debut Saturday in football brought down a win with each barrel, the Seconds taking the O.A.C. Farmers down a deep furrow for a 16-6 victory in the preliminary game, and the Firsts overwhelming Toronto Varsity under a 33-1 avalanche.

It was a gala occasion for the Purple and White and for the Westerners' supporters. To see two teams start out a season carrying the Purple and White colors was a big day in itself, but when they came in off the field with two victories, October 10, 1925, became a red-letter day in Western's rugby history.

Downfall Complete.

Varsity's discomforture was complete. At no time did they threaten the dominance of Western's Broncos. Warren and Conkle were the outstanding stars, but every man fitted into the machine which Fickley had welded, and made it almost irrestible Saturday. Warren's long booting and ball carrying, Kennedy's open field running and Conkle's great generalship and individual playing were features of Western's great victory. On the front line, Jordan and Comfort stood out like the Memorial tower. They led the van of the attack, tearing huge gaps in the Varsity line in some of the heavier attacks fluing at the Blue and White.

Two of Western's tries were brilliant. Warren kicking for a point in the second period followed down under his own revolving punt, and while the Varsity halves were getting cricks in their necks and cross-eyed trying to grab the ball, the Western half dashed in and picked it off. Simpson's 60-yard dribble and Savage's quick sneak in on the play and smothering of the ball to complete a try was an illustration of the initiative the Westerners displayed all afternoon. Savage and Kilmer, outsides for Western, played a splendid game, getting down under Warren's punts for some deadly tackling.

Guelph Aggles protested the score of the first game. In the third quarter, they protested that Scott was offside when he went in and
