Men In The War

Two recruits enlisted at Fredericton on Tuesday, Malcolm M. Camp, 25, and J. Parker Camp, 20, of Mangerville, being sworn as members of Field Ambulance. The two recruits are brothers.

Colonel Ingraham in France.
Lieut.-Col. B. A. Ingraham, who was in command of the field batteries quartered in Fredericton in the winter of 1915, has been appointed to the Royal Field Artillery. He went to the front in France on September 4.

Chaplain Parker III.
The many friends of Capt. (Rev.) W. F. Parker will regret to learn that he is not recovering as rapidly as anticipated from the recent attack of diphtheria, and is suffering to such an extent from the after effects of the disease that he has been obliged to return to the hospital for treatment.

Going Overseas.
Amherst News:—Miss Clara Dove of Rothesay, N. B., who is going overseas with the Canadian Army Medical Corps, spent a few days with her uncle, W. T. Jones of Piquash. Miss Dove will be remembered by the very interesting talks she gave of her work with Dr. Grenfell, on the coast of Labrador. Her many friends wish her bon voyage and a safe return.

Twice Wounded.
After a service of sixteen months in the trenches of France and Belgium, in which he was twice wounded, Corp. Hiram A. Copp, son of Thomas Copp of Newcastle, has arrived home. Corp. Copp enlisted with the 12th battalion shortly after the outbreak of the war and when that unit was broken up in England was transferred to the 10th Battalion. He was first wounded in April of 1915, when a defective British shell exploded near where they were resting, suffering wounds in the head and side. After recuperating he again returned to France and with a good many other Canadian heroes was wounded in the big battle of June 2nd. Corp. Copp is home on a month's furlough and expects to return to rejoin his regiment on October 15.

Brothers Both Wounded.
Mrs. Jane Kitchen of Fredericton has received a telegram stating that her son,

Private Elwood Kitchen, infantry, was officially reported to No. 4 General Hospital, Comiers, on Sept. 5th, with gunshot wounds in the legs and arm.
Private Kitchen is one of two sons of Mrs. Kitchen, a widow, who have been serving with the Canadian Expeditionary forces, his brother, Sapper George Kitchen, having been twice wounded. Private Elwood Kitchen went to England with the 12th Battalion and then gave up his position as bandsman to get into the real fighting in the trenches. He has been with an Upper Canadian Infantry Battalion.

WORRIED AND SLEEPLESS?

Nerves Are Racked
Vitality is Lowered
Brain is Congested
Health Undermined

Dipsias, Sedatives, Narcotics, Worse Than Uicet—Produce No Permanent Good.
Worry, overwork, over-study and in-somnia cause insomnia.
Healthy, natural sleep can be produced by drugs.
First, the blood circulation must be improved.
Congestion of blood in the head must be removed.
Irritation in the brain must be relieved.
It's because Perrosone equalizes circulation, because it soothes the irritation, because it removes congestion that it does cure insomnia.

For building blood and nerve, for instilling force and life into over-worked organs, for establishing strength and vitality, where can you find anything as sure as Perrosone.
Remember, sleep is just as important as food.
You must sleep, or break down.
You can if you'll use Perrosone and thereby remove the conditions which now keep you from sleep.
Perrosone is not a narcotic, not a sleeping drug, it is a health-giving tonic that any child or delicate woman can use.
Absolutely safe is Perrosone.
Take it for a month, take it for a year—no harm, but immeasurable good will result.
To sleep well, look well, feel well, to be free from depression, nervousness or blues—use Perrosone. It's a food tonic, a healer to the weak and wretched, a boon to the sleepless—sold everywhere in 50c. boxes.

LOCAL NEWS

Some twenty members of No. 9 Overseas "Hedge" Battalion left by the late train last night for Halifax, where they will take a course. Many were at the depot to see the boys off.

The J. K. Circle of Carmarthen street Methodist church to the number of twelve, in charge of Mrs. Joseph Seymour, paid a visit to the Boys' Industrial Home last evening and entertained the boys with music and games. A very delightful evening was spent.

