LONDON OLD BOY A CABINET MINISTER

Hon. Thomas Taylor, of British Columbia, Visiting His Old Home.

Hon. Thomas Taylor, minister of public works in the British Columbia Government, is visiting London after twelve years' absence, the guest of Dr. H. J. Ferguson, Princess avenue.

Mr. Taylor is a native of London Township, was educated in this city, and studied law in the firm of Taylor & Taylor. He left the city in the early eighties for the west, and has grown up with that country.

"This is my second visit to London since I left here," said Mr. Taylor to The Advertiser. "I see many changes for the better in your beautiful city, particularly in the residential parts. The business section has not altered so radically.

"The west? Well, the wheat crop on the prairie never looked better. They are fast getting rid of the last year's crop, a good deal of which was overtaken by premature cold weather last year and remained unthreshed."

British Columbia, said Mr. Taylor, had a great future, and rivalled Ontario in the extent and variety of her natural resources. It was on the eve of a remarkable agricultural development.

MOTOR BOATS LOCATED AT MUNCEY RESERVE

Some Are Found To Be in Good Condition.

Several of the owners of the motor bloats which were swept down the river a few weeks ago have been notified that some of the boats were recovered at the Muncey reserve and that they are in possession of the Indians at present. Mr. Frank Vita went to the reserve yesterday and located his boat. It was in fairly good condition and he will be able to runt it in a few days. This morning several other boat owners left for the reserve in company with one or two of the county police. It is reported that the Indians recovered the craft, and sank them in order to hide them. Several word of this was brought to the local men and it is now thought that several of the boats will be recovered.

BICYCLE THEFTS ARE STILL GOING ON

One of the first pair was a Cleveland, black enamelled and bearing the number 256-647. It had red rubber tires and a coaster brake. The othere was a black enamelled Peerless.

Mr. Bailey's bicycle was a black enamelled Brantford, but had no name plate.

DRAW BAR PULLED OUT

No. 1 G. T. R. Express Delayed at Paris Junction.

Grand Trunk Express No. 1 from the east was delayed an hour and a half at Paris Junction when a draw bar pulled out of the baggage car. The car was pulled out of the train, turned around, and coupled to the tail end until London was reached.

TO IMPROVE TRACKAGE

City Engineer Wright and Manager King, of the London street railway company, have gone over all the trackage in the city, and arrangements were made to improve the line wherever possible.

It is the intention of the company to build the road up to the tracks wherever efasible, and also to brick the cruves to make it easier for vehicles to pass.

Mr. King will start at once on this work.

Thanks to the activities of a local ball player, who desires to have his name withheld, it is likely that a ball game will be given in aid of Pte. Archie Pinel. The East End League will hold a meeting tonight or tomorrow night to consider a proposition to transfer their games for Saturday, June 29, to Tecumseh Park, and to give the gate receipts to the Pinel fund. It is believed that the directors of the London Baseball Club are willing to give the grounds on that date, the professional team being out of town. In fact, the whole week is to be clear, and it is thought many citizens will be glad of the chance to help along so good a cause, and incidentally to see London's principal amateur league in action. It is hoped that several hundred dollars would be realized. Old-time ball players, such as Pinel's team mates on the Pastimes, will be asked to take charge of the tickets and gates.

The fund was practically closed Saturday, and the sum of $644 31 has been realized. This sum will do a great deal toward making life more bearable for the unfortunate veteran. The money has been placed in a bank, and the committee appointed to administer it will soon hold a meeting.

It is doubtful if any cause has brought so generous a response in London before. The case of Private Pinel had a universal appeal, and rich and poor alike have given. The amount stated stand for the contributions of hundreds of people. On behalf of those who were instrumental in bringing the case to the attention of the public The Advertiser desires to heartily thank one and all for their contributions.

Among the contributions received were $25 70 from the Tuckett Cigar Company employees, and $6 50 from the W. T. Strong employees, which has already been acknowledged. The Orient Club contributed $11, and The Advertiser Job Department employees $9 50. Another grade in Lorne avenue school sent in $2 10. The non-commissioned officers' headquarters office, first division, gave $15.

MAY YOHE PLAYED IN LONDON IN 1905

Springfield, Ont., Man Wrote a Letter Which Greatly Affected Her.

A dispatch from New York states that it is feared that May Yohe, the famous vaudeville star, has committed suicide. She has been in hard luck financially, and her satchel, with a note to her maid, were found in Central Park and handed over to the police.

Miss Yohe played in London in 1905, at the Grand. She was accompanied by her husband, Putnam Bradlee Strong, who was a son of a former mayor of New York. She had been previously married to Lord Hope, and is now divorced from both husbands.

She was interviewed by The Advertiser in regard to a letter received by this journal at the time of her engagement here, a gentleman from Springfield, Ont., inquiring if she was a Yohe from Pennsylvania. She admitted she was one of the girls referred to in the letter, and seemed greatly touched to find that the man who wrote from Springfield was an old neighbor of her father's in the long ago when she was a little child, and her dad was the village postmaster.

The home incidents of her childhood came back to her like a panorama, and she cried behind the scenes as she told the reporter many little stories when the Springfield man danced her on his knee and she was a carefree child.

REPORTS OF DAMAGE BY RECENT FROST WERE EXAGGERATED

But Slight Loss Is Shown to Have Actually Occurred.

A county man with good opportunities for judging, assures The Advertiser that the reports of injury by the white frost of Friday night last in East Middlesex have been greatly overdrawn. The staple field crops show no ill-effects, and even if there were in spots a slight nipping of the tips of barley or clover, it would not retard the present luxuriant growth.

In a large low-lying garden that would naturally be susceptible to frost the only thing touched was the upper leaves of a few very tender beans. Sweet corn plots from two to six inches in height, and potatoes nearly in flower, were entirely untouched, and nothing else was injured. Unless possibly some strawberry blossoms, and those examined do not show any ill-effects, fruits are generally too well advanced to be affected. Some tomato plants, which gardeners had just transplanted, were somewhat scorched, and possibly a few cut down, but most growers have ample supplies of extra plants for such contingencies, and do not usually hurry them out of the cold frames until all risks of a drop in temperature are past. Thousands of them are yet to be put in the open fields.

No Need for Worry.

Town householders need not, therefore, worry themselves over another rise in the price of table supplies because of the late frost. It was too easy, but just enough to make vegetable growers watchful. The previous cold weather had hardened vegetation. The impression that there has been an excess of rain in this district is not correct. It has all been needed for the grass and spring grains, that go to make milk and swell the farmers' checks. It slightly delayed corn planting, but the extra working of the land is an offset, and with warm weather from now on corn will make great strides, for it is a rapid grower
