

Maritime Farmer.

FREDERICTON, N. B., March 21, 1883.

The City of Fredericton will give Estabrook a running vote, and let the parties follow.

THE ISSUE!

There can be no mistaking the issue before the electors of York, in the contest which will terminate on Saturday next. In the General Elections in June last, the late Government was sustained by a good working majority, every member of the Executive being returned at the head of the poll, excepting Mr. Marshall, who was defeated in St. John because Dominion questions were dragged into the election. The returns were scarcely in, before Mr. Blair started out on a mission, with a "Round Robin" in his pocket, to turn the government out. He failed in that, and what was his next step. He instigated scrutinies in Kent in Madawaska and in Westmorland, where government supporters had been elected. The members for Kent resigned, those for Westmorland were unseated by the acts of their agents, and on reappearing to the people, they were all triumphantly re-elected. Two vacancies occurred in Kent's shortly after the General Elections, and Mr. Blair formed a ticket, which was defeated by nearly a vote to one vote. Thus Mr. Blair was foiled at every turn, for the Country had pronounced against him in June, and would not permit its verdict then, to be set aside.

When the Legislature met, the late Government was sustained by a majority of four votes, and had the assurance of more than one member, including the present Surveyor General, Mr. Mitchell, that they would give the government their support thereafter. What is Mr. Blair's next move. Corruption of the basest kind. Three gentlemen are seduced from their party allegiance, and the government is turned out without an opportunity of uttering one word in defence. The verdict of the people of York in June last, which Mr. Blair especially should have regarded, was scorned by that gentleman, and he, who secured only a third place on the poll, or seven hundred votes less than Mr. Colter vaulted into power, by the most treacherous means ever used to overturn a government. Mr. Estabrook made a strong point, when he said that Mr. Blair virtually took this constituency by the throat, and that the present contest is Mr. Blair against the country. Which do you prefer, Electors of York, the Chief Commissioner, that has the direct control of nearly $200,000 annually, of which York under Mr. Colter, last year, received $10,000 against $8,000 in 1878, or the Attorney General, which puts $2,400 a year into Mr. Blair's pocket, and expends otherwise not one cent! Your votes on Saturday next will decide the matter. Mark your ballots for Mr. Estabrook, and secure the restoration of the Chief Commissioner.

Remember that Blair's defeat, means the defeat of the Government.

Fouling his own Nest. Mr. Blair leads a Government whose policy is to impoverish this constituency; to deprive it of the advantages financial, political and social, that arise from being the headquarters of our legislative machinery. Mr. Blair during the Session of 1881, moved the following resolution, as the platform of his party, and supported it with all the vigor and eloquence he could command:—

"Resolved, That in the opinion of this House, large measures of reform are urgently called for in the public interest, which reform should embrace the abolition of the Legislative Council, a reduction in the number of members in the Executive Council, the discontinuance, after the term of office of the present Lieutenant Governor, of the payment of the salary of a Private Secretary to the Lieutenant Governor and of the maintenance at the public expense of the Government House as an official residence, the adoption of a more practical and economical management in Educational matters and the making of such changes in governmental, legislative and departmental procedure, as will secure as well as a substantial reduction in the cost thereof."

The resolution happily for Fredericton and York, was defeated, but Mr. Blair, as leader of the Government, is in a different position from Mr. Blair, leader of the Opposition. Mr. Blair in his speech at the Nomination on Friday, asserted that the reforms proposed in his resolution of 1881, will be carried out, and he called for the public interest, to continue in power, to make the attempt. As the electors of York willing that Mr. Blair should be placed in a position to destroy their interests, to cut down with one stroke of his political hatchet, the rights we have enjoyed ever since Fredericton became the Capital of this Province! Mr. Blair already in his speeches in the recent Westmorland campaign, exhibited his utter disregard of his constituency's welfare. He told the people there, that his third place on the poll in the election of June last, was due to his having stood up for the interests of Westmorland and other counties, to the prejudice of York. On this point shortly after that election, we published a letter written by a respectable and unprejudiced gentleman, living in Westmorland, who expressed his utter surprise and amazement, that any politician, no matter what his grade, should go abroad and disparage, as Mr. Blair did, his own constituency. Here is an extract from our correspondent's letter, and if it does not show Mr. Blair in a most treacherous light, then we fail to understand the meaning of language. Our correspondent wrote:—

"In his speech down here, Mr. Blair gave a most glowing description of the useless expenditures and wild extravagances in and about Government House; a monstrous wall about the house of bloated officials in and about Fredericton, and the direful waste of the people's money generally in Fredericton. In his Scotchville speech, he stated that he was always striving to keep down Fredericton's extravagance, and that a member of the Government had formulated this charge openly against him on the floor of the House, which was the cause of his being third on the poll in June last. Truly, if Mr. Blair made a few more missions to Westmorland, we would soon find out what a miserable, desperate extravagant lot of Government money York County possess!"

"If Mr. Blair cannot in his political mission find more solid argument than abusing the electors of York, to induce them to give up looking for that new Government which he has shown elsewhere, the defeat of the Government."

