

STRANGE LOVE TALE FROM MIKADO LAND

Jap Lovers Suicide Together and Are Married After Death.

Seattle, July 6.—A strange story comes in the last mail from Japan of a tragic ending of a love-story in Tsuzuki, a seaside village in Shizuoka. It appears that a young man named Ono Matsusaku, aged 20, and a girl called Ono O-Bun, aged 17, of the village in question, fell in love with each other and sought their parents' sanction to their union. For some reason this was withheld in the case of the girl, and the couple resolved to commit shinku rather than be separated.

Accordingly, one night the girl left her home and joined her lover at a trysting place. The two then embarked on a fishing boat belonging to the young man's father. At a point some distance from the shore the couple bound themselves together with some cloth brought with them for the purpose and threw themselves into the sea.

The following morning the couple were missed and the matter was communicated to the police. Later the bodies of the young people were washed ashore and after the official examination delivered to the parents.

On learning of the tragedy, the mayor of the village was much affected and, calling upon the bereaved parents, proposed that the wedding ceremony be performed over the dead bodies, so that the deceased might be united in the other world. The parents agreed, and the ceremony was carried out in due form, even to the exchange of presents between the two families.

The ceremony was legally registered, as it had taken place before the deaths had been officially entered on the register.

FOUGHT HEAVY SEAS

Four Men in Small Boat Survive the Wreck of Schooner.

New York, July 6.—Four men in a small boat, survivors of the wreck of the two-masted schooner Garfield, which sank several miles east of the Ambrose channel lightship, were rescued today by the Rockaway Beach life-savers. The men, who had drifted about all night in their small craft, were so exhausted that they had to be carried up the beach, but were soon put in shape by physicians.

Captain G. G. Morrison, of the schooner, said that his vessel sprang a leak amidships shortly after sailing yesterday from Port Ambury for Nova Scotia, with 173 tons of coal. The pumps failed to keep up with the influx, and the vessel began to settle. The two sailors and the cabin boy, comprising the entire crew of the schooner, put off in the ship's boat and stood by Captain Morrison stuck to his craft to the last. When the schooner's stern plunged downwards the captain jumped overboard and the boat picked him up. The little craft had a hard time of it in the heavy sea trying to maintain a course for Rockaway Beach.

DASHED THROUGH FLAMES

Daring Act Prevents Destruction of Vast Quantities of Oil.

Pittsburg, July 6.—While firemen poured powerful streams of water upon him, W. A. Weaver, superintendent of the Atlantic refining plant of the Standard Oil Company, dashed daringly through flames and smoke early today, and shut a valve which prevented fire spreading from a burning still of benzine to great tanks of oil nearby. In the vicinity over 10,000 barrels of petroleum in various stages of refinement, were stored.

Two thousand people cheered the superintendent as he came scorching from the burning still. What likely would have been a catastrophe similar to that of several years ago, when 200 people were seriously injured in a gasoline explosion, was prevented and the loss confined to the benzine still.

BONDS DISAPPEARED.

New York, July 6.—Grand jury investigation into the alleged disappearance during a former management of the Carnegie Trust Company of $400,000 worth of bonds deposited with the company as is conducted, it became known today.

The bonds, said to be those of a southern railroad, were, it was stated, deposited by Charles E. Wellborne, of this city, who, when he offered to repay the loan and demanded the return of the bonds deposited as collateral, is alleged to have been told they were not for him.

BATTLE IN STREET WITH SAFECRACKERS

Thirty Shots Exchanged and a Desperate Hand-to-Hand
Fight Follows.

New York, July 6.—After a running fight between safe crackers and police in Harlem today, in which thirty shots were exchanged, the police, facing a rain of bullets, ran one fugitive up an elevated railroad stairway and captured him after a desperate hand-to-hand encounter. The second man bolted into a tenement house and escaped.

Showed Fight.
The burglars showed fight from the start when found by Zerando Di Angilio, proprietor of a First avenue cafe, drilling holes in a safe in which Di Angilio the last month has kept from $5,000 to $7,000 belonging to Italian societies. As they dashed out of the place they opened fire. Di Angilio, though the bullets whistled close to him, was not injured, and yelled for the police. Three officers responded and the chase through the streets with a running exchange of shots began and continued for several blocks, arousing the entire neighborhood.

