Prof. Bennett's First Public Concert.

A Great Success in Every Respect—The Belmont School Hall Filled With a Large and Appreciative Audience—Master Charlie Bennett, aged 4 years, Makes a Hit With the Audience in His Drum Selections—A Long and Varied Programme Greatly Enjoyed—Lieut.-Col. Renouf, President of the Newfoundland Society, Acted as Chairman—What Mr. Cuddihy Has to Say.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
(Written by Mr. J. P. Boyle, Sec. of Committee.)

The Bennett Musical Family Concert held in the Belmont School Hall, 24 Guy Street, Montreal, on Friday evening, February 24th, was an immense success. The auditorium was filled with a select and appreciative audience who came from every quarter of the city, drawn thither by the fame of the "Bennett Band." It was indeed a gala night, not only for Newfoundlanders and their friends, but for Montrealers as well. From the hush of expectancy that awaited the opening remarks of the Chairman, Lieut.-Col. Renouf, down to the close of the evening's entertainment, the alternating bursts of enthusiasm and mirth

"Nothing seemed to cure."

Hundred of diseases are the direct results of a diseased stomach, the most common of which are dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness, insomnia, congestion of the liver, general debility, headaches, etc. Anything which interferes with the healthy action of the stomach may give rise to the above diseases.

Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets quickly remove the cause and tone up the system. Read the following:

Dear Sir:—It is with pleasure I write to you to let you know the benefit I received from your medicine. I was troubled with distress of the stomach for years and nothing I could get seemed to cure me until I got a box of Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets which cured me, now I can eat anything my appetite craves and am well.
Yours respectfully,
MRS. H. ANDERSON.

which most of the items of the programme evoked and sustained were in themselves sufficient proof of its excellence both for sentimentality and comicality. But the item of greatest attraction, the "Bennett Band" itself, whether through lack of foresight or carelessness on the part of its leader, failed to come up to the expectations of the audience. The full complement of instruments was not brought into requisition and, as a consequence, the rendition of many of the selections was marred by a lack of that harmony which, in the past, characterized the "Bennett Band" at its best in Newfoundland. It is indeed regrettable that the Professor, in whose interests the affair was gotten up, did not respond more fully on an occasion so replete with opportunities to show his own as well as his family's talents in the wide range of orchestral music of which he has hitherto proven himself a master. But if the Professor failed to grasp the possibilities within his reach, the like adverse criticism can by no means be extended to other members of his family, whose individual display of talents went a long way towards condoning for the failure of the "Bennett Band" as a whole to reach the mark. Master Charlie Bennett, said to be the youngest drummer boy in the world, with all the naïveté of a child of four years, gave two selections on his drum, thus making quite a hit with the audience. The musical strain is in the little tot without the shadow of a doubt, and we trust that maturity of years will find him in full exercise of the talent with which he so early in life delighted a Montreal audience. Worthy of special mention also was the imitation of the warbling of a mocking bird given on the mouthpiece of his instrument by Master Jack Bennett. Under the able direction of Mr. R. J. L. Cuddihy, a class of 16 boys took the audience by surprise in the presentation of the "Delsarte Exercises," specially prepared for the occasion and very creditably performed by the youngsters. The pleasure motion was amply expressed by Master John Drumm in an Irish Jig, and Master George O'Keane displayed his perfect pedal command of the "Buckwing Dance." The sentimental songs of Messrs. J. T. McCarthy, John and Thomas O'Keane, and Miss Minnie Mahoney were fully appreciated by the audience. The comedians, Messrs. Caldwell and Holland, simply brought down the house. Mr. J. F. Cuddihy's recital of "McLean's Child" was in every sense of the word a treat, and although the selection was one of no little difficulty, the young Newfoundlanders put into it such vim, fire and pathos as ranked him a first-class elocutionist.

Renouf, did full justice to the occasion in his closing remarks, and voicing the sentiments of the Bennett family. He thanked the audience for their kind attention and marked appreciation of the evening's entertainment, the success of which, he pointed out, was largely attributable to the unremitting endeavours of Mr. R. J. L. Cuddihy, whose merits as an organizer needed no greater exemplification than the arrangement of the varied and interesting programme in the hands of the audience afforded.

This will Stop Your Cough in a Hurry
Save $2 by Making This Cough Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes 16 ounces of better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. A few drops usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.
Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16 oz. bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.
You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.
The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in gualic acid and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.
This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has attained great popularity throughout the United States and Canada. It has often been imitated, though never successfully.
A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

DON'T BE BALD.

Nearly Anyone May Secure a Splendid Growth of Hair.

I have a remedy that has a record of growing hair and curing baldness in 92 out of every 180 cases where used according to directions for a reasonable length of time. That may seem like a strong statement—it is, and I mean it to be, and no one should doubt it until they have put my claims to an actual test.
I am so certain Salyvia Hair Tonic will cure Dandruff, prevent baldness, stimulate the scalp and hair roots, stop falling hair and grow new hair, that I personally give my positive guarantee to refund every penny paid me for it in every instance where it does not give entire satisfaction to the user.

Salyvia Hair Tonic is as pleasant to use as clear spring water. It is de-lightful to rub, and does not grease or gum the hair. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. With my guarantee back of it, you certainly take no risk. Sold at McMurdo's druggist, wholesale and retail.

A WORD OF EXPLANATION.