Will the electors of York vote for Mr. Blair, when he goes abroad and belittles the place of his nativity, and attempts to strike down this constituency. Let the answer be given on Saturday next.

The Difference.

In 1878, without the office of Board of Works, York County, received for its Road and Bridge Service, five thousand dollars only, and in 1882, with Mr. Colter, holding the Chief Commissioner'ship, we received the sum of ten thousand dollars. Note the difference, electors of York, and vote for Mr. Estabrook.

Mr. Wetmore will not accept a portfolio in a new Government, but will insist that the Chief Commissioner'ship shall be restored to this constituency.

What York May Expect.

We hasten to warn the people of Fredericton and York County of what they may expect from a Government such as Mr. Blair's, which is controlled directly by St. John influence, as represented by Mr. Elder and Mr. Ritchie. We need not however, refer now to the strenuous exertions of those two gentlemen to return Frederickton of the Seat of Government. Their united and determined action in that matter, is familiar to everybody who watched the critical events of that time. But Mr. Elder and Mr. Ritchie, and especially the latter, believe that half a loaf is better than no bread, and if they failed in getting the Seat of Government at St. John, mayhap thought they, we can secure the Law Courts, and at once a movement was set on foot to remove the Law Courts from this city. Mr. Thompson denied it at the nomination, but we assert, and reference to the Legislative Journals will bear us out that during the last House Mr. RITCHIE, THE SOLICITOR GENERAL, AND ONE OF THE LEADING SPIRITS IN MR. BLAIR'S GOVERNMENT, MOVED A RESOLUTION TO REMOVE THE LAW COURTS TO ST. JOHN, and though he was unsuccessful, we know that Mr. Ritchie has not yet given up the idea, and that this very day there is an agitation among the lawyers of St. John, and Mr. Ritchie will not be able to withstand it, to remove the Law Courts to St. John, that means the loss to Fredericton of thousands of dollars annually. Will the electors of this county jeopardize their own interests by placing themselves in the power of St. John? Voting for Mr. Blair in the present contest, will be virtually voting to sustain Mr. Ritchie, and Mr. Elder will have to be a party to it, in his attempt to remove the Law Courts from Fredericton.

Blair characterizes Estabrook as a "straw" man. Farmers of York, resent the insult.

A False Canvass Expod.

In his desperation, Mr. Blair called in the aid of Mr. George White, M. P. P., of Carleton, who under Mr. Blair's dictation no doubt, wrote a letter to the Telegraph, alleging that Mr. Colter had offered him, (White), the Board of Works Office, and that the offer was made in the presence of Mr. Estabrook. Mr. Blair incorporated that letter in his canvass to the electors of York, knowing that Mr. Colter, being in the country was ignorant of the scandalous falsehood that had been raised against him. But on Nomination Day, Mr. Colter met his treacherous face to face, and Mr. Blair in repeating the slander, was promptly and emphatically contradicted by both Mr. Colter and Mr. Estabrook, and the lie sailed just as we know it could be. To make the denial even more emphatic, Mr. Colter has written the following letter, and we leave the public to judge whether they will not accept Mr. Colter's word, in preference to that of a political weathercock, like George White. Mr. Colter writing under date of the 10th inst., says:—

"The statement in the letter written by George White and published in the Telegraph and Globe and incorporated in Mr. Blair's canvass, to the effect that I offered the Board of Works Office to him (White) is a bold and deliberate falsehood. If there can be any more emphatic denial of the statement contained in that letter than the above, I wish to be understood by the public as having made it."

(Signed) GEORGE J. COLTER.

Now, anybody who knows Mr. White, is aware that he would jump at an offer such as he alleged Mr. Colter made him. He has been looking for something ever since he entered political life, but the government has never existed, that would undertake to add such a blemish as Mr. White. Mr. White politically speaking, is a nobody; his influence in the Assembly amounts to nothing, and those who know him best would not accept his pledged word. The whole story, as connected by him, and attempted to be used to Mr. Blair's advantage, is a fabrication so unmistakably clear, that it will deceive nobody.

But Mr. White on the hustings at Woodstock in June last, asserted that he would support the Government. He wrote a letter afterwards to Mr. Colter tendering his support to the Government, and he wrote another letter about the same time to Mr. Adams at Newcastle, in which he used these words: "I see no reason why I cannot support the Government as reconstructed, and I hereby tender my support." We can name more than two citizens of Fredericton to whom Mr. White stated after his arrival in Fredericton to attend the opening of the Legislature, that he would support the Government. It was believed in Woodstock among Mr. White's own friends and supporters, that he would support the Government, and why he did not, is for the reason that the then opposition bid the highest.

Vote for Estabrook, and restore the Board of Works to York.

Electors of York, Beware!