Police Officer Albino finally cornered a man, who gave his name as Frank Picci, on the "L" stairway. The man seized the officer by the throat and choked him almost insensible, before his brother officers reached his side and subdued him. He denied being a professional burglar and said he did not know the name of the man who escaped. A kit of burglars' tools of the finest quality was found beside the store safe, the contents of which had not been disturbed.

SIR JOHN MURRAY MAY EXPLORE LAKES

Renowned Naturalist Suggests
the Bottoms Be Examined.

Toronto, July 6.—Sir John Murray, the renowned scientist and deep sea explorer, arrived in Toronto last evening, and put up at the King Edward Hotel, where he will stay until Thursday, provided he does not get word in the meantime to visit Winnipeg. Sir John is Canadian-born, and received his early education in Cobourg and London before he went to Scotland. He has just returned to Canada, after a four months' deep sea expedition along the coast of Africa, and among the Canaries and Azores, on behalf of the Norwegian Government. The Norwegians provided the boat, the Michael Sars, and Sir John Murray supplied the cost of the trip. He is now in Canada with a view to interesting the Canadian Government in an exploration expedition on the great lakes similar to the ones he has just conducted in the South Atlantic and the fresh water lakes of the United Kingdom. The comparisons between the results of his explorations among the great American fresh water lakes and those of Great Britain would prove extremely valuable to the scientific world, said Sir John, to a reporter, last evening.

West Coast of Africa.
Regarding his expedition along the West Coast of Africa, Sir John said that they had troiled to a depth of three miles with larger nets than were ever used before, and the gatherings have yielded a large number of new fish. They also used a new kind of net for the animals in the intermediate waters with great success. They measured the currents in and out of the Straits of Gibraltar and made experiments as to the depths to which the various colored lights would penetrate the deep sea. By a large centrifugal machine on the decks they made many new observations of the minute forms of plants and animals in the water. During the trip the party used many kinds of instruments including thermometers, current meters, etc. The experiments were attended with huge success and may result in entirely new methods among deep sea naturalists.

The Michael Sars is now in the harbor at St. John, N. B., and will from there proceed in due time to Glasgow, where Sir John will rejoin her. Since he landed in America several days ago he has been at Harvard, where he had the honorary degree of doctor of science conferred upon him, and at Ottawa, where he saw some of the Government officials regarding his proposed explorations in the great lakes. He will leave the city on Thursday and will sail from New York on July 23. He has been accompanied on his expedition by his eleven-year-old son, Thomas T. Murray.

Sir John's home is now in Edinburgh. He is a distinguished naturalist, and the possessor of countless medals and degrees. He was created a knight of the Commandry of Bath in 1898.

TORONTO TO SEE FILMS

Mayor Geary Declares He Has No
Objection to Them.

Toronto, July 7.—There is a movement on foot in certain quarters to have the exhibition of the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures prohibited in Toronto. Rev. Dr. Shearer is one of the moving spirits in the matter, and is being seconded in his efforts by a number of leading churchmen.

According to Mayor Geary, however, their efforts are not likely to meet with success. His worship said today that he could see no reason for such a proceeding.

Controller Ward said he had not the slightest objection to the exhibition of the pictures, and if they were shown here he would certainly go and see them himself.

Controller Spence thought the matter could be safely left in the hands of the mayor and police commissioners.

Controller Foster was the only member of the board to express his disapproval.

A BRIBERY SCANDAL.

Chicago, July 6.—A fresh sensation in connection with the legislative bribery scandal arises today when States Attorney Wayman announced that an indictment had been voted charging John A. Malloy, a grocer, with attempting to corrupt Oscar T. Morison, a juror in the recent trial of Lee O'Neil Browne, who is charged with bribing legislators to vote for United States Senator Lorimer.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

The Williams Piano Club Being the Thing in Mind

The Williams Piano Club is a success. An overwhelming success. And the thermometer playing "high jinks" with the tall figures.

It was an audacious thing to begin the selling of 200 pianos in mid-summer. It was a bold thing to do—to buy 200 pianos of a single grade—buy them outright and plan a June selling campaign (the Williams Piano Club) to dispose of them. Such a thing is only done by those who have confidence in themselves. By those who know their own power. By those who know their public through dealing with them from day to day for years and years—and know exactly how the people will respond to their public announcements. We knew we were right. We knew the time was right and ready. We knew our piano was right and our proposition was right. It's fair, liberal and advantageous to the buyer.

The Williams Piano Club Plan Told in a Few Brief Sentences.

