

3

1941

It is a fact that the world is a world of progress. It is a better and greater world than the world of our fathers. With the years it has moved onward toward the larger, newer, perhaps at times, but nevertheless better, of the future. Our task in this century is plain — to accelerate the world's progress to a point where the world of the year 2000 will be a world of peace and harmony, a world of unity and brotherhood, a world of freedom and justice, a world of progress and peace.

It is a fact that the world is a world of progress. It is a better and greater world than the world of our fathers. With the years it has moved onward toward the larger, newer, perhaps at times, but nevertheless better, of the future. Our task in this century is plain — to accelerate the world's progress to a point where the world of the year 2000 will be a world of peace and harmony, a world of unity and brotherhood, a world of freedom and justice, a world of progress and peace.

It is a fact that the world is a world of progress. It is a better and greater world than the world of our fathers. With the years it has moved onward toward the larger, newer, perhaps at times, but nevertheless better, of the future. Our task in this century is plain — to accelerate the world's progress to a point where the world of the year 2000 will be a world of peace and harmony, a world of unity and brotherhood, a world of freedom and justice, a world of progress and peace.

It is a fact that the world is a world of progress. It is a better and greater world than the world of our fathers. With the years it has moved onward toward the larger, newer, perhaps at times, but nevertheless better, of the future. Our task in this century is plain — to accelerate the world's progress to a point where the world of the year 2000 will be a world of peace and harmony, a world of unity and brotherhood, a world of freedom and justice, a world of progress and peace.

It is a fact that the world is a world of progress. It is a better and greater world than the world of our fathers. With the years it has moved onward toward the larger, newer, perhaps at times, but nevertheless better, of the future. Our task in this century is plain — to accelerate the world's progress to a point where the world of the year 2000 will be a world of peace and harmony, a world of unity and brotherhood, a world of freedom and justice, a world of progress and peace.

It is a fact that the world is a world of progress. It is a better and greater world than the world of our fathers. With the years it has moved onward toward the larger, newer, perhaps at times, but nevertheless better, of the future. Our task in this century is plain — to accelerate the world's progress to a point where the world of the year 2000 will be a world of peace and harmony, a world of unity and brotherhood, a world of freedom and justice, a world of progress and peace.

It is a fact that the world is a world of progress. It is a better and greater world than the world of our fathers. With the years it has moved onward toward the larger, newer, perhaps at times, but nevertheless better, of the future. Our task in this century is plain — to accelerate the world's progress to a point where the world of the year 2000 will be a world of peace and harmony, a world of unity and brotherhood, a world of freedom and justice, a world of progress and peace.

It is a fact that the world is a world of progress. It is a better and greater world than the world of our fathers. With the years it has moved onward toward the larger, newer, perhaps at times, but nevertheless better, of the future. Our task in this century is plain — to accelerate the world's progress to a point where the world of the year 2000 will be a world of peace and harmony, a world of unity and brotherhood, a world of freedom and justice, a world of progress and peace.