Dr. Carnell arrived soon after and had the unforded by Squires, for the present demanded from the Prime Mined by Squires, for the present demanded from the Prime Mincondition of Newfoundland, and supporters in and out the House required any other evidence to other column. convince them that they have been hoodwinked by the "master minds," the petition of Samuel Harris, Ltd., of Grand Bank, presented yesterday by Hon. S. J. Foote to the Legislature must surely have furnished it. When the senior member for Burin rose in his place and asked leave to present and read the petition, honorable members merely thought that it was a little out of the ordinary, but after the Hon. Mr. Foote had concluded, both House and spectators were aghast, and there was some mighty heart searchings on the Government side.

The burden of the petition of this well known firm was that as the imposition and operation of the Fish Regulations since of the Fish Regulations since November, 1919, had practically read the petition to the House in and a low tone that his voice did not reach the Gallery, and it was only when the Opposition began to discuss the subject that its contents were learned. ues for their exports of fish abroad, they were no longer in abroad, they were no longer in had been sent to Sir John Crosbie, thus showing the confidence held by their dealers, and consequently their dealers, and consequently the confidence held by this firm of Harris in their own representatives. From there, it was removed to the Anglican Church where it remained under guard until the following afternoon. On Monday night a special service was held in the Church and the Last Post was sounded. The funeral took place from the church at 2 p.m. Tuesday and was attended by over 2000 people, including representatives from all the societies in the district, the C.L.B. of Hr. Grace and Boy Scouts. At the graveside the service was conducted by Rev. E. C. Clench, after which the firing party fired three volleys and Bugler Harvey sounded the Last Post as the remains of the late Private Chipmaan were lowered to their final resting place. Premier with lofty intelligence sneered at the tale which the petition of Harris & Company told; he did not openly declare that it was incorrect, but his assumption was that it was farfetched and overpainted. Many inferences could be drawn from the paucity of his remarks, but his remarks, but his remarks, but his remarks are considerable.

Miss Jennie Saunders was seriously burned about the body, hands and face on Monday afternoon through an explosion of gunpowder in a stove. Miss Saunders, who is a daughter of Mrs. E. Saunders, of the Southside, was at the home of her uncle, Mr. H. Taylor, on the afternoon in question, when she three some rubbish in the stove. There was a considerable this much at least, can be said, stove.