Of what? St. John influence in Mr. Blair's government. There is no demand so excessive, no project so impracticable, that will not justify the constituency of St. John in raising the provincial treasury. St. John has a bridge project on hand for which a subsidy of probably $50,000 will be asked; they want $10,000 for the Centennial Exhibition, and $15,000 for permanent buildings in connection therewith. The roads and bridges of St. John, which have already absorbed more than their just proportion, must necessarily be additionally subsidized, when St. John controls the balance of power in the Executive, and has five supporters of the Government on the floors of the Assembly. Mr. Blair will be about as able to resist the demands of St. John, as he was to resist the demands of both Mr. Elder and Mr. Ritchie into the Government. St. John with its preponderating influence has already dictated terms to Mr. Blair, and the Government has scarcely entered upon the duties of office. What becomes of our bridge project under the circumstances? With the Chief Commissioner'ship in Ritchie's hands and Messrs. Elder, Ritchie, Vail, Mitchell and Turner all of whose interests radiate directly from St. John, controlling the Government, York and the river counties must be sacrificed. Mr. Blair himself, is the sole responsible representative in the Executive of this great district and he, as we have already shown, is powerless. Electors of York, you can restore this constituency's influence by electing Mr. Estabrook, and defeating Mr. Blair's government. Remember, that Mr. Blair's defeat means we have shown elsewhere, the defeat of the Government.

Slightly Mixed.

Mr. Blair's auditors at the Nomination, were much displeased with the manner in which the Attorney General found himself, by making statements that were altogether unbecomingly, and which did great discredit to the usual ingenuity of the honorable gentleman. In discussing the probable effect his defeat would have on the Government, he declared that "even if Blair is defeated the Government will live." And how, pray? Where in the Government ranks is there another lawyer competent to fill the position of Attorney General? Is it Mr. Ritchie, or Mr. Mitchell, or Mr. Barbare? Certainly no government could hope to exist with either of these gentlemen as Attorney General. The legal ability at the command of the party in power is about as small as the representation of the farming interest. In the Opposition there are at least four gentlemen who would make a fine team, including Messrs. Wainwright, Hamilton and McLeod—who, by their ability and standing at the Bar, would afford the position of Attorney General. The Government have in either regard, and the latter will overtop their opponents "by a large majority." In the Opposition there are at least four gentlemen who would make a fine team, including Messrs. Wainwright, Hamilton and McLeod—who, by their ability and standing at the Bar, would afford the position of Attorney General. The Government have in either regard, and the latter will overtop their opponents "by a large majority."

Now we do not propose to adopt either of the above courses, but we will elect the electors of York, that Mr. Blair's Government is certain to perish at an early day, and that the most summary manner of compassing that which he desired end, lies in the defeat of Mr. Blair, and no man knows it better than Mr. Blair himself.

Don't neglect on the first appearance of kidney troubles to go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It will give immediate relief, save years of suffering and effect a permanent cure.

Diagnosed Tactics.

Mr. Blair, his party, and his press, in the present campaign, have displayed tactics, and pursued canvasses, that are simply disgraceful. The Globe, even so far back as last July, introduced a style of warfare that was not responsible by every respectable journalist. When Mr. Colter, who had been elected by an overwhelming vote in this county, said his first official visit to St. John as Chief Commissioner of the Board of Works, he was held up to derision and ridicule by the Globe. His very personal appearance was ridiculed, and Mr. Blair's candidatures was first announced, has never ceased to ridicule that gentleman. He has been held up as an ignorant farmer, and Mr. Blair at Harvey, supplemented the insult by characterizing Mr. Estabrook as a "straw man." At the nomination Mr. Estabrook's address was announced, and Mr. Blair's address was rudely interrupted by Mr. Blair, who giving the cue to his hungry supporters surrounding him, attempted to stifle discussion; to put Mr. Estabrook down. Mr. Blair, with the most sneering and overbearing expression he ever wore, stood up front of Mr. Estabrook, and in a few moments interrupted and annoyed the speaker. The people here fair play, and Mr. Blair will find that his belittling of his opponent will have an effect quite contrary to that which he anticipates.

An outside authority in speaking of the nomination proceedings, and Mr. Blair's mannered attempt to gag Mr. Estabrook, says:—

"Mr. Blair and a knot of his supporters appear to have determined that the 'farmer candidate' should not receive a hearing; and so far was this boycotting business carried that this time it looked as if the meeting would be broken up. The facts were that Mr. Blair had secured a large sum of money was buried on his farm, but they didn't know exactly where. They wanted to bury the cash before he had for eight days, and then to dig it up, whereupon the place of the concealed treasure was discovered. He obeyed, and at the end of the prescribed time his $50,000 and the gypies were gone."

A Great Tempest.

One of the most amazing and harmless incidents of the nomination proceedings, was Mr. Fred Thompson's attempted caricature of Mr. Wetmore. Just imagine, gentle reader, Mr. Fred Thompson caricaturing Mr. Wetmore. Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto the dash and turmoil of mighty waters, that rush their spray against the rocky sea wall, and fall harmless at its base. Mr. Thompson's Blair should not be opposed and it is needless to say that Mr. Wetmore was overwhelmed—with noise, and fury, and bad English—nothing more. It was like unto