- 1.—The value of the Williams Club Piano is $350.
- 2.—The price to Williams Club Members is $257.50.
- 3.—The terms are $5.00 cash when you join, then $125 per week for 202 weeks.
- 4.—The piano will be delivered when you join or later, as you wish.
- 5.—The weekly payments of $125 begin when the piano is delivered.
- 6.—Every instrument is guaranteed without reserve—for five years. There are no "ifs" or "ands" in the guarantee—just a straight-out guarantee as strong as we know how to make it in writing.
- 7.—If, after 30 days' trial, the piano is not satisfactory we will give you your money back.
- 8.—If the piano is satisfactory after 30 days' use, the Club Member has eleven more months in which to satisfy himself as to the character of the piano. If it does not then prove to be everything that he expects, he has the privilege of exchanging it without one penny's loss for any instrument of equal or greater value that we sell and we sell over five different representative makes).
- 9.—If a Club Member dies during the life of his contract we will immediately send a receipt in full to his family for the instrument.
- 10.—A beautiful stool to match the piano is included without extra cost.
- 11.—The piano will be tuned twice without charge.

The club member saves big money
---ninety-two dollars and a half--- nearly enough to educate one child in piano playing.

It's no wonder the Williams Piano Club is such a success. Had you better not investigate its advantages? Do it now---this week. Don't be put down among the procrastinators. Get in on a proposition that is a "go"---that is a big success.

This is the whole proposition. Read this:

PLAN CELEBRATION OF CENTURY-LONG PEACE

English Speaking People to Hold
Big Affair in 1914.

New York, July 7.—The movement for a world-wide celebration in 1914 for the 100th anniversary of peace among English-speaking peoples took form here today with the announcement of a committee selected to organize the work of preparation. The committee is headed by Andrew Carnegie as chairman, and announcement of the present status of the movement was made today by Chairman John A. Stewart, of the executive committee of 100.

The Treaty of Ghent was signed on Dec. 24, 1814, and it is proposed to commemorate this event through an invitation issued jointly by the citizens of the United States and Great Britain to the world at large to take part during 1914 in a common celebration. The exact form which the celebration shall take has been only tentatively discussed.

A suggestion that has received consideration contemplates a programme, including a day at Ghent, celebrations in London and Washington, and the possible erection in New York of a great memorial building, which shall be the place of the holding, during 1914 of international conferences and congresses for consideration of important subjects relating to the world's peace, with suitable exhibits by the various nations. Nothing in the way of a world's fair is contemplated, however, the committee's representatives state.

It is stated that the movement has been discussed with President Taft, who has expressed a sympathetic interest. It has been suggested that a part of the celebration programme be the creation of a suitable monument, such as a memorial bridge on the Niagara border.

BRITISH TALK ON FIGHT

Last of Its Kind in United States,
Says The News.

London, July 7.—While editorially deprecating, on higher grounds, the Reno fight, the press here caters fully for its readers in descriptions of the combat. Regret is expressed on sentimental grounds that the champion failed. At the same time the black's victory was generally anticipated.

The Times says curiously and amusingly mingled with disgust, are the predominant feelings wherewith the reports of the combat were read in England outside of a relatively small circle.

The Morning Post, with half a sigh for the old glory of the prize ring in the arena.

The News stigmatises it as the most nakedly commercial fight in the history of pugilism, and declares that "Neither on Independence Day nor any other day will anything approaching this spectacle and its preliminaries be again seen on the soil of the United States. By the time these lines appear the "morning after" feeling will have the country in its grip."

MCCORMICK ESTATE DUES.
Toronto, July 6.—The estate of the late Thomas McCormick, of Toronto, will now pay 5 per cent succession duties on $20,000. Shortly after the death of Mr. McCormick his executors filed papers showing the estate to be worth $3,000. Thus the estate escaped succession duties, being under the $10,000. Subsequently the real estate comprising the bulk of the estate sold for $20,000. The provincial treasury quick relief. Sold by all dealers.

MINNESOTA HIT BY STORM.
St. Paul, Minn., July 6.—Western Minnesota and eastern South Dakota were visited last night by severe wind and electrical storms which may have caused loss of life and great damage to cities and farming communities.

England, remarks that the failure of Jeffries, if only for semi-political reasons, will be regretted here.

The Telegraph says that, while giving the longest report of the fight, it rejoices in the disappearance of the ring, and says it stands condemned with practical unanimity by public opinion.

The Globe thinks the fight was fair and open throughout, and the superiority of the black incontestable. The Leader opines that probably Johnson's equal has never been seen in the arena.
