A GOOD IDEA

The Provincial Government does not meet often enough in the City of St. John. While we say that we know that we are favored over other places in the province with the exception of the capital city of Fredericton. It is quite proper of course that the formal meetings of the Government should be held at the headquarters of the administration, but we suggest to Premier Veniot and his colleagues that it would create greater interest in the cabinet if the Government met more frequently in the City of St. John. When considering, for example, matters that are of keen interest to the North Shore, what more natural step could be taken than to call a preliminary meeting of the Government, such as we had in this city yesterday, to be held at Campbellton, Bathurst, Newcastle or Chatham? Then when the Government meets in the City of St. John, the Premier and his colleagues would be able to discuss the matters of the North Shore in a more informed manner. Other questions of moment are under consideration, why not hold an occasional meeting in the prosperous city of St. John? Nothing would be more national probably than for the Government to visit the border town of St. John, particularly now that the Lieutenant Governor's residence is located there, or to go to some other thriving town such as Grand Falls, St. Leonard or Edmundston. The Government cannot get too closely in touch with the people. Undoubtedly this would be an innovation, but we believe it would be popular and would gain for Premier Veniot and his Government the approval of many sections of the province—Telegraph Journal.

DO YOU FAVOR LAW AND ORDER?

The question is being asked by many citizens "where are our liquor inspectors and why are they not attending to their duties?" This brings up the whole matter of prohibition enforcement in Campbellton, and it is a very vexing matter to those who believe in law and order. While the Graphic is willing to admit that conditions in Campbellton and throughout the whole county are very much better than before the enactment of the N. B. Liquor Law, yet we know that matters could be improved if the inspectors and police officers were even fifty per cent. efficient.

During the past week we have seen men walking our streets under the influence of liquor, and Saturday night we passed a young man on Water St., so much under the influence that he was taking the entire width of the sidewalk in his progress down street, and he was not molested by the police. Recently we were informed that an automobile drove in to a vendors place of business in broad daylight, and one of the occupants went into said vendors and came out with an armful of bottled goods, unwrapped, and deposited them under the rear cover of his car. Do we ever hear of the inspectors stopping and searching suspected cars? Citizens have several times complained about a group of young men who meet in a certain office on a Saturday night, and partake of that which cheers until they become a source of annoyance to citizens desiring a peaceful Sabbath morning rest. Do we ever hear of the police arresting any such?

If the inspectors appointed by Chief Inspector Hawthorn will not do their duty it is up to the citizens of Campbellton to demand that they be removed and capable officers appointed.

If our three policemen will not do their duty, then it is time the Police Committee got busy and give them explicit directions to attend to all matters pertaining to the rigid enforcement of the prohibition law.

If the Police Committee will not act, then the citizens of Campbellton should show that they are in earnest and demand action.

Citizens, it is up to you. What are you going to do about it?

A JUSTIFIABLE POLICY

At least one representative American newspaper, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, admits that a Canadian embargo on pulpwood would be a justifiable policy for this country. The Globe-Democrat says "prohibition of the export of pulpwoods will not necessarily increase paper prices, though that is possible, but the many paper mills on this side of the line operating with Canadian pulpwood will be deprived of their most valuable source of raw material, whose manufacture will be retained within Canada. Crippled, these mills will be obliged to turn to their own depleted forests, whose depletion has proceeded lately at accelerated rate in consequence of the fact that American paper makers have turned from their own depleted forests to Canada for their pulpwood supplies constitute the very best possible reason for the utmost possible care by Canada in the protection of its wood resources. The dangers of retentive legislation may easily be overestimated. It is not the fact that much recent tariff legislation by the United States was directed directly against Canada without even the pretense of being retaliatory? Is it not also the fact that this legislation, designed to keep Canadian wheat out of the American market, simply compelled the American farmer to pay more for what he has to buy without giving him the expected benefit of the American wheat prices? An export duty on pulpwood is urged as a measure of conservation.

TO CURE THE BUSINESS BLUES.

In the history of Canada there have been periods of depression, predictions of disaster and advocacy of annexation, but all these have proved to be mere eddies, while the stream of progress has flowed in increasing volume. Pessimism is usually due to gazing at the eddy instead of the stream. It may be cured by looking at the progress that has been made since Confederation, of even in a ten-year period. Take, for instance, the fact that in 1922 although the extraordinary expansion caused by the war was over, the trade of Canada was only per cent more than in 1913. Evidence could easily be accumulated, but generally speaking, we prescribe the Canadian Year Book as a cure for the blues.

