

Death of Sir Henry Smith.

A telegram from Kingston announces the death, at noon on Friday, of Sir Henry Smith after a lingering illness. Last winter, when attending the Legislature at Toronto, he took cold, and was prevented from being present at the close of the session. He has never since regained his health, and lately becoming gradually worse, sunk under the disease, which is reported chiefly to have affected the kidneys. He was born in London, in April 1812, and was consequently 56 years of age at the time of his death. His family emigrated to this country in 1820, and settled in Kingston. He studied under the late Judge Hagerman. In 1836 he was called to the bar, in 1846 made a Q. C., and soon after the Union was elected to represent Frontenac in Parliament, of which County he was member till 1861, when he was defeated by Sir John A. Macdonald's nominee, Mr. James Morton. He was made Solicitor-General in the Coalition Government of 1854, and in 1858 elected Speaker in the House of Assembly. In 1859 he carried to England an Address from Parliament to the Queen asking her Majesty to visit Canada. Mr. Smith thought that the Government, and especially Mr. John A. Macdonald, failed to place him in the right position in England, when on this mission, and although he received the honour of knighthood when the Prince of Wales visited Canada, a grudge against his former leader still rankled in his breast. He succeeded last year in obtaining a seat in the Local Legislature for Frontenac. He was a Conservative all his life, and was of considerable service to his party.

Boots & Shoes at Mr. McNeill's.

By card in another column Mr. McNeill announces the various kinds of goods he has on hand and the way in which they are manufactured. We have looked through his establishment, and can add our testimony to support the assertion that his stock is very large. He employs a number of workmen who make by hand the staple goods, such as men's Wellington boots, and calf boots for ladies. Over one hundred pairs of the former class of goods have already been manufactured this fall. We are not qualified to make a declaration of which kind of work is the most durable—that made by machinery or that made by hand—we only know that the specimens of Mr. McNeill's manufactures which we saw were of good material and well put together. In a boot, we opine there are three things to be considered, first the quality of the leather, second the fit, and third whether the workmanship will last as long as the material. Mr. McNeill uses good leather; he purchases from local establishments, from men whom he knows, and who are interested in keeping up their reputation in their own country particularly; and the closest observation can discover no flaw in the making. Mr. McNeill claims that his boots and shoes made by hand are superior to any work done by machinery. He asserts also that he is in a position to sell machine made goods, at a lower rate than any person who manufactures them in this part of the Province can pretend to do. The Montreal manufacturer has advantages in the way of securing cheap labour which are wholly beyond the reach of any person here, and he can therefore sell to his customers at such rates as give them in their turn advantages over the Ontario manufacturer. How the matter stands the public will be easily able to discover for themselves. We are at all times glad to note instances of individual enterprise, satisfied that the more there are of such the better for the community. Finally we have to say in reference to the establishment under notice, that in it every taste can be suited, and every foot fitted, and that we believe at very reasonable rates.

Economy as Practised.

The Perth Courier in speaking of the boasted economy of the Ontario Government, tells the following:—"The Clerk department was one of the first experimented upon, and a number of clerks were dismissed from Governmental employ—among them an old man named Minot—a French Canadian, we would presume by his name. His labors have been very few, and the office little better than a sinecure; yet he got $2000 per annum for his services which extended over a period of some twenty years. Well, he had to travel; but the pain of so doing was not unaccompanied by the pleasures of recompense; the Contingent Committee had previously arranged that when old servants like he were deprived of their fat berths, they should recover two years' salary extra, to soothe their injured feelings; so he was sent adrift with $4000 pension in his pocket, in which situation we shall now leave him until our narrative again requires his presence. Our readers will note how great was the saving effected, thus far, to the country! This office had not long been vacant when, lo! another occupant appeared doing the same work at something about the same salary. His name was Mitchell—a New Brunswick—and some relation to the Cabinet Minister of that name. Relations must be provided for, and this vacancy was too good an opportunity not to be taken advantage of. Our readers will again observe the peculiar working of this fit of economy. In the meantime our first named hero, Mr. Minot, was presented with a situation in the Post Office Department, worth $2000 per annum, getting of course the extra four thousand dollars besides. This is the last clause in this chapter of economy, and we now leave it to the public to add to those detailed before, and judge how much the country has saved by the whole transaction."

The Repealers in Halifax are highly elevated at having won a victory in the Legislative Council. The Assembly unanimously passed a bill providing that the militia should not be compelled to serve outside the Province without the consent of the Local Government. The Unionists in the Council strongly opposed it in Committee, and an amendment to defer it was moved. The amendment was lost.

QUEBEC AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITION.—Besides the prizes taken by Mr. Cochrane at the Exhibition, the Provincial Association have awarded him a gold medal for his services to agriculture, in the importation of valuable stock. The Association decided to hold the next annual exhibition at Montreal. The Exhibition finally closed on Friday evening. Altogether it has been highly successful.
