Outlook Improving.

Slowly but surely the British and French forces are gaining a firmer grip on the tip of the tongue of the Gallipoli Peninsula. In addition to the warships employed in the waters around, there is a very large force of British and French soldiers there. The ground is exceedingly difficult as it is a succession of hills and defiles and almost roadless. The only important road is that between Seddel Bahr and Maidos. Between Gaba Tepe where the soldiers from under the Southern Cross gained a footing, the lines across from Kithia, and the Narrows, there are a number of heights, Archil Baba 1,730 feet, to the east of it another of 518 feet. To the north east of these and beyond the valley of the Soghan Dere is a chain of heights 670, 617 and 640 feet, and still further to the North East towards Maidos there is a ridge commanding the part of the Dardanelles beyond the Narrows of 705 feet. It is abundantly evident therefore that the task facing Sir A. Hamilton and the French Commander in Chief is most formidable and progress must be slow. It is, however, becoming more and more apparent that the grip is becoming firmer day by day and that despite all efforts that the German commanders put forth, they are not able to loosen it but that it is slowly creeping forward all the time.

The news from the Russian front is brighter. The Austro-German push is now being met successfully. The Russians are now fighting in a country where they are backed by a closer network of railways and they are able to fight to better advantage. While the lines of communications of the enemy are longer and more difficult. For some weeks we have heard nothing of General Botha's doings in German South West Africa. The last important news was the capture of the German capital Windhoek, where they found the great wireless station there intact. But the fact that South Africa is now offering a contingent of 10,000 men to the European theatres of operation in itself shows that the serious part of the campaign is over and that the South African colonial troops, British and Boer born are willing and can be spared to fight against their German and Austrian or Turkish foes in Europe. The news from Berlin and Washington makes it abundantly evident that Germany is trying dilatory tactics in regard to the American demands as to the German submarine warfare against the mercantile marine. But it is also evident that Washington is firm and

Mr. Isaac Hussey Died at Sea.

Capt. Coward, of the auxiliary barquentine Alambra, which vessel arrived at Glasgow on Monday last from this port, has wired to Messrs. Job Bros. that one of his crew named Isaac Hussey, an able seaman, had died during the passage and was buried at sea. His death occurred two days after leaving here, but the cause is unknown. He was married and this morning Rev. J. Brinton broke the sad news to the relatives of the late seaman. Deceased was a man about 40 years of age and of unusual physique. He was a prominent member of the C.L.B. Old Comrades' Association. He took an active part in athletics many years ago with the old C.L.B. and had a remarkable "throw in" with football. He was a seaman well known and well liked. An unfortunate circumstance is that just before he embarked on his last voyage he tried to enlist with the volunteers but was not accepted because of his age. The Telegram unites in the general sincere sympathy to the relatives of the deceased.

WEATHER—It is calm and fine along the line of railway to-day with a temperature ranging from 50 to 60 degrees.

No Sympathy from British Workmen.

London, July 2.—The trade unionists of Great Britain to-day disclaimed with contempt the suggestion that "a vote of sympathy be given to their German fellow unionists in trade at the annual conference of the federation now in session at Derby."

"Drop such sentimental bosh," was the prompt demand made by Ben Tillett, the fighting head of a number of leading unions. "This is a scrap," he added, "and must be fought out in that spirit. Who ever heard of two prize fighters stopping in the middle of a fight to kiss each other?"

One of the other delegates declared: "British workmen whose sons are at the front are so bitter on account of German outrages that they would hardly be content with anything less than the wiping out of the German people."

Some trade union delegates who were in Germany in June, 1914, said they had found the German workers in full sympathy with their Government, that they had openly boasted that when the great war came Germany was going to crush France and then England. Loud cries of "next business" buried the proposal to pass a vote of sympathy with the German trade unionists.

THAT COLLISION.—We understand that the vessel which cut down the schr. Gorden M. The repairs to the damaged vessel will likely be completed by Saturday next.

$10,000 FINE TOO LIGHT A - PEN-ALTY.

London, June 21.—Sentence of six months' imprisonment for each and fines of $10,000 were imposed in the court of Justiciary of Edinburgh Friday on Robert Hetherington and Henry Arnold Wilson, members of the firm of William Jacks & Co., iron merchants, of Glasgow, for trading with the enemy.

The allegation was that the accused were instrumental in supplying, part of a cargo of iron ore to Krupp and other German firms. The goods were shipped from Rotterdam after the war began.

In consideration of getting payment for former deliveries. The Chronicle editorial says:

"The sentences are amazingly light. A worse case could scarcely be imagined than that of the Messrs. Jacks, who actually delivered large quantities of iron to German armament works, including Krupp's, some time after the war was in full swing."

"These firms, as the Messrs. Jacks wrote to the Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Co., of New Glasgow, whence the iron was originally shipped, that they were in desperation to get it. They received it on condition that they pay for it."

the firm which their letter of September 2nd last described as "our friends, the Messrs. Krupp."

"Dozens of other British firms had goods lying at Rotterdam destined for Germany, but when the war broke out they, as in duty bound, countermanded their deliveries, in some cases at a heavy loss."

"What is the penalty for this amazing crime? A fine of £2,000 and six months' imprisonment for each of the two men. Frankly we cannot take the fine very seriously, for such fines seldom come out of the individual's pocket, and £2,000 is not a large sum."