A short time ago I wrote in the People's Paper promising great things for Prof. John Bennett. It is necessary for me now to explain my position in order to set myself right with my friends and the public generally in St. John's. I like a "square deal" as I did not get it, my work here to establish John Bennett has been a failure, not through my fault but his own. Several musicians have warned me that he will not succeed here, but I maintain even yet he will. His future success lies with himself, that is by having his own family play with him, especially the girls. Up to the present time all efforts have been unavailing in trying to have the girls play in the orchestra. For my kind friend I received my receipt in full on Friday evening, Feb. 24th, in the shape of unthankfulness and deception from the Bennett family, and, as a consequence, my work ceases. I want something more here in Montreal than drum orchestras. Some of my friends think that because I was not in favor of the bass drum in the orchestra on the night of the concert I got a good dose of revenge in return. The dose did not injure me in the least, but hurt the man in whose honor we gave the public entertainment. I say it without fear of contradiction that with such a talented family, John Bennett, has a fortune in his hands, but he does not make use of the good opportunities afforded him. Ever since the family arrived here I have worked day and night to get them established in the musical line, and when the crowning night came, the orchestra was a hollow mockery. John Bennett gave me his word of honor that at the concert he'd show Montrealers what was in him as a cornet player, but whether he suffered from stage fright or lost heart at seeing such a large audience, I cannot say. His best was his worst. Instead of ten different instruments being used only six were brought. Outside of the "Mocking Bird" selection every other selection was ripped to pieces. Even the dance music played for Master Drum was nothing like what he played at a rehearsal. I consider his work at the concert a direct insult to myself and the fourteen gentlemen who so kindly formed the committee to run his first public concert for him. Three quarters and more of the audience who filled the hall that evening were my personal friends and friends of the school. I could repeat the same concert again and substitute a strong orchestra for the hollow mockery of the one we had and have a still larger audience. I received the warmest congratulations on the excellence of the concert, barring the work of the orchestra and another number which also proved a failure to the Montreal people. With the proceeds of the concert three fine instruments were presented to Prof. Bennett, and a large sum of money will be given to him after deducting the expenses. I ask the people of St. John's, whether friends or not of John Bennett, if I should be treated in such a manner after all my hard work for him? In severing my connections with Prof. Bennett I do so with the deepest regret, and still maintain, in spite of his enemies here, that the ability is in him. I sincerely hope that the next man who'll handle John Bennett will meet with a better share of success than I did.

An Appeal for the Poor.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—From the many instances that have been recorded in your columns, and through various other channels of information, nearly all your readers must be acquainted with the fact that this winter has been, and even still continues to be, one of the hardest for many years for our poor people. Notwithstanding the grand work of our charitable organizations—the St. Vincent de Paul, the Dorcas and the Salvationists, and even private individuals, still it is a hard fact that many, many poor families of this city have been cold and hungry this past winter. When I say hungry I don't mean wanting the luxuries that many of your readers are accustomed to, but the bare necessities of life. There are families in this town to-day who don't know where to-morrow's food is to come from, and whose only fuel is the coal or wood given by generous neighbours. Mr. Editor, that is a very sad condition of affairs, where so much of the other extreme prevails, and is in itself a very forcible reminder of the old-trite saying: "One half of the world doesn't know how the other half lives."
Of course, sir, I am aware that our people on the whole are as generous as can be met with anywhere, and cry for assistance or succor falls on their ears unheeded, as can be very easily testified to by the generous response met with by the collectors of those charitable societies.
Recently, however, I have noticed that a happy medium has been struck to obtain funds for the help of the poor, and that instead of asking for donations, something is given in return. For instance, not long ago you will remember that three or four of the different men's societies held card tournaments in their rooms, and while this helped to pass a very pleasant night for the members, the funds went a long way to alleviate the wants of a large number of people, and this, Mr. Editor, brings me to the main object of my few words. If I might be pardoned for singling out one of the many reverend gentlemen of the city who are doing so much for the poor, I might mention the Rev. D. O'Callaghan. From many a lowly and humble home, kindly prayers have ascended frequently to the Great White Throne for those men of God, who by their very nature of their calling do their work in a quiet, unostentatious manner. I have just heard that Fr. O'Callaghan intends to give a lecture on Wednesday night for St. Vincent de Paul funds and the object of these few words Mr. Editor, is an appeal for the large audience. The Star of the Sea Association, of which Fr. O'Callaghan is spiritual director, has kindly given him the use of the rooms, and I understand that its committee has offered its services also. This is a big initial help and all that is needed is a big audience.

Yours very truly,
J. J. LACEY.

It is only necessary to know that the lecturer is Father O'Callaghan to be assured of an intellectual treat, and I am sure that no one will mind the small fee that will be asked. The expenses will be very slight, if any, and he is hoping to have a big donation for the poor, through St. Vincent de Paul Society.
The object is most worthy, Mr. Editor, for "he who gives to the poor, lends to the Lord," but even in this case the ladies and gentlemen who attend will receive full value many

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves.
Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:—"For years I was afflicted with nervousness and dreaded insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dosing for a few minutes at a time. Head pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs.
"Though I tried several doctors, it was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me." It is simply wonderful what benefit I have obtained from this treatment. Sleeplessness and headaches are warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration or paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Raid in Frisco's Chinatown.

Six Slave Girls Captured by the Police After Chopping Down Seven Doors.

San Francisco, March 13.—A spectacular raid in Chinatown last night resulted in the capture of six Chinese slave girls said to have been illegally imported and purchased for the sum of $25,000. The girls were removed to the Angelien Immigration station and will be held to await the action of the Government.

It is believed that the girls were smuggled into this port within the last six months, and that they will be deported. Before the hiding place of the girls was discovered the officers chopped through seven blind doors. The door of a secret chamber wherein the girls were huddled was an ingeniously contrived panel containing a portrait of the Chinese Emperor.
