsters did the good things provided ample justice. During the day about 250 adult friends assembled, and when the little ones returned home they remained for a few hours and spent a very enjoyable time. The children attending the Cathedral Sunday School had their annual outing on the spacious grounds at Smithville yesterday. Hundreds of the youngsters were brought to the grounds in expresses and on arrival spent a very pleasant day. Several of the Cathedral clergy were present. The teachers vied with each other in helping all amuse themselves, and cricket, football, racing and other field sports were heartily entered into until the call for dinner came, when a sumptuous repast was spread before the little ones whose appetites were sharpened by the bracing air of the country. After dinner the sports were continued and the picnics returned to the city last night tired, undoubtedly, but charmed by the pleasant day they had spent.

Capt. H. Bartlett Appointed Pilot.

We understand that Capt. H. Bartlett has been appointed as a pilot for the Earl Grey, he being chosen by Capt. E. English, the Harbor Master. Capt. Bartlett knows every inch of the Labrador, and no better man could be selected for the job. Capt. English is as deserving of congratulation in his selection of such a man, as Capt. Bartlett is of being given the position.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISTEMPER.

Note of Thanks.

The Sisters of St. Bride's Academy, and others responsible for the Garden Party, held in connection with Little's desire to sincerely thank all who in any way assisted in making the Garden Party a success. Given fine weather, a very pronounced success would have to be recorded; but the atmospheric conditions were very unfavorable—the weather resembling a March day rather than July. Notwithstanding the bitterly inclement weather, however, the receipts, when tallied, will far exceed those of any former Garden Party held in connection with Little's. The amount of the receipts will be duly acknowledged in the near future.

To the table holders and their assistants is due the highest praise for their untiring and unselfish efforts. To the young ladies who contributed to the concert, held on the same day, at Little's, and to Mr. T. P. Halley, who also kindly assisted, are due sincerest thanks. Mr. Halley was a great success as indeed were all, and the young ladies in question certainly reflected the highest credit upon Little's, as they are all either present or past pupils of Little's Academy. Miss Fison sang very beautifully, as also did Miss Jackson and Miss Fitzpatrick—all three being possessed of exceptionally fine and well trained voices. Miss Mansfield recited very finely.

To the fine band of the T. A. & B. Society is due the warmest praise for their very excellent renderings, and considering the exceptionally cold weather prevailing on that day, they performed splendidly.

To each and to all who in any manner assisted, sincere gratitude and cordial thanks are tendered, advt.

KEEP MINARD'S LINIMENT IN THE HOUSE.
