YOUNG CORBETT WINS

Mechanics' Pavilion, San Francisco, March 31. - William Rothwell, better victory over Terry McGovern, of Brooklyn, at Hartford, a year ago last Thanksgiving, was no fluke, by defending McGovern in the clausett by three rights to ribs. Both were tired. Corbett's mouth was bleeding as he took his corner. feating McGovern in the eleventh round after a fight in which there was not a second of idleness for either man. In nearly every round Corbett, fighting like a machine, never overlooking an opportunity to send home his blows, had a shade the better of the argument, and when finally, in the eleventh round he got the Brooklyn boy fairly going, he never let up on him until Terry sank to the floor a badly defeated man. Corbett put McGovern down in the first round for a count of seven seconds, and repeated it in There was some question as to whether or not McGovern was down at the count of ten, and for a few minutes it looked as if would be a free-for-all fight. McGovern tried to get up, tried left to jaw. This was decidedly Mchard, and was on his feet Govern's round. in an instant after the timekeeper counted him out. IN THE RING. Rosy-cheeked and clear-eyed, with muscles playing like bands beneath his skin, Corbett looked the perfect athlete. At 9:52, amid a mighty roar from the crowd McGovern climbed through the ropes, accompanied by Sam Harris and his seconds, Charlie Mayhood, Eddie Cain and Joe Angelo. Terry turned around once or twice, rubbed his nose reflectively, then walked to Corbett's corner and solemnly offered his hand. Corbett took it, but it was evident there was not the friendliest feeling in the world between the two. Both had their hands heavily bandaged. When McGovern slipped off his sweater his perfect condition was apparent. He claimed he was trained to the hour, and he looked it. Corbett looked at least three or four pounds the heavier of the two, and there was probably as much difference in their weight as they answered the gong. Eddie Graney was announced as re-