WHY WE DON'T PRINT IT

This paper has the reputation of being a booster, and it has always been the aim of the publisher to boost every enterprise, be it of public or private nature, of a worthy character. Boosting is a game, however, that more than one can play. "Boost you, you boost me" is a good motto, and "we will boost together" is another good motto. The newspaper man can boost in a very effective way, not "knocking" when people want him to "knock." He can boost a good deal more by coming out flat-footed and upholding the good that is in an individual or an institution and leaving unsaid what he knows to be bad. But when this is done there is no occasion for the person or institution which is boosted to assume that the newspaper has to do it in order to hold its job with the public. A newspaper man sees and hears more things, bad or good, about individuals and about the way institutions are conducted than other individuals, a gossiping old maid not excepted, and it is unwise to assume that it is because he does not print it. It is because he has a sense of honor and a sense of feeling, and last but not least, a love of peace and harmony in the community. Many things might be printed about our town which would make spicy reading, but why herald all such things abroad? The least said, soonest mended, is the better. The newspaper man, however, has a keen sense of appreciation and is susceptible to praise of the right sort, and to substantial business support. He appreciates the spirit of the man who, when he has a few dollars worth of commercial printing, does not go gawwawing about the country, spending car fare and time thinking he might get it a few cents cheaper, but who says, "We've got a printer here at home who is trying to help our town, and we will in turn help him by giving him the little printing we have to do." This is the true community spirit, and it counts with the merchant, and the doctor, with the lawyer and with every business which draws its daily support from the community.

Lord Lovat in opening the Forestry Association meeting in Ottawa on Monday, strongly urged a periodical survey of forest resources as a necessity of public business, just as a balance sheet is a necessity of private business. The forests are a great, if not the greatest national asset, and as a practical business proposition Lord Lovat urges the survey so that public men and the people will know exactly what their forests are worth, and the extent of attempting that is required to maintain them as revenue-producing assets.—St. John Globe.

BUDDHISTS PLAN AT DRIVE FOR WHITE CONVERTS IN HAWAII

Honolulu, July 30.—An active drive for converts to Buddhism among the English speaking peoples of the Hawaiian territory is in progress as the result of action taken by Buddhist leaders in deciding to organize a Buddhist evangelic association in Hawaii with headquarters here.

The principal aim of the society will be to spread the teaching of the sect in English, and present plans call for the training of English speaking priests of Buddha, the publication of canonical books in English and the circulation of other publications in English regarding Buddhism.

Two men, graduates of a local high school or a Buddhist university in Japan, will be invited to study for five years in a mainland university, on the understanding that they are to preach Buddhism in Hawaii on the conclusion of their studies.

The society is an outgrowth of the efforts of Archbishop M. T. Kirby of the Hongkong mission here, an Englishman converted to Buddhism in Japan, who has been in charge of churches here for some time.

It Works From Both Ends

A local merchant upon whom we called recently gave us a first class talk upon "buying at home." We certainly agreed with him in all he said, and more too. The Graphic has always preached this doctrine, and lived up to it.

But what of our local merchants? A genial solicitor for wrapping paper, paper bags, etc., had induced him to order his counter check books from him, "just to make up a good sized freight shipment."

Our local merchant clean forgot that our local printers could supply these counter check books at the same price. He sent out of town for them.

But it's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

LOCK YOUR DOORS

Reports are current of attempts being made to enter several homes in Campbellton during the past week. A number of frumps have been seen about town, and we would suggest that the night police be on the alert.

RAIN NEEDED

Although there have been a few showers in this vicinity, the lack of rain is being keenly felt. The town water supply is rapidly lowering, and every care should be taken if we it is felt that Campbellton are to get through the dry season without resorting to the expensive mode of pumping water from Walker brook.

SALMON PLENTIFUL

Fresh salmon appears to be more plentiful this season than for some years and retail at a lower price. Competition from far off British Columbia is said to be the reason for this. A. Ballantyne is handling British Columbia dressed salmon and it is said has made heavy shipments to St. John during the last month. B. C. dressed salmon retail at twenty cents a pound and the price for Miramichi dressed salmon has been brought down to twenty cents in order to meet the competition from the west.—Newcastle Advocate.