At a special meeting of the members of the City Council last evening arrangements were made for the band's fifth grand around the world excursion fair and benefit for the patriotic fund. The fair will open in St. Andrew's rink on Monday, October 9.

C. H. Stevens, Jr., was elected president of the Trades and Labor Council at a meeting last night, succeeding his father, C. H. Stevens, Sr. The committee on the Labor Day fair made a report.

Mayor Hayes received word yesterday that a William McKay, who died in San Francisco at the age of sixty years, had at one time lived in St. John. He was a native of the city and was a very successful business man. It is thought there was a sister living here, who has been married, but her name is unknown. If found, she will be the only heir to $800, which is the balance of the estate.

Two men-eating sharks, weighing 1,000 lbs. each, were caught in the Mipec sardine weir yesterday. The discovery was made by the fishermen as they were hauling the net. The sharks were towed to the beach at Mispe, where they now lie. The weir in the harbor are now being dismantled and within a few days the weir fishing for the season will be brought to a successful close.

FRED LUCAS OF LOCAL FORCE TO BE CHIEF IN NEWCASTLE.

Fred Lucas, a member of the local police force for about eleven years, has received the position as chief of police and Scotland Yard inspector of this town. Lucas is a well known and popular man. He has had wide experience, is well educated and will make a competent and impartial officer. He will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Chief Finley, who goes to Fredericton as chief there.

A "TEUTONIC ALLIANCE"

A Former Discussion of a British-German-American League

Woods Hole, Mass., Sept. 7, 1916.
To the Editor of The New York Times:
In his letter to you (Sept. 3, 1916), Professor Munsterberg, of the University of Cambridge, has pointed out the fact that he has "pointed out the right middle way in which real statesmen may move forward to a better day." I am merely a plain, every-day student of the languages and history of the peoples of the Near East. But, occasionally, I also "meditate." Dealing as I do with the past, my "meditations" are apt to do with things and events that have been, rather than with such that "may move forward." This time my meditation was not quite fruitless.
The proposal of the learned psychologist—anti-Hegelian and anti-materialist as he is—awoke a historical response in my mind. I remembered that I had heard of or read of some such scheme of proposed triple alliance—although it was not then dignified as "the right middle way" nor was it "pointed out" as a great discovery. I am here "en village," and have no access to my library. But I think it was in 1898, during one of the visits with which—when some particularly wily piece of diplomacy was to be put through—the German Kaiser honored England. He saw much of Chamberlain at the time, and talked to him very glibly about a British-American-German alliance. Chamberlain was struck with the idea and promised to air it in public. I do not know that the Kaiser mentioned the plan to Lord Salisbury—nor that Chamberlain did for the Kaiser's interest in the project. He was to make an important speech at Leicester in that year; and one of the Kaiser's uncial agents in London invited him to make the triple understanding the subject of that speech. This Chamberlain did.
One would have imagined that the Leicester speech would have been received with joy and gladness in Germany, and that the press—certainly that part of it controlled in Berlin, where the scheme had had its birth—would have backed up the idea with undisguised zest. But such is not the way of German political dealing. Not only was the reception of Chamberlain's Leicester speech a cold one; it was positively hostile—no doubt upon order. Great Britain was fumed against and much score was made out of Germany's "traditional friendship" for Russia, which would never be abandoned for the worthless amity of England.
The object of this political trick was gained soon enough. At the moment Germany was pushing her Baghdad railway project and needed the benevolent neutrality of Russia. She got it. Russia allowed herself to be bamboozled with honeyed words and sweet phrases, and relinquished whatever opposition she was tending to throw to the railway project. The plan of a triple alliance—called very appropriately by Professor Munsterberg "Teutonic" as it is to be dom-

This play is the worst ever. I am going to demand my money back.

"Wait until after the next act, old man. Ten years elapse between Acts 1 and 2 and you can demand interest on your money for that length of time."—Boston Transcript.

Inated by Germany is, therefore, nothing new; nor did it need a psychological "meditation" to "point it out." In view of what has already occurred with the scheme as an instrument, it is perfectly permissible for a simple student of history to demand what machination is being served by its representation at this moment.